CHARLOTTE (AP) — Things you learn reading college football brochures:

Would you believe that full-back Butch Colson who set a Southern Conference rushing record of 1,135 yards as an East Carolina University sophomore last year is really Willard Horace Colson Jr. of Elizabeth City? Only kidding, Butch.

When Clemson beat (?) Presbyterian 76-0 Sept. 22, 1945, the Tigers gained 597 yards — 516 rushing and 83 passing. That's what Bob Bradley's Clemson Brochure says. But 516 and 83 equals 589. So, here we are, 23 years later and all we're sure of is 76-0.

Wake Forest evidently believes in letting George do it. The Deacons have senior line-backer Chick George and junior tackle Ed George, no relations.

Would be fitting if one could win the school's Bill George Award. It's been given since 1964 to the standout lineman on the team. The donor is Bill

George, former Deacon tackle, who retired two years ago after 16 years as a pro linebacker.

South Carolina football schedules have been announced for the next eight years.

Among future opponents for the Gamecocks, in addition to ACC rivals, are Tennessee, Florida State, Georgia, Virginia Tech, Memphis State, Miami of Ohio, Houston, Ohio U., Mississippi and Baylor.

Not one of the six Carolinas members of the ACC will be playing at home on Saturday afternoon this week. South Carolina is the only team of the lot to play at home and the Gamecock game with Georgia is at night.

Linebacker Dick Biddle who played a major role in Duke's opening game victory at South Carolina, won three high school wrestling letters at Parkersburg, W.Va.

Nomination for the most rugged name among ACC linemen: North Carolina defensive guard, Wadesboro senior, Battle Wall. At 6-foot-2 and 210 pounds he's no mere low hurdle.

Davidson Coach Homer Smith was captain of the 1953 Princeton team. In one game, running from the fullback post, he set an Ivy League record of 273 yards gained. And his 40.5 punting average remains a Princeton record.

When Red Parker, The Citadel's football coach, took his first job, at Fordyce High School in Arkansas, the school had lost 22 games in a row. During his stay at Fordyce, the school won 37 in a row and was unbeaten the last three years.

Clyde Hewell, Furman's dandy little senior quarterback (5-foot-10, 158 pounds) ran more than 1,500 miles and threw the football some 5,000 times to keep in shape between his sophomore and junior years.

Magazine terms Peace Corps as "dying dream"

MANILA (AP)—A magazine written by U. S. Peace Corps volunteers in the Philippines describes the Peace Corps as "a dying dream."

It also says that Peace Corps training creates timidity and teaches volunteers to "pussy-foot."

An editorial in the magazine's 24-page autumn edition calls on volunteers to save the corps if it is not too late because the organization's permanent staff cannot save it.

Editor David Ruhnke, 25, of East Orange, N. J., a Dartmouth graduate, wrote that "dreams die hard, but they do die. And like it or not the Peace Corps is a dying dream."

Ruhnke contends that in its seven-year history the Peace Corps has evolved from an exciting start into stodgy, over-conservationism.

The same issue produced with Peace Corps funds and volunteers' talent carried an article called "Pussyfooting Through the Peace Corps."

WRA volleyball squad chosen

By ROSE DRAKE

Chowan's women's varsity sports are beginning with a bounce this semester with the selection of a varsity volleyball squad.

Last season was most successful for the team. Blue ribbon honors were brought home from the Sports Day at Campbell College.

This year our first game is scheduled for Oct. 11 with North Carolina Wesleyan. We also plan to compete in the volleyball tournament at Appalachian State University at Boone in November.

Six outstanding sophomores have returned to help make our team victorious again this year. They are Sandy Wilson, Vicki Gilbert, Dale White, Patricia Francis, Dee Shumaker, and Donna Fesperman.

We appreciate the interest of all girls who tried out, but of course all could not be chosen.

The lucky and great-looking freshmen who tried out and made the squad are Betty Sowers, Lexington, N. C.; Jeannie Gay, Charlottesville, Va.; Karen (George) Lynch, Shelbyville, Del.; Jane Corbell, Kill Devil Hills, N. C.; Jo Ann Smith, Raeford, N. C.; Dianne Williams, South Mills, N. C.; Miriam Walter, Skippers, Va.; Donna Collier, Virginia Beach, Va.; Carol English, Drewryville, Va.; and Beth Condit, Summit, N. J.

We are expecting a great deal from these girls and they need your support. They are representatives of your college. Don't let them down and they won't let you down.

Some highly placed diplomats believe that a cessation of our bombing of Viet Nam will be presented to the public well before the election.

New campaign song introduced by Robert Goulet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Singer Robert Goulet, introducing his supper club style at the White House, serenaded the First Lady with one song and ended another with a resounding "Sock it to 'em, Humphrey."

The performance Wednesday night—a change of pace from the usual state dinner entertainment in the sedate East Room—provided a light-hearted climax for a day of formalities for President Johnson's guest of honor, visiting President Francois Tombalbaye of Chad, a central African nation.

Goulet held forth in the East Room with the two presidents and 120 guests in a semi-circle around him, giving special attention to ladies in the front row.

North Carolina in midst of large industrial growth

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Dan K. Moore said Thursday that North Carolina is in the midst of the largest regional shopping center "his state has known."

Moore said that in the 32-county area of the Piedmont Crescent, 287 new industries have announced locations and 852 others have announced expansion plans during his administration.

In a talk prepared for a luncheon at which a Piedmont Crescent film was shown, Moore said that during his administration "141,628 industrial jobs have been created and $551 million annually have been added to the payrolls of our citizens."

Federal aid to church-related colleges is target

HARTFORD, Conn., AP—Multimillion-dollar federal aid to church-related colleges is the target of a test case launched in U. S. District Court.

The suit, sponsored by the America Jewish Congress and the American Civil Liberties Union, has been brought by 15 Connecticut taxpayers against state and federal officials.

It focuses on four Roman Catholic colleges in the state and seeks an injunction based on the constitutional separation of church and state to prevent grants totaling nearly $1 million from reaching them.

The complaints charges three breaches of the First and Fourteenth amendments of the U. S. Constitution as follows:

—Government action which, in effect, advances religion through the contribution of tax funds "to institutions which teach the tenets of a church."

—Restraint on free exercise of religion by the 15 plaintiffs because each has been subject to "compulsory taxation for religious purposes."

—Diversion of funds from nonsectarian institutions, open to all, to religiously controlled institutions "attended by a limited class of students."

Most of the plaintiffs are on the faculties of the University of Hartford, Trinity College and Wesleyan University, none of which have religious affiliation.

New shopping center planned for Raleigh area

RALEIGH (AP)—Plans for a $20 million shopping center with 100 stores on an 84-acre site on U. S. 70 just west of Raleigh were announced Wednesday.

Developers of Crabtree Plaza, which will include a 2,500-seat auditorium, said it will be the largest regional shopping center between Washington and Atlanta. Completion is scheduled for the fall of 1970.
