

SGA proposes allocations for fall

vidual need and what the club proposes to do with the funds. Carl Hoskins, who is in charge of the SGA Budget Committee, said, "We evaluated every club and organization, their proposal, what they planned to use it (the funded money) for, and what the club had to offer to the students."

The organizations that were allotted funds were Dissenter, Greek Council, Senior Class, Club Dramatica, Junior Class, BSA, SNCAE, Bacchus, Cheerleaders, Lacrosse, Gospel, S.D. Club, PBL, Black & White Photo Club, The Decree, Campus Activity Board (CAB), and Intramural Sports & Recreation (IM-REC). Three of the organizations alone were awarded 75 percent of the allotted money: The Decree, Campus Activity Board, and Intramural Sports & Recreation.

CAB, by itself, was awarded 55 percent of the total allotment, or $21,895. CAB was awarded this money because they are responsible for bringing in a number of events to Wesleyan campus for the students' entertainment. Not only are they responsible for bringing the entertainment to the campus, they are responsible for paying that entertainment as well as transportation and boarding.

The IM-REC was another big winner in the hunt for funding. IM-REC was awarded 11 percent of the total: $4,500. This was $2,100 more and almost twice the amount they were awarded last year. With the amount of students increasing each year, Benny Saint Romain, the director of IM-REC, finds himself needing more equipment and more programs to keep up with the needs of the students.

Romain has added three new sporting programs and a new fitness center to his already full schedule. The three new sports added are tennis, aerobic classes twice a week, and cardiovascular fitness.

When asked about the new programs Romain replied, "I had to add new programs to the schedule. Participation has increased dramatically. There is more (student) participation this year than there ever has been."

Romain also said he was responsible for buying equipment for all of the IM-REC sports — things like whistles, footballs, soccer balls, field maintenance supplies, and prizes for the winning students.

The Decree was the last big winner to receive funding from the SGA. The Decree was awarded nine percent, $3,600. This is actually a decrease in funding from last year. In the fall of 1995 The Decree was awarded $3,760. The amount of $160 was cut from The Decree's budget.

Some clubs were completely cut from this year's SGA budget proposal. Clubs like Student Radio, Student Republicans, psychology, and the freshman class failed to receive any money at all for the fall 1996 semester.

Staley lecture set

Through Staley's support, lecturers and programs have been brought to scores of small, church-related colleges, North Carolina Wesleyan among them. The Staley Lecture is an important event in the life of the College, through which we celebrate our church relatedness and in which we are engaged in inquiry about our historic, religious faith.

Wesleyan College is also sponsoring a Pastor's Workshop in conjunction with the Staley Lecture. Dr. Gaventa will be making comments on contemporary theological education at a luncheon Wesleyan.

Asked how her first few weeks have been as a resident director, she said that while she is currently trying to become more knowledgeable about Wesleyan, she appreciates the good job that the Student Life and RA staff does to assist her with her position as director and student life assistant.

She is impressed by the freshman interim grade turnout and is trying to figure ways to establish a better sense of community between those of South Dorm.

sponsored by the college.

At 3 p.m., Dr. John White, president of the college, will be leading a seminar for pastors from the local area and from the Rocky Mount and Elizabeth City Districts of the United Methodist Church. The seminar's topic will be "Advent Texts from the Christian Lectionary."

Dr. Gaventa is a Pauline scholar whose book, "From Darkness to Light," has been widely honored. Prior to her appointment at Princeton, she held positions at Columbia Theological Seminary and at Colgate Rochester Divinity School.

She received her undergraduate degree from Phillips University, her Master of Divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary, and the Ph.D. from Duke University. In 1983 Kalamazoo College granted her the Doctor of Divinity degree.

She is active in the Society of Biblical Literature and in a number of other scholarly associations. She represents the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) on the Plenary Commission on Faith and the Order of the World Council of Churches.

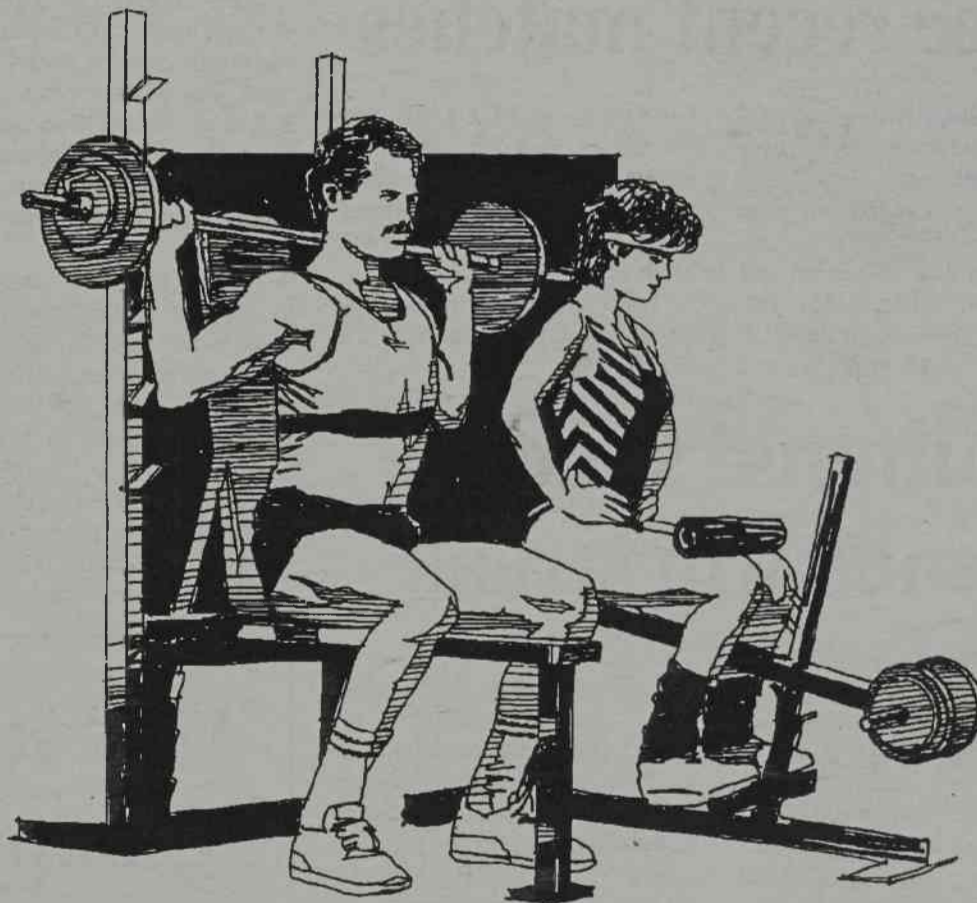

Her most recent book, "Mary: Glimpses of the Mother of Jesus," is published by the University of South Carolina Press.

Television needed

North Hall Council is looking for a new television to replace the one that was stolen last semester. Anyone willing to donate a television or is willing to sell one at a cheap price is asked to contact the North Hall Council President, Michele (Buffy) at 5323.

Any donations will be greatly appreciated. Thank you!
