A-M Employees Pledge Nearly $100,000 In Drive

Adams-Millis Corporation employees pledged nearly $100,000 to the United Way this year. The $99,973.94 total was the best ever achieved within the company, according to David Moff, Corporate Director of Human Resources. Plant 1 in High Point led the way with a per capita gift of $44.15. Plant 6 in Hickory registered the greatest per capita increase from the previous year — 353 percent, Moff said. The Plant 6 dyehouse had the greatest per capita gift for a single department with $65.94. "Seeing these figures again reinforces my feelings about everyone in the Adams-Millis Family," said Chairman J. H. Millis Sr. "They are wonderful people who care about their fellowman. Their contributions to the United Way certainly illustrate that very vividly." Millis expressed appreciation to everyone who contributed and added thanks to those who worked in the campaign. "Results like this don't just happen," he said. "A lot of people spent time and energy in the campaigns and are to be commended for their efforts." He also praised the United Way organization for its advances in "meeting the needs of the community." "Adams-Millis has been committed to the organization for a long time," he said. both public and private, regional and local economic development," Millis explained. "They also looked at implementation of production policies in large industries."

The tour was arranged by the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations and was funded by the U.S. Information Agency.

J. H. Millis Jr., Senior Vice President of Marketing and Product Development who had visited China last year, presented an overview of Adams-Millis to the member delegation during its stop in High Point. When he told the group of the number of socks Adams-Millis produces, a member of the delegation responded through an interpreter, "That's a lot of socks!"

President Robert M. Buoy Jr. also spoke briefly to the group in High Point before it departed for Kernersville to tour Plant 3. In Kernersville Danny McNair, Vice President and Group General Manager, and Ed Aker, Vice President of Planning, briefed them about the operation prior to the tour.

The delegation also toured the Lattas Yachts in High Point during their visit. The two-week tour also included New York City, Boston, San Francisco as well as North Carolina's Research Triangle Park.

The group was here to examine the role and impact of state municipal agencies,

A-M Among Forbes 'Top 200' Firms

Adams-Millis has been named to the Forbes Magazine "Top 200" list of small public companies.

The "Top 200" were selected from more than 5,000 companies nationwide with annual sales between $1 million and $315 million.

Forbes' evaluation of the companies was based on performance during the past five years. Among the factors evaluated was annual sales growth. That had to be 10 percent or better annually. Adams-Millis ranked 38th in sales among the 200 companies.

"This is quite an achievement," said Chairman J. H. Millis Sr. "It is not often we are placed in such an enviable position. We know we have a fine company but when someone else evaluates you and rates you highly, it certainly does make us feel good."

Millis praised Adams-Millis employees for their efforts which have helped make the company what it is.

"I think this ranking by Forbes shows quite well the quality of employees we have and the good work they do," Millis said. "Without everyone working so well as they do as a team, I'm sure this would not have happened."

Value Line Publishing in New York topped the list which also included such firms as International Dairy Queen, Dreyfus, Oshkosh B'Gosh, Sizzler Restaurants and Neutrogena.

Dot Clark Honored For 50 Years Service

Dot Clark, J.H. Millis Sr.

FDR was president, the movie "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was first released, Amelia Earhart was lost at sea, spinach growers erected a statue to "Popeye" and the first McDonald's restaurant opened.

The year was 1937 when those things happened. And on November 8 of that year Miss Dot Clark went to work for Adams-Millis Corporation. November 9 was "Dot Clark Day" at Adams-Millis Plant 3 where she is assistant supervisor in the Folding Department 50 years after joining the company. "This is a very special day for a very special person," said Adams-Millis Chairman J.H. Millis Sr. during a luncheon honoring Clark.

"A lot of things have happened since Dot joined Adams-Millis in 1937," Millis told more than 100 of Clark's family, friends and colleagues who gathered to celebrate the occasion. "We've fought three wars, man has walked on the moon and we had a fire on this very spot where we are today.
