

Student Loan Plan Revised, Approved

By HARRY PICKETT

The Student Government Association, which approved a student loan plan November 5, unanimously approved a revised loan arrangement suggested by Chowan business manager Ben Sutton, at its January 21 meeting.

The Student Emergency Loan, which it is called, will provide assistance in times of crisis and financial difficulties. The guidelines of the loan stipulate that the student shall receive aid only for medical emergencies and transportation home for family emergencies.

The loan plan also stipulates that a student shall receive "$25 maximum amount or up to $50 at the discretion of the SGA committee."

Students, who must have the recommendation of an advisor, shall have a 30-day period in which to pay back the loan. After the 30-day period, a 7-day grace period will be implemented, and a penalty charge of 10 percent will be issued. If money is not paid back in full, transcripts will be held until the money is repaid.

The SGA Student Loan Committee has also decided that a student must have earned at least 12 credit hours at Chowan. Also "an item of personal property (watch, radio, etc.) must be furnished as security. The item will be returned when the loan is repaid."

SGA will set aside $500 in the fund for the assistance.

In other business, Social Chairperson for Men, Greg Kaserman, presented the legislature with a list of movies chosen by the student body to be shown this semester. SGA approved the showing and purchase of 15 movies which will cost approximately $5,500.

Many SGA members thought the $5,500 amount for the movies was outrageous, particularly treasurer Steve Whittemore and representative J.P. Leong. "There's got to be something else to entertain the students with besides movies and dances,"

Fire Safety Oversight Discovered

By GREG BASSETT

Five of the six fire extinguishers installed for use in Marks Hall are not sufficiently charged to operate in the event of fire, according to their utility gauges. Tags on the devices reveal there has been no formal inspection of their condition since January of 1972. Manufacturer's maintenance instructions stamped on the water propelling extinguishers state the devices should be inspected every six months.

According to Jack Hassell, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, the fire extinguisher situation in Marks Hall will be looked into and corrected. He conceded that it had been some time since the extinguishers had been checked, but said insurance and building regulations were still in compliance.

Hassell explained the company with which the college is insured does not require the checking of extinguishers except in important areas and that extinguishers were not required in Marks Hall. He said that extinguishers were regularly inspected in important fire-prone places such as mechanical areas and Camp Science Hall.

Unlike the Marks Hall, Camp Science Hall is equipped with carbon dioxide extinguishers that would be useful in several kinds of fire. In proper working condition the water extinguishers in Marks Hall, according to Hassell, would be good only for small fires such as trash can fires, and could not be used on an electrical fire or any fire of extreme size.

Hassell said the inspection tags may be inaccurate and should be removed from the Marks Hall extinguishers.

None of extinguishers have been put to use since their last inspection.

Whittemore blasted.

Leong said picnic tables for example, would be a good purchase, and would serve the school long after all the students on campus now have gone. "It wouldn't cost that much."

The cost of the movies and the purchase of three bands this semester will amount to $8,300. The total cost of the bands Sand Castle, Tracks and Catalina will amount to $2,800, leaving the budget with $1,700.

"We made $1,300 off of movies last semester," Kaserman noted as a result of the 50 cents fee. "You can almost figure $1,600, this semester."

Members of the legislature were also informed that the student body grade point average for the fall semester was 1.9893.

Energy

Hassell, any budget surplus could be used to add improvements to the campus. He noted the tennis courts behind parking lot number 4 and the intramural field were both constructed out of budget surpluses. He hinted that energy conservation could save money leading to further improvements.

Hassell said that all class halls were set at 65 degrees as mandated by federal law and are controlled by timers. He explained that Whitaker Library is maintained at a higher temperature because books require proper humidity and temperatures to insure their lasting.

Hassell outlined future energy saving measures which included: additional insulation in East and Jenkins Halls; storm windows in several dorms; removal of certain light fixtures within the dorms; better control of lighting around campus; and a central computer which would regulate the use of electricity throughout the college.

Lady Braves Hit Highest Score In Drubbing St. Mary's, 107-28

By KATHY FISHER

The Lady Braves won one of their highest scoring games against St. Mary's on January 28. Chowan was ahead 48-14 at the half and went on to win by a score of 107-28.

According to Coach Roy Winslow, this is the highest score a women's basketball team has made since he has been here, but, he pointed out, it was played against an extremely weak team.

He added that "if we could win by one point tonight (January 30, against Louisiana), it would mean more than this game." He explained that there was not enough challenge in the game against St. Mary's, whereas Louisiana is a tough team and the challenge would be greater.

In closing, Winslow stated that even though it is nice to win a high scoring game, if the other team is weak, the win doesn't seem to mean so much.

Sandy Dixon led the Braves in baskets by scoring 18 points. She was followed by Judy Douglas and Donnie Stephens with 16, Nancy Fleming with 14 and Laura Brailsford with 11.

This win leaves the Lady Braves with an overall record of 8 and 5.
