

Intramural Roundup

During the fall semester campus life was sparked by an excellent program of Intramural Activities. The competition provided was helpful in breaking the monotony that sometimes formed on campus and provided a good means of getting students together.

The participation was excellent. In a recent Smoke Signals interview with Dean James Earl Dilday, Associate Dean of Men and Director of Men's Intramurals, he estimated that "approximately 70-76 per cent of the male student body took an active part in intramurals."

He also commented on other aspects of the program, complimenting students on their conduct and spirit, adding that "this fall there were fewer injuries as opposed to last year and only one protest." Dean Dilday felt that the Carolina Football played in Physical Education classes was a contributing factor to the good organization the students displayed on the field. He spoke of the officiating as "inexperienced," but expressed approval of the good job they did. He said, "We try to work closely with our officials, developing and training them for possible future officiating."

The Buzzards of Parker Hall Basement Floor captured first place in the men's fall intramural point standings with a grand total of 382 points.

Day	10

The spring semester will include approximately 9 intramural activities including, basketball, weightlifting, swimming, tennis, horseshoes, checkers, badminton, golf and softball.

Students have expressed interest in a Fooseball tournament and Dean Dilday has been looking into the possibility but presently no date has been set.

Basketball tips off first on the spring calendar and all teams are urged to participate.

In basketball North Carolina High School rules will be followed with the following modifications.

A game consists of two 18 minute halves. The clock is continuous, stopping only for time-outs for the first 15 minutes of each half—the clock stops for all infractions the last 3 minutes of each half.

Scrimmage jerseys of contrasting colors with numbers on each jersey will be furnished each team. The team listed on the right of the schedule is the visitor team and will wear the red jerseys. All players must wear tee shirts or sweat shirts underneath the game scrimmage jerseys.

Unit Managers must give line-ups to the field supervisor before tip-off. This should be done before the previous game is completed. Each team is allowed four minutes or by mutual agreement, less, warm-up time. There will be two minutes between halves. Each team is allowed 3 time-outs in the game, each time-out is one minute in length, or shorter. Games must be completed in one hour from start to finish.

Any team or team members who continually "argue" or "ride" the officials" will be removed from the game and-or result in their team forfeiting the game. Two technical fouls on any one player will automatically disqualify the player and the disqualified player must leave the gym.

The official score will be kept by the scorer, not the timer. Each team is required to furnish an assistant scorer to aid the official scorer in getting the names of players who commit fouls, etc.

Referees will be instructed, trained, and tested before they officiate games. The officiating will be as good as the playing. Officials will be instructed to watch all action, especially under the basket for holding, elbowing, pushing, etc. Keep it clean and the officiating and playing will be good and enjoyable.

WINTER BEAUTY—Chowan's campus was a picturesque winter scene recently when a seven-inch snow covered the grounds. The scene above is of the lake at the rear of the campus near Parker Hall.

53 Students Complete Work

By LYNN DEANES

At the end of the first semester ending December 15, 53 students completed their academic education at Chowan College. Twenty-seven of those decided to go directly into a working career, securing a job. Twenty-six transferred to other colleges upon completing their graduation requirements. Also, a small number of those who left Chowan entered the service.

Those who decided to go elsewhere picked a variety of places to continue their education. Elon College has attracted five students from Chowan. Another five are going to Mars Hill, three transferred to North Carolina State University. Two are going up into the mountains to Madison College and another two are going to Virginia Technical Institute. Duke University has enrolled two in their nursing program, another one is going to the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and two are being educated at Atlantic Christian College. Three others are going into Virginia to go to the University of Richmond, two at Old Dominion University. Various other former Chowanians are continuing their education at community colleges.

If one was to total all the figures Chowan lost about 100 students at the end of the last semester. Some of these are probably planning to return at a later date, and there are some who decided to come back even though they had previously withdrawn.

Eastern Tuberculosis Association Thanks Chowan for Campaign Help

Dean Clayton Lewis has received the following letter from Mrs. Ruth H. Peterson, Executive Director of the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, which thanks the Chowan College community for its assistance in the recent Christmas Seal Campaign.

Dean Clayton Lewis
 Chowan College
 Murfreesboro, North Carolina 27855

Dear Dean Lewis,

I want to take this opportunity to say a personal "thank you" to you and the students that worked in behalf of Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association's Christmas Seal Campaign.

Through the efforts of you, Mr. Roland Pruette and Mr. Robert Brown and all the student who worked with you, the band concert and "car stop" netted a total of $80, which will help us in our continued fight against respiratory diseases and air pollution.

1973 promises to be a busy one. Even though we've come a long way in our fight against these diseases, we still have a long way to go before we combat them.

A Happy New Year to all of you and on behalf of the Association, thank you again for your united efforts in our work.

Gratefully,

(Mrs.) Ruth H. Peterson
 Executive Director
