

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"Have trouble with #4 last nite? I see I left out part of th' problem when I copied it on the board."

tion because the students in his classes were not representative of the groups from which the traditional Democratic support comes. For this reason, he was not surprised by the results of his classes' vote.

Professor King

He hopes that people will tend to pay more attention to issues, campaigning, qualifications, and the man, rather than the party when they vote in November. He foresees that Humphrey will pick up some votes from the undecided voters indicated in the recent balloting.

Mr. King would like for an organization to sponsor a vote to be taken among the faculty members in the near future, and compare it with the students' responses both now and in November.

The Factor's Rare

The factor's rare
That forms such love,
That is the lens
Can make a rainbow,
End and all.

Rare, love, but not in you.
Certainty I get in plenty,
And hope equally to give,
Though it isn't up for sale or gift.
It must be found.

And, found, it's of great strength.
My cloddish will,
My curse, my drink,
Seem not to interfere.
It's of another stuff?

AT LEFT: Orientation Committee Chairman Charles Kemp instructs kneeling freshmen in the rules of "Hell Week" while cheering upper-classmen look on.

The substance of honest thought,
And fair regard,
That holds as well as sees,
Respects in love,
And gentle is to you.
