New Chapel To Be Built

At last the student body has convinced the faculty and administration to press for the construction of a new Chapel instead of an auditorium. Construction on the new facility will begin within the next month.

The structure itself will resemble the Cathedral of Notre Dame. The student body is proud of its efforts in instigating the construction of this long awaited facility. When it became apparent that funds were lacking, student organizations donated their entire treasuries to the fund. Other students took to the streets and collected coins and bills from door to door. The service groups on campus sought odd jobs and brought in a tremendous amount of revenue. As a result of their efforts, a section of pews will be dedicated to each of these organizations and fraternities.

Upon announcement of contract grants, Dr. Thomas Collins, our President, made evident his pride in the decision and action of the student body. He announced that upon his retirement as President he would be most honored to become the permanent Chaplain. Now that bids have been opened and the Board of Trustees has awarded the multi-million dollar contract to Braswell Construction Company, students should expect occupancy within five years.

Dr. Thomas Collins

Dean Sim O. Wilde, Jr. cordially invites the student body of Wesleyan College to a party at his home at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow night.

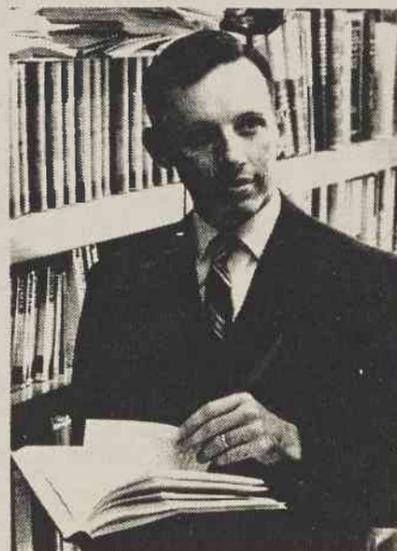

REFRESHMENTS will be provided. B.Y.O.L.

Dr. James Publishes New Book

Dr. Ralph James, distinguished Professor of Philosophy and Religion, has just published the latest of a long series of articles and books on the subject of God and his institutions.

Dr. James views God in a conservative light. He supports the tenants of the old Southern Baptist Church. Teamed with Corbitt Rushing, Professor of Political Science and an avid Southern Baptist, Dr. James formulated his latest work, How To Permanently Crush Roman Catholicism. Using the tactics devised by the Nazi murderers of World War II, this book presents a step by step plan for the destruction of the Catholic Church and all who dare to adhere to its doctrines.

Dr. James received financial support for his endeavor from the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Daughters of the American Revolution. After completing his first draft, Dr. James turned his work over to these support organizations for their opinions and suggestions. Both groups received the work extremely well and as a result, they have voted a joint award to Dr. James. Dr. James has won an all expense paid week in fabulous Heaven. There he will have the opportunity to talk with his idol, God, and to frolic in the warm sun and marvel at the ominous Pearly Gates.

The DECREE has assigned Jim Perry to accompany Dr. James on his journey. Perry will file daily releases with this paper. Upon his return, Dr. James has promised to present a public lecture and autograph party at the Crypt, Rocky Mount's Confederate Tavern. Here his many supporters will be able to gain first hand insight into the methodical plan for mass annihilation of the Catholic monsters. It's hoped that the government will adopt his plan as the basic tenant of its domestic peace corps policy within the next year. Dr. James has been invited to Atlanta, seat of the new national government, for top level conferences as soon as he fulfills lecture commitments.

Pool On The Way

Wesleyan is about to receive its long awaited swimming pool. Mr. Howard T. Leibniz has consented to finance the construction of a pool complex beside the gymnasium. The complex will include an olympic size in-door pool complete with starting stands and marked bottom. Next to this structure will be another pool providing for high and low diving. There will be dressing facilities for men and women on either side of the pools. The rear of the facility will be occupied by a snack-bar and area for shuffleboard.

Mr. Leibniz is new to the North Carolina area and especially to Wesleyan. Our own Mr. Floyd Sawyer and Mr. Jasper Smith have long been seeking new financial supporters. They contacted Mr. Leibniz at his estate in the Austrian Alps. Leibniz consented to visit Wesleyan and after examining the spacious campus, he offered to finance the construction of whatever the students most desired. It was the unanimous decision of the student body to construct a chapel but the faculty overrode the decision and requested a swimming pool. Completion of the project should be within six months.

Mitchell Made Asst. To President

President Thomas A. Collins announced last week the promotion of Mr. Mitchell, previously hall wanderer and door locker upper, to the newly created position of Presidential Assistant. The new duties of Mr. Mitchell allow little time for snack bar sitting.

Mr. Mitchell will assist President Collins in escorting potential donors around the campus and representing the college at those functions which the president is too busy to attend. A special project of the newly-appointed Mr. Mitchell will be the revival of Wesleyan's traditional Covenant Service.

Upon being asked his reasons for the selection of Mr. Mitchell, President Collins had this to say, "I feel that this promotion is in keeping with some of the promotions seen this year. Further, it is obvious that no finer representative of the true nature of the Wesleyan community can be found. It is indeed rare to find such a unique combination of imagination, intelligence, and drive as is found in Mr. Mitchell. I expect he might be the spark that will ignite our entire administration."

The promotion of Mr. Mitchell was strongly opposed by the Board of Trustees. All members feared Mr. Mitchell's "lean and hungry look". But then all fish get nervous when the cat is around. It was only with the insistence of Dr. Collins that the appointment was finally approved
