

SLA Gives Answers

Councils, and it may modify, uphold, or veto such council decisions. It may modify or suspend its own action. All of its decisions are subject to review by the Administration. The Administration may uphold, modify, or veto the decisions of the SLA. Appeals may be made from the SLA to the Administration. The SLA also acts as an interpreter of rules and the SGA Constitution. It may recommend changes of rules to the SGA Senate.

Q. What are the procedures for presenting referrals to the Student Life Association?

A. The Dorm and Day Students' Councils are required to submit written referrals signed by their respective presidents as official representatives of their groups. Referrals should state the nature of the case or recommendation with the reason therefor and what action, if any, has been taken. The SLA may receive the referrals of any group or individual members of the college community. Referrals may be given to the Chairman of the SLA or to the Director of Student Life.

Q. How are punishments administered? What is the procedure? The records?

A. The SLA members hear the case, listen to the testimony of witnesses and the testimony of persons charged. If the person charged requests a person or persons to represent him, he may have this privilege. At the request of the person charged the hearing may be open to the college community, otherwise the hearing would be closed. The SLA reserves the right to reach their decisions in private after all evidence has been presented, and rebuttals are ended. The decision is rendered by majority vote of members of SLA, or by unanimous vote of the quorum. The punishment is exacted by the majority agreement in the SLA. When the decision has been reached a typed copy must be prepared and presented to the person or persons charged bearing the signatures of the Chairman of the SLA and Director of Student Life. . . . The records are kept in the files of the Director of Student Life and are considered private. They are subject to review by the Administration. They become a part of the student's permanent record only if and when expulsion is enacted. It is the attitude of the SLA to keep the matter private as far as possible in the interest of the reputation of the student. A copy of the proceeding, however, is sent to the Dorm or Day Students' Councils in cases referred by them and in which they share a responsibility to see that the punishment is carried out, but no public announcement is considered except in cases where the public interest is involved.

Statement Of Purpose

"... the SLA looks upon itself as judicial body charged with the responsibility of maintaining the Wesleyan Code. It regards itself also as an advisory body, offering guidance and friendly counsel in effort to help the student."

PHOTOGRAPHS ON DISPLAY

The display of the nation's best pictures taken by amateur photographers will be in the Student Union Building through April 1.
