C. F. Mann, Boarding Department, foreman, Plant #1: "For an employee to have proper qualities, he should be cooperative on the job, put out first quality work, and assume his share of responsibility in keeping the department a clean and safe place in which to work."

Howard Young, Knitting Department foreman of Plant #4: "The first quality I look for in an employee is reliability. I want to know that he will be on the job on time and do a good day's work. If he does this, he is sure to have other good qualities such as honesty, loyalty and perseverance."

GUESS WHO?

Two of our employees went fishing during their July 4 vacations. From the way they are dressed and the equipment they have, we are wondering whether they were fishing in Alaska or farther toward the North Pole. At any rate, they returned to work July 9, reporting a wonderful expedition--but very few fish caught. Look on Page 14 for the answer as to who they are.

IN MEMORIAM

Jesse P. Clodfelter, retired employee of Adams-Millis, died on July 6, following a period of declining health. He had been a resident of High Point for thirty years and was an employee of the Boarding Department of Plant #1 from August of 1936 until June of 1955, when, because of his health, it became necessary to retire.

Mr. Clodfelter is survived by his wife, Manilla C. Clodfelter, of High Point; two daughters and four sons. He was a lifelong member of Midway Methodist Church.

After an illness of three weeks' duration, Nannie P. Jackson, looper of Plant #2, died in High Point Memorial Hospital on July 7, 1956.

Born in Davidson County, Mrs. Jackson was employed by Adams-Millis in April of 1928 and had worked continuously since that time until three weeks prior to her death. She is survived by her husband, Vernon R. Jackson, and a foster son, Wallace R. Spencer, both of High Point. She was of the Baptist faith.

OUR SYMPATHY

Our deepest sympathy goes to Johnnie Holton, Shipping Department of Plant #2, in the death of his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Horney Holton.

We extend our sympathy to Earl Watson in the loss of his father, James Watson. Earl is head of the Order Department of Plant #4.
