for some chapter members.

According to a spokesman for the Charlotte group, another check to assist the athletic program will be forthcoming in the very near future.

Marion Jacobs, '51, presently employed in the Charlotte school system, is president of the Charlotte chapter and J. Mills Holloway, '50, Business Manager at J. C. Smith University, is treasurer.

Congratulations to the Charlotte Chapter for a commendable undertaking.

HOSPITAL FOOD SERVICE SUPERVISOR

Lily Holloway, a member of the graduation class of 1954, is now employed as a Food Service Supervisor in the Methodist Hospital in Philadelphia.

Prior to accepting the Philly position, Lily was a Home Economics instructor in the Pickney High School in Carthage.

While here, Lil was an active member of the Cooley-Winchell Home Economics Club, the Cheering Squad, WAA, and a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

She is now a member of the Philadelphia Chapter of our Alumni Association which her brother, H. H. Holloway, '50, heads.

TWIN CITY CHAPTER FETES TEAM, SUBMITS DUES

The Winston-Salem Chapter, headed by Bennie L. Moore, held a reception for visiting alumni and members of the basketball team recently when Floyd H. Brown's, '45, Eagle basketball club journeyed over to the neighboring city for a CIAA contest with the W-S Teachers College Rams. The reception was held in the W-S YWCA and refreshments were served to all team members and alumni who were in attendance. The Eagles, of course, won the game 82-73 to show their appreciation for the feast.

More recently, the National Association received a check from the Winston-Salem group for membership dues for twenty.

The members who are now employed or reside in the twin-city are: Doris Armstrong, Olivia Battle, Nettie Booker, Savannah Craighead, Rev. Leroy Davis, Claudius Downs, Delores Dyson, Lily Holloway, '54, is employed as a Food Service Supervisor in the Methodist Hospital in Philadelphia.

Glover Hill, Verdelle Hill, Girtha Jeffers, E. B. Johnson, Annie O. Jones, James L. Lassiter, Bennie Moore, Arthur Payne, Laura Ann Penn, Ernestine Pratt, Geneva Puryear, Gladys Roberson, and Pauline Wilson.

Mrs. N. G. Booker is corresponding secretary of the chapter.

TO HEAD D. C. ALUMNI

John Peele, Jr., '55, has been elected as president of the Washington, D. C., chapter to replace J. Calvin Adams, '54, who was recently called into the Armed Forces.

Peele, now employed in the Government Patent Office in Washington, was former co-editor of the EAGLE and served on the staff of the CAMPUS ECHO while enrolled here at NCC.

Rosemary Alsbrook, '47, is vice president, and Hattie J. Taylor, '55, is corresponding secretary of the Capitol City alumni.

PLACEMENT BUREAU LOSES ASSISTANT

NCC's Placement Bureau's Services have become so outstanding that the bureau is now without one of its assistants.

Mary Elizabeth Mebane, '55, former graduate assistant in the Placement Bureau has resigned that position to accept a job as Teacher-Librarian in the Academy Heights School of Pinehurst, N. C.

While enrolled as an undergraduate here in NCC Mary majored in English and was a member of the CAMPUS ECHO and Alpha Kappa Mu. As a senior she was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

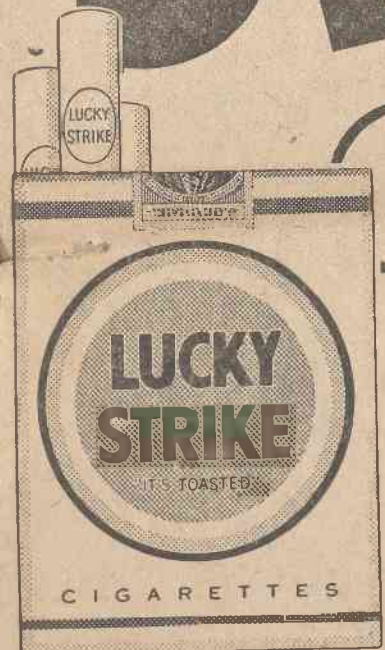

Dr. W. M. Brown, Director of the Placement Bureau told this writer, "The absence of Miss Mebane's services in the Placement Bureau has been felt tremendously; however, we were well pleased to be able to recommend a North Carolina College graduate to fill the immediate position at Academy Heights."

Hundreds of NCC graduates have received a job assistance from the Placement Bureau and all seniors, graduate students and others interested in the service of the Bureau should stop by Room 02, Administration Building, and file employment credentials with the Placement Personnel.

Carolyn Black, '56, is now a science teacher on the faculty of Carver High School, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.
