

Juniors Initiate New Projects

Determined to make this the best year yet, the eager class of '67 scheduled several new projects at a called meeting early Saturday morning. Under the leadership of Blaine Adams, Billy Norton, Marilyn Shepard and Terri Conway, who serves as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively, the Junior Class feels that financially they will have big returns.

First on the agenda is setting up a newspaper rack in memory of the late Nguyen Manh Truong, a Viet-Nameese student, and Miss Barbara Mary Miller, a Wesleyan economics professor, who were fatally injured last year. On the stand will be a plaque in their honor. During the Founders Day Convocation scheduled for October 25, the dedication will be made. Also in their honor the Junior Class will furnish the first Index Volume of the New York Times newspaper. This will be placed on a reserved shelf in the library in the hope that future classes will continue the collection.

Along with the newspaper rack the class of '67 plans to offer the Wesleyan Community seat cushions bearing the school seal. Although this project is yet in the planning stage, ads will soon be sold. Also the class plans to sell at a low cost, durable and clear plastic yearbook covers. Both of these projects are not only beneficial for the Junior Class but also a service to the students.

With these projects already in motion the class president said, "We should do well." It is felt that the members of this class realize the necessity of unison work for above average results.

Garb Day

In accordance with Wesleyan tradition, Freshman Garb Day will be held on the campus on Friday, October 1, from 7:00 A. M. to 12:00 P. M. Garb Day, which was first held three years ago, has become an important phase of the Freshman Orientation Program.

On Garb Day, Freshmen girls are not permitted to wear make-up, jewelry, pins, ribbons or other decorations in the hair. Girls must select from their wardrobe a skirt and blouse consisting of various color, plaid, or pattern combinations. Freshmen girls are also required to wear white socks rolled down, and mismatched shoes. All Freshmen boys are required to wear white dress shirts, dark ties, and dark slacks with one pants leg rolled up 3 inches below the knee and mismatched shoes and socks. In addition, all regular Freshman rules will still be in effect. There will be a dance in the Student Union that evening, drawing Garb Day to a close. Freshmen will continue to wear their beanies for at least another week.

Food Services

The quality and choice of food currently available in the cafeteria facilities necessitates that a special committee be established to discuss the situation with Mrs. Vanderslice, Supervisor of Auxiliary Enterprise.

The SGA, last January, had established a special senate committee to confer with the cafeteria personnel about the food "services". The support of the students for the project was demonstratively shown by a student boycott of cafeteria facilities. After complaints of greasy, partially uncooked food, repetitious and unappetizing menus, the SGA was able to reconcile the students' position by working with the cafeteria personnel.

The members of the Wesleyan Community should order the senate to re-establish last year's one semester committee and insure that insults to the organs of gastronomical delight do not ever happen again. The special committee could correct the present condition and, if made a permanent part of the SGA, stop all future difficulties. The SGA will re-establish the committee only at the request and insistence of the members of the Wesleyan Community.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

This year the mathematics department at Wesleyan is offering the same fundamental courses as last year. As the college and faculty grow, these courses will be augmented.

There are many opportunities available to a mathematics majors. Rather than graduate work, the teaching profession has been preferred by Wesleyan graduates. Joan L. Munday, Winifred Sawyer, and Barbara Hall, 1965 graduates, are currently teaching.

Mathematics majors can find an interesting career in the armed forces in such departments as Military, Ballistics, and Supply Control. The government also employs mathematics majors in civil service jobs. At present, Betty Anderson, a 1964 Wesleyan graduate is so employed.

Leading newspapers, such as the New York Times, carry numerous advertisements for mathematic personnel.

Wesleyan Goes Hawaiian

by Ron Crouch

Those freshmen and transfer students who came to N. C. W. C. expecting to find themselves in a typical North Carolinian atmosphere, began to wonder for a time Thursday night if they were in the right place.

The Orientation Committee, as a continuation of their get-together and get-acquainted series, took the new students on an imaginary journey half-way around the globe to a Hawaiian luau.

Features of the luau included an authentic Hawaiian setting, musical entertainment, and a colorful array of costumes. The scenery, which was basically Hawaiian, contained the expected palm trees and the like, but was rimmed by Japanese lanterns to add a more oriental flavor.

Headlining the entertainment was a folk music group from UNC "We Three and Me". They presented a two segment program consisting of both popular and traditional folk songs.

Brian Flynn, (alias Bob Dylan) also appeared briefly. Brian, a freshman at Wesleyan, sang four selections including "Buffalo Boy" and "Ballad of the Four Soldiers", a song which he wrote.

The costumes were both colorful and varied. Some came attired in typical Hawaiian dress (although the grass skirt was sadly missing) while others wore bermudas and gay shirts and blouses. One boy even showed up in a bathing suit more easily identified with Atlantic City of the Roaring 20's.

Although all appeared to have an enjoyable time, it is most likely that they were glad to find themselves once again among Carolina pines at evening's end.

Vince Dooley, football coach at the University of Georgia, is an avid student of history. He has his masters degree from Auburn in history and plans to study the subject while coaching at Georgia.

Iberian Dancers To Perform

Laura Toledo's Iberian Dance Theater will perform in the Gymnasium on the campus of North Carolina Wesleyan College on Tuesday evening, October 5 at 8:15 p.m. The program is made up of traditional and interpretive dances and music from the diverse regions of romantic Spain. It is free of charge and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Toledo and Mr. Antonio Santaella, her dancing partner, are supported in their performance by a Flamenco guitarist, a Flamenco singer, and a narrator.

Laura Toledo, the principal performer and director, began her career as a ballet dancer at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. She has featured at the Moulin Rouge as an interpreter of Spanish Dances. Miss Toledo has toured Spain, France, England, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland.

Antonio Santaella is a native of Granada. As a way of life in the Flamenco neighborhoods of Andulusa, he began dancing soon after he learned to walk. Since he arrived in the United States, Mr. Santaella has gained increasing recognition as one of the outstanding Flamenco exponents on the current dance scene.

Economics Club

The Economics Club has monthly meetings that are geared to the interests of the economic majors. The president for the 1965-66 year is John Hendricks. The discussions at the meetings concern current economic affairs.

A student may become a provisional member if he has had one semester of economics and is enrolled for the second. He becomes a full member after two semesters of economics.

New freshmen struggle through registration
