Gift Of $500 Establishes New College Scholarship

A gift of $500 to establish a scholarship at North Carolina Wesleyan College has been announced by Mrs. Charles G. Doak, secretary-treasurer of the Littleton College Memorial Association, through which the gift was made.

The scholarship, donated by Mrs. D. C. Lawrence of Sanford, was given in honor of Mrs. Emma Thorton Nowell of Warren County, Mrs. Lawrence's sister.

Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Nowell are alumnae of Littleton College, which was destroyed by fire in 1919. Wesleyan College has made Littleton's alumnae honorary members to head its alumni association.

Mrs. Newell was secretary to James M. Rhodes, president of Littleton College, for many years. She was a teacher of note, and is a prominent leader in her home town of Macon. She is the widow of John S. Newell and is a member of the distinguished Nationiel Macon family. She is at present ill in the Adams-Kinton Home in Lillington.

Mrs. Doak said that the Emma Thorton Nowell Scholarship and the Vera Herring student loans will be granted to deserving young women from the Littleton College Memorial Fund.

Thomas A. Collins, president of Wesleyan College, has expressed his gratitude and thanks to Mrs. Lawrence and other Littleton alumnae who have contributed to the college. Collins also expressed his appreciation to the association for its selection of Wesleyan College as the depository of Littleton's memorabilia.

Food For Thought

"Within limits of normality, every individual loves himself. In cases where he has a deformity or abnormality or develops it later, his own aesthetic sense revolts and he develops a sort of disgust towards himself. Though with time, he becomes reconciled to his deformities, it is only at the conscious level. His sub-conscious mind, which continues to bear the mark of the injury, brings about certain changes in his whole personality, making him suspicious of society."

President Collins At Union Meeting

President Thomas A. Collins represented North Carolina Wesleyan College at a union meeting of the General Board of Education and the Commission of Christian Education of the Methodist Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, January 4-7.

College presidents from 133 Methodist colleges and universities shared in the studying and planning for the work of Christian Higher Education for the quadrennium 1964-68.

DID YOU KNOW?

Among the 50 states, excluding Alaska and Washington, D. C., three states permit a boy to compete in an unlimited number of track events and three more have partial limitations. Seven states limit the men to five events, while 19 limit participation to four events, and 18 states limit men to three events for a state meet. Many states limit a man to the number of running events over 440 yards. Another interesting fact is that whereas the majority of the states specify opening starting dates for football and basketball, only 17 do the same for track, and only eight states and D. C. limit the number of meets in which a school may compete.
