

The Game of the Week

Braves Down Cougars

By DONALD PATTEN

Chowan in its home opener, following a great victory over Sandhills 91-76, found themselves in the midst of an overflowing house, with standing room at a limit.

The game was delayed ten minutes, for workmen to repair the score clock. The pep band, playing everything from the "fight song," to "Danny Boy," could hardly be heard, over the "Boos", the fans screamed so unkindly at the visiting team, as they entered and left the floor, prior to tip off.

The action was well under way, following the playing of the National Anthem, as Chowan got the tip and went in to score on a driving layup by Crenshaw, who saw limited action.

The Cougars taking the percentage shoots, went temporarily ahead 12-10 with 14:53 remaining in the half.

Chowan's six man, Brigman, with aid from Davis, put the Braves in striking distance as they made one basket respectively, cutting the Cougars lead to two, with 12:58 in the half.

The Cougars, in a 2-3 zone, forced the Braves into numerous turnovers, as they strengthened their lead with 10:44 in the half at 21-16. Dieterich, the fine center for the Cougars, continued to make the needed shoots, to keep his team in the lead.

Coach McCraw, showing concern, paced with interest up and down the court yelling instructions to his player, who for the first time in the contest came alive at 7:28 and pulled ahead of the opposition 27-25.

Flipping went out of the game with three fouls just before the half, with the score tied at 32. The clutch shooting by Brigman and Ballard abled the Braves to a 38-34 lead over the Cougars, where they remained for the remainder of the night.

A late basket by Davis, with 3 seconds left in the half made it possible for the Braves to go into the locker room, with a 42-38 halftime lead.

In the second half, Chowan went from the press to a 2-1-2 zone, and achieved much success. The game took on a different look at this time, for it was the Cougars making the turnovers and not the Braves.

The big difference in the second half, was the hustle on the part of Ballard, the clearing of the boards by Flipping, and the 30 foot baskets by the Braves' big gunman, Ross.

With 2:13 seconds of the second half gone, the Braves pulled to a resting lead of 50-38, as Ross hit from beyond the perimeter, and Flipping grabbed the left-overs.

The Cougars, going to a press, achieved very little success. By achieving even a segment of success, they forced Coach McCraw to call time out to get his squad together.

With 9:06 remaining, Ballard in his efforts to get the ball across mid-court, was seriously injured, and had to be taken from the game.

The Braves showing zip, and the Cougars continuing to take the percentage shoots, pulled to within 7 points of the Braves, with 41 seconds remaining to be played. A free throw by Ross made the score 88-78, capping the Braves second conference win, and matching the won record for the Braves entire season of last year.

RECEIVES TROPHY—Co-Captains of the Chowan College Braves, with Coach William McCraw, receive the winner's trophy in the invitational basketball tournament held last week.

Both squads had four players respectively to score in double figures, with the Cougars Dieterich topping them all with 26 points. The Braves leading scorers were Flipping and Ross with 20 each, followed by Ballard with 15 and Davis with 10.

Flipping, topped all rebounders with 20, trailed by Davis with 10. The Cougars was lead by Selbe with 11.

The Cougars showed good sportsmanship during the entire game, and I feel we can look for an even more exciting game when they meet again in Chesapeake on January 13.

LEADING BRAVES TO WINS—Harry Flipping has consistently sparked the Braves' basketball team to wins during regular games, and was voted the "Most Valuable Player" in tournament play last week.

'Flip' Is Back

By DON PATTEN

Harry Flipping, a quiet, easy going P. E. major from Waynesboro, Va. has returned, after sitting out last season, to cap off his career with the Braves.

Flipping, the Braves 6-1 forward, with his play three years ago, abled the Braves to a 19-6 seasonal mark. His response when asked, if he for saw a repeat of that season, he said, "Yes", continuing, "I think it will be better."

The Braves are now 4-0, and is destined to get better. Flipping on the average is leading the Braves in every conceivable area, with the exception of assist. His power and ability to leap has enabled him to average 22 rebounds and 20 points per game.

Flipping feels that "Pride" can be contributed to his success under the boards. In explaining why, he said, "It is something I must prove to myself and the doubtful public, I can still do".

One season has passed since Flipping lead the Braves and conference in rebounds, with an average of 19.3 scraps per game. Yes, yes, yes. The "Flip" Is Back, and better than before, with his new image. He's "beardless".

Ecological Rap No. 1

Today several students from Chowan College and the local high schools relieved Union Street and part of U.S. 258 of most of its collected debris...

Hold it! Some of you intelligent geniuses are going to sigh, "Another one of those articles," and move on to see what's happening in the sports world (unless that is what you've read first anyway). Well if you aren't interested, just go around kissing frogs and maybe you'll find one that's got a spell on it and change it back to a prince, after which you'll feel rather foolish if you're a man and wanted a princess. In that case you should have been kissing trees, sucker!

Boy! You've really got guts if you're reading this stuff after that insult. Go ahead and pat yourself on the back and keep on reading. Finished? Well there you go acting like an idiot again. What's the matter; you getting self-conscious or something? Serves you right. You should be just as self-conscious every time you throw litter out your car window. After all, don't you think the children of the future are going to say a lot of dirtier things about you when they realize it's you who was responsible for making them wear gas masks and walk through two feet of rubbish on their way to class.

I apologize for hurting your feelings, but it's true. After all, if I didn't say anything then you'd just go ahead and kill yourself with the junk you're burying yourself in.

Oh! I forgot, I'm supposed to be talking about the CSSO and State Cleanup day, aren't I? Well I shall then... We (including myself, that's generally what 'we' means) started at the Daniels Hall and went the entire length of Union Street and part of the highway collecting trash, and being somewhat inclined to other interesting fields of information, we also collected some rather useless data, for instance:

a. Either Budwieser drinkers are more inclined to litter than Schlitz drinkers, or it's a more popular beer on this campus. Shame on you!

b. Someone (whose name I won't mention seeing as how I don't know it) had deposited a large number of empty Cavalier whiskey bottles in the drainage ditch on Union Street. From this day forward, this shall be called "The Mystery of the Empty Whiskey Bottles of Union Street."

Well, so much for that. It would interest you to know however that in approximately two and a half to three miles we collected

CLEAN UP DAY—Chowan College students are pictured after they had spent thier Saturday picking up trash and other debris along the highways in the Murfreesboro area.

enough litter to fill a large dump truck. (See what I mean about burying yourself?)

I'll let you go now seeing as how you've been so engrossed in this article that you've been standing on some kid's foot for about five minutes, but don't worry, he was reading the sports articles and hasn't noticed. By the way if you think this article is trash (which it is seeing that it's written on cheap paper), don't throw it on the ground, put it in a trash can unless there isn't one around. In that case eat it with a lot of mustard, or if you prefer, with nothing.

If you think I'm serious don't litter or I'll put a really evil rap on you!

Bruce "Squirrilly" Carroll

EVERYBODY SAVES!

BIG SALE

Paperback Books

Littlefield - Quality Paperbacks

Harper - Torehbooks, Colophon

Would you believe.

50¢ Each

Chowan College

Bookstore

"Mexican Fiesta"

Following a Mexican custom, Lee Hodsdon, sophomore at Chowan College from Portsmouth, Virginia serenades Hannah Jones of Durham, North Carolina, freshman. They will be featured during the Chowan Spanish Club's "Mexican Fiesta" program to be presented on December 9 and 10 in McDowell Columns auditorium.

Mexican Fiesta Set

The Spanish division of the Department of Foreign Languages at Chowan College will present its annual program of music and dance at 7:00 P.M. on December 9 and again at the 9:30 and 11:00 A.M. assemblies on December 10 in McDowell Columns Auditorium. The evening performance is open to the public. The college is also inviting guidance counselors and members of Spanish Department in the high schools of Virginia and North Carolina.

This year's presentation, entitled "Mexican Fiesta," features the songs and dances most likely to be a part of various holiday or fiesta times south of the border. An ensemble made up of approximately 40 students from the Spanish Department will take part.

Among the songs will be "South of the Border," "Vaya con Dios," "The Mexican Hat Dance and "La Cucaracha Cha-Cha-Cha." Soloists for the performance will include Mr. Juan Antonio Huerta, who is a faculty member from Mexico, Pam Carroll, Charlotte Warren, Hannah Jones, Joyce Dodson, and Mike Gibson. Guitarists are Lee Hodsdon, Andy Carroll, Mark Aiken and Nick Knicherbocker.

This program is presented under the supervision of Dr. Morris Carson of the Spanish Department. Stage direction will be done by Mrs. Edith Larson of the Drama Department.