

SGA officers elected; Lee Dunn President

By TOMMY GARNER
Lee Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Dunn of High Point, N. C., was elected president of the S.G.A. in elections held prior to Easter vacation.

Lee, who also is the freshman class president for this semester, was very instrumental in the organization of the Mixon Hall Dance and now is turning all his efforts to the upcoming Spring Festival and to the job of reorganizing the S.G.A. for next fall.

Clarence Ashley Griffin from Clinton, N. C., and a graduate of Hargrave Military Academy, Chatham, Va., was elected vice-president.

While a student at Hargrave, Clarence, better known to students here as Bucky, held these offices: Staff Sergeant, "D" Company, Head N.C.O. of "A" Barracks, and co-captain, varsity "B" football.

Here at Chowan Bucky has put his talents to good use. He is Mixon Hall president, S.G.A. senator, chairman of Rat System Committee, Student-Faculty Relations Committee, and his is also on the Housing Committee. Part of Bucky's most powerful and well-written speech is as follows:

"For dreams to turn into realities, it takes work and determination . . . and desire. I will work . . . I have the determination . . . and most important I have desire to help better this college for you. I need your help and support . . . We should not dream just small dreams, but take upon ourselves great enterprises."

Carolyn Fay Brinkley from Corapeake, N. C., was elected S.G.A. secretary. Before coming to Chowan, Carolyn worked as a receptionist for a C.P.A. for three years.

Since becoming a Chowan student, Carolyn has been elected vice-president of College Street Hall and vice-president of Alpha Pi Epsilon.

To this new office of secretary of our S.G.A., it is felt by many that by her own experience in today's business world and her eagerness to work that Miss Brinkley will be an outstanding office holder.

Lonnie "Pete" Sykes, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Sykes, of Norfolk, Va., was named S. G.A. treasurer after an uncontested election.

Pete brings many qualifications with him to this new office. He was president of his pep club, vice-president of Art Club, treasurer of Art Club, a member of the S.G.A., and a member of the Debate Team.

Since coming to Chowan, he has been elected or appointed to the annual staff and treasurer of the freshman class. With his maturity and ability to handle money, we did wise in electing him.

Mary Melinda Ritchie, a graduate of Asheboro High School in Asheboro, N. C., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ritchie, was elected female social co-chairman for S.G.A.

Here at Chowan, she holds such offices as secretary of the freshman class and dorm officer. With her knowledge of student gripes and their feelings about school policies, she should fit well into her office.

On the political rally held on Thursday before election day in Squirrel Park, out of all the student body present, there were only about 30 students. This reporter did not see even one faculty member. Only about 400 students voted for candidates on election day. What in the world is the matter—don't we care at all?

Conference intramural day is scheduled

Chowan College will serve as hosts for the Fourth Annual Cavalier-Tar Heel Conference Intramural Day on Wednesday, April 30th. All conference members, Chowan, College of Albemarle, Ferrum, Louisburg, Mt. Olive and Southwood are expected to participate.

The events of the day will be softball, horseshoes, (single and doubles), tennis (singles and doubles), volleyball, and three track events, 60 yard dash, 440 relay, and the broad jump.

The competition will start at 12:30 p. m. This competition will end a successful year of intramural performances in spring sports with hopes that Chowan will win the conference trophy for the third straight year in a row.

Chowan leads conference in diamond play

Conf.	All
Chowan	5 0 5 2
Southwood	3 1 4 3
Louisburg	1 1 5 2
Ferrum	0 2 0 3
Mt. Olive	0 5 0 5

Chowan wasting no time taking command of the conference shows both pitching and hitting strength. Coach Hawkins used five different pitchers to win five conference games shows real depth in our pitching staff. Pete Carpenter and Don James have excellent bats, hitting base hits all over the park.

Pete Carpenter leads the conference in hitting with 20 or more bats, hitting at a clip of .417 average. Don James is No. 2 in the league with an even .400 average.

Carpenter also leads the league in R.B.L.'s with seven.

In the pitching department, Jim Cherwa who owns a 1-0 conference record and a 1.20 E.R.A. (second in conference) leads the conference in strike outs with 22 in 15 innings.

Opens center

Clemson University has formally opened its new $811,000 Redfern Health Center. The facility has 34 beds and out-patient clinic facilities.

It happens every spring . . .

And such scenes are not difficult to find on campus at other seasons of the year. Since these two students weren't aware of the camera's presence, we won't mention names, but he was a prominent figure on the gridiron, and she was an ever-present cheerleader on the sidelines.

Left to right: Johnny Tebault, Tom Graham, Lewis Hill Breth, Steve Hauser, Jim Cherwa, Lewis Brooks and Jim Fair.

Points to ponder . . .

1. Letting all your call-downs carry over to the next semester but charging five dollars each semester for car registration.
 2. Students who are charged with a dorm damage bill for such things as spraying snow flakes on the window, or pin holes in the ceiling tile.
 3. Students who steal the letters from the brick entrance.
 4. Professors that teach straight out of the book with a monotone voice for added misery.
 5. The "deaf ears" who sit in the constructive committees of this school and do nothing but fill a seat.
 6. People who are willing to spend money to decorate their rooms only to find that upon returning from vacation that it was done in vain.
 7. The friendly people in town who are anxious to take your money but shun your checks.
 8. Wearing out two pairs of trousers a week showing your I. D. card.
 9. Our concerned dorm mothers that set the dorm clocks five minutes ahead of time.
 10. Faculty members' that start their classes five minutes before the scheduled time and end the class five minutes over-time.
 11. People who are enthusiastic about being elected to an office but do not show up for the meetings.
 12. Professors who claim to be unbiased towards their students but are bias in their grading.
- Respectively,
Hank Windley

Oh my, something ripped!

But Coach Hawkins' catcher is oblivious of this minor problem as he watches the incoming fast ball from the mound.

Miss Candice Wood (in uniform), medical secretarial graduate from Chowan College in '68, and now employed in the Department of Pathology at Norfolk General, aids internees Elizabeth Livingston and Faye Hansley during their training in her department.

Nine Chowan students end intern training

Chowan College has a unique and challenging program in the Medical Secretarial Curriculum. The program, designed for the student who has fulfilled two years of academic work at Chowan, enables that student to put into practice the skills she has developed during her work at Chowan, both in the Secretarial and Medical Fields.

After completion of her two years' work at Chowan, she may elect to complete her nine-months' Internship at one of the following hospitals: DUKE UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER, Durham, North Carolina; NORFOLK GENERAL HOSPITAL, Norfolk, Va.; LOUISE OBICI HOSPITAL, Suffolk, Virginia.

Nine girls, who will complete their Internship in May and receive an Associate Degree in Medical Secretarial Administration from Chowan College and a Professional Certificate from the Interning Hospital, are located in the affiliated hospitals: Rebecca Jean Baggett and Doris Anne Ricks at DUKE UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER; Emily Faye Hansley and Elizabeth Ladd Livingstone at NORFOLK GENERAL; Mary Jo and Jackie Presley at LOUISE OBICI HOSPITAL; and Cherry Whitney, Betty True Greene and Nellie Amanda Bartlett at PITT COUNTY.

Although the majority of their time at the hospitals is spent in the Medical Records Department, Interns may be assigned work in the Admitting and Out-patient Departments, X-Ray and Electrocardiography Departments, Pathology and Psychiatry Departments, Emergency Room, and Private Doctors Office. In return for their services, Interns receive room and board provided by the hospitals and-or adequate stipends.

Student nurses attend meeting in Wilson

On Thursday night, March 20, eleven members of the Chowan Student Nurse Association attended the district meeting in Wilson, N. C. At this meeting elections were held for 1969-70, Chowan emerging victorious twice!

Mrs. Sarah Tankard, the Chowan SNA advisor, was elected district adviser and Libby House won the office of corresponding secretary. Chowan's nursing program is still relatively new, and this is the first time the school has ever held a district office.

On March 21-22, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Tankard accompanied several of the student nurses to the state convention in Winston-Salem. The meeting on Friday night consisted of a banquet, a guest speaker and a business session.

On Saturday morning all of the delegates, attired in his or her school uniform (there were quite a few male nurses) attended the final business meeting. The convention proved to be most inspiring and stimulating.

From left to right, medical secretarial interns at Norfolk General, Elizabeth Livingston and Faye Hansley, meet at break time in the lounge with medical secretarial graduates from Chowan College Arlene Barton, Joyce Hardee, and Candice Wood, who accepted positions in the Department of Pathology at Norfolk General after completing their internship there. Interns find Norfolk General a delightful place to intern.

Dr. Stephens in the Department of Pathology, instructs his medical secretary, Miss Candice Wood, in her duties as research secretary.

Different type of flag

There seemed to be a little bit of "prankmanship" at work the weekend before Easter. It seems that some fun loving souls rased a trash can to full mast above the Columns Building, much to the dismay of Mr. Hassell. As if this wasn't enough, Mr. Hassell found a cannon in West Hall lobby. Don't ask how it got there. Mr. Hassell playing along decided to give the trash can flag a seven gun salute. Saturday morning, several hundred students got a "boom" of a surprise at 8:30.

Instruction in wind instruments

Professor Robert Brown is pictured with Bill Stradley of Murfreesboro who is a member of a class of elementary and junior high school students who are learning to play wind instruments.