

Leah Britt of Ahoskie receives a certificate from Chowan President Bruce Whitaker as she is named to the Order of the Silver Feather for outstanding service to the campus and community during Honors Day in May. Britt, now majoring in finance at East Carolina University, holds a General Electric Foundation scholarship.

Business graduate receives scholarship

MURFREESBORO—Chowan College business graduate, Leah Britt of Ahoskie, has received a Business Administration Scholarship for her studies at East Carolina University.

Britt, who graduated from Chowan this past May, is the recipient of a scholarship fund by the General Electric Foundation in the amount of $764.

The scholarship is for a minority student who is pursuing full-time study in business administration during the entire year at a school accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate School of Business.

The student must major in one of the following concentrations: accounting, economics, finance, general business administration, management, management information systems, or marketing. Britt is majoring in finance.

The scholarship is renewable for two additional years if the student maintains a 2.0 average on a scale of 4.0 and makes satisfactory progress toward the bachelor's degree in business administration.

Mrs. Dorothy Wallace, chairman of Chowan's Department of Business, commented, "This scholarship was awarded to Leah in nationwide competition." She explained the Business Administration Scholarship Program, sponsored by the GE Foundation, offers scholarships for students who complete an associate degree in a two-year college transfer program during 1986-87.

The student was also required to have completed one year of college level mathematics and acquired a strong background in liberal arts, Mrs. Wallace noted. She said a grade-point average of 3.0 or better and a demonstration of some financial need were required.

Mrs. Wallace said she and the other Chowan business professors are "very proud of Leah. She is an excellent student and citizen of the campus and community and very deserving of this scholarship."

Leah Britt said the scholarship "will help a great deal with my college expenses." She said she was very grateful to the General Electric Foundation for the scholarship. Britt was notified of her selection by The College Board, New York, N.Y., which handles the administration of the GE scholarships.

Britt praised the preparation she received at Chowan. "I am confident I will do well at East Carolina University because Mrs. Wallace and other professors at Chowan have prepared me so well," she stated.

She thanked Mrs. Wallace "for nominating me for the scholarship and being one of the best teachers I've ever had."

College foundation serves students from Manteo to Murphy

RALEIGH— For almost 10 consecutive years the student financial assistance programs offered through the College Foundation Inc. (CFI) have served students from Manteo to Murphy. This past academic year is on exception.

CFI has announced that in 1986-87 its programs again benefited students from all 100 North Carolina counties—this time for a total of $54.8 million.

D.L. Paul, president of the Raleigh-based College foundation, commented on the significance of this record.

"The breadth of the effect of our programs is in keeping with our history," Paul began.

He explained, "CFI was established in 1955 for the purpose of assisting North Carolina students from across the state in helping to pay their educational expenses beyond high school."

Paul added, "That CFI touches students lives in all 100 counties is one indication that we are fulfilling our purpose."

In 1986-87 CFI made available to North Carolina students more than $50 million in educational loans and more than $3 million in educational grants. The cumulative program volume 1963-87 totals more than 289,000 loans and grants to more than 142,000 students for a total of $432.2 million.

College Foundation administers three educational loan programs for North Carolina residents attending colleges in or out of state and for nonresidents attending colleges in North Carolina. The loan funds are provided by N.C. full-service banks and special investors.

N.C. Insured Student Loans (N.C.ISL) are for students who show financial need in order to attend their colleges. For these loans, the federal government pays the interest while the students are in college. N.C. Supplement Loans for students (N.C.SLs) are for students who do not qualify for interest-subsidized N.C.ISLs or who need more loan funds than the maximum N.C.ISLs. N.C. Plus Loans are available to parents of dependent student, either undergraduate or graduate/professional.

CFI also administers the North Carolina Student Incentive Grant program. These grants are for North Carolina Students who demonstrate substantial financial need and are enrolled full-time in an undergraduate program of study in an eligible college, university, technical or vocational school in North Carolina.

The program is administered from state and federal funds provided through the N.C. State Educational Assistance Authority.

Students and parents can get more information about CFI's student financial assistance programs from college financial aid officers, high school guidance officers, or College Foundation Inc., P. O. Box 12100, Raleigh, NC 27605, 919/821-4771.

Department of Business sponsors program

By Carol Williams

Horizons in Business Ninth Annual Seminar took place Friday, October 23, 1987. It was sponsored by the Department of Business at Chowan College. The 10:00 General Session was held in Turner Auditorium. The guest speaker for this occasion was Mr. Douglas Caton, President of Management Services Corporation in Charlottesville, Virginia. Mrs. Dorothy Wallace presented a warm welcome preceding the speaker. There were three sessions held during the day.

At 11:15, a concurrent session which included various groups: Group A "Computer Graphics with Lotus 1-2-3" which had people giving data into the computer and the computer would set the work into graphs; Group B "Cowhides and Computers" entailed a video about a computer managed leather company; Group C "Economics For Fun and Profit" where economic problems were given to think about and talk about; Group D "You've Come a Long Way, Baby!" (Office Technology) presented a display on the advancement of office equipment and machinery over the years; Group E

"Bulls, Bears, and Hogs" (Stockholders Meeting) showed and explained the procedures during a meeting of the stockholders.

After lunch guests were invited to visit the Department of Business classroom areas. Guests included students from the Northeastern region of the high school D.E.C.A. programs.

Although students were rather active during Mr. Caton's speech, all involved felt the program went well and hope for an even better success next year.

Librarians; willing to help students

By Carole Williams

When we walk into the library do we ever notice the librarians? They are the ones who help us locate books, operate the copying machine if necessary. Also, they answer any questions that need to be answered.

Have we truly wondered what the library would be like without the librarians to assist us in any way that they can? Have you thought what it would be like without any one to quiet us down when we get too loud? These are the various jobs carried out by those dedicated librarians.

Various students were asked what they thought about the librarians. Comments ranged from, "I don't know what to say," to "they are very helpful."

One sophomore, Pattie Joyner said, "The librarians are very helpful in assisting me whenever I go into the library." One freshman commented, "If it wasn't for the librarians, I would be completely lost at times."

Whether you're a freshman or a sophomore, the librarians are always willing to help you no matter what you may need assistance in.

WHY REGISTER WITH SELECTIVE SERVICE?

SIMPLE. IT'S THE LAW.

If you're a guy about to turn 18, you need to register with Selective Service at the post office. The reason is simple—federal law requires it. Registering is also simple. You just fill out a card. It only takes five minutes.

Why make life difficult? Register with Selective Service. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.
