

Winslow Named Lady Brave Coach

By KELLY FINCH

Roy Winslow has been named coordinator of women's athletics, Chowan President Bruce E. Whitaker announced.

In his new position Winslow will be responsible to Chowan's athletic director, Jim Garrison, and will coach the women's intercollegiate basketball and softball teams in addition to his regular duties as associate dean of students and men's cross country coach.

Winslow will be assisted in his work by Mrs. Janet Collins, professor of health and physical education, who will continue to coach the women's intercollegiate volleyball team and be responsible for the cheerleaders, Whitaker said.

According to Whitaker the changes are being made "in line with the intent of the college to continue strengthening the intercollegiate program of athletics for women."

Whitaker said Mrs. Collins requested that she be relieved of coaching responsibilities for women's basketball, which she has been coaching since initiating the program in 1965.

Roll Drop Less Than Anticipated

By MIKE BARNHARDT

Enrollment at Chowan College has dropped for the second straight semester with 867 students registering for the spring semester, compared to the 971 students last semester.

Dean B. Franklin Lowe Jr. said that although enrollment is "not all that we could have wished, it is much better than had been anticipated."

Males still outnumber females about two to one. Male enrollment totaled 533, while 275 females registered.

Freshman enrollment totaled 515 students, compared to 347 sophomores. Seventy-one day students enrolled for classes.

The figures include 59 students who enrolled after registration day. Most of these were returning students who were unable to arrive on time because of illness and snow, Lowe said. He added that although the late arrivals created a burden on the registrar, his staff, and teachers, "these students were registered with dispatch and courtesy."
