Plan To Impeach Streeter Backed By V. President

NCC's Student Government, shaken by rumors of the resignation of the Vice-President, Carl High, and the appearance of a bulletin apparently intended to indict the President, Lacy Streeter, had been crippled in the past week to the extent that students were "choosing sides" as to whether or not they would support the incumbent.

The bulletin that appeared first denounced the President's action, lack of action, on such matters as the alleged banning of certain recreational events on campus, the handling of budgetary problems, and also called for the resignation or the impeachment of Streeter. It bore the name of, among others, the Vice-President.

As the initial afreets of panic began to disappear among the students, indications were that things were almost back to normal. Mr. High notified the Campus Echo that he was not resigning, and Streeter took the opportunity to outline some of the projects now being undertaken by the Student Government. On the recent illness among the students, Streeter offered the following information:

"On Friday at 2:00 P.M., the Dean of the Undergraduate School, Dr. Kyle, informed me that the President, Dr. Elder, had visited the infirmary Thursday night and had appointed a committee to investigate the matter. The committee included the college physician, Dr. Randolph; the business manager, Mr. Jones, and Dr. Kyle. He also informed me that specimens had been sent to the local Health Dept. for analysis, and that a report of the committee would be given me to pass on to the students. Today (Monday, Nov. 21), Dr. Kyle told me that the analysis had proved negative."

Mr. Streeter stated further that funds appropriated to the Student Government for budgets of the Eagle and the Echo are "insufficient" and that he would "try to have the allocations increased."

Mr. Streeter wished to assure the students that "I have no intention of resigning, nor have I ever thought of doing it."

Concerning the recreational events, Mr. Streeter said, "No information has been given me
