

Chances are, you didn't go to college to get a promotion in the Army. But your associate's degree actually entitles you to enter the Army as an E3. (That's two pay grades above the regular entry level.) And it's a surprisingly good way to put your degree to work for you.

The technology throughout today's modern Army is increasingly complex, and we need intelligent, self-disciplined people for two-year enlistments.

In the Army, you'll find that the same qualities that helped you earn your degree will lead to even greater recognition and rewards.

And no other branch of the service can offer you the convenience of a two-year enlistment. Later, in civilian life, you may be surprised to discover just how smart you were to combine two years of Army with an associate's degree.

Remember, only the Army offers you a two-year enlistment option with all the benefits of military life (including generous educational assistance).
