HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Roy Clinard, milling machine operator at the Machine Shop, entertained approximately 20 guests at a birthday party on June 3, 1955, at 10:00 A.M., in the Black Room of the Shop on the occasion of his 42nd birthday. A beautifully appointed machine crate, featuring imported corrugated cover, held the birthday cake, which was cut by the honoree with an antique hack saw that has been in possession of the company for many years. Bottled cokes, encased in brown paper towels, were served from a crate decorated with steel shavings and emery dust. Roy was serenaded with a lovely rendition of "Happy Birthday To You" by all "the boys", after which appropriate games and contests were enjoyed by all. Charlie Young won a prize for eating the most cake. Special guest for the occasion was "Doubtful," the Shop's feline mascot, now deceased.

Mr. Clinard was also celebrating his 21st wedding anniversary, having been married for half of his life. He readily agreed the second 21 years were the shortest. He is married, has six children and one grandchild. He resides at 311 Rockspring Road.

Sharing honors with Mr. Clinard was Woody Sumner who also celebrated his forty-second birthday recently.
