OUR COVER

Garland York, knitter of Plant #7, gets his polio vaccination from Dr. Craig Parks. The doctors donated their time while the health department nurses assisted. Each person receiving the shot paid the cost.

HOW GOOD IS A TEAM BUILT?

A team starts with individuals who are all different. A baseball or football team starts with a group of players who each do something different, but do it well.

Similarly, a working team starts with a group of people with different jobs, and each with different likes and dislikes.

What makes a good team? Each member of the team must do his own job well. But even more important, each member must learn to work well with the other team members. He must give a little, take a little.

There are many teams with good individuals, but some of these teams don't come through.

All teams start with individuals.

All Good teams start with Team-work.

"An 'A' for effort... 'D' for proficiency. Well, it figures!"
