For 1966-67

Student Aid Resources Will Be At $1 Million

North Carolina College students will receive approximately $1 million in matriculation assistance for the 1966-67 school year.

This was reported recently by W. C. Blackwell, the college's financial aid officer, who indicated that student assistance will be available from a variety of sources.

If Congress appropriates funds for extension of the National Defense Student loan program, NCC's share will be approximately $327,000, Blackwell said, adding that the college has already been granted $108,600 for Educational Opportunity Grants and $331,365 for Work-Study by the federal government.

"Add to these amounts a required ten per cent matching share, plus North Carolina College scholarships, North Carolina State tuition scholarships, scholarships from miscellaneous private sources, and the college's own work-assistance program, and this would come to about $1 million worth of assistance," he stated.

According to Blackwell, criteria for consideration for most of this aid—National Defense Loans, Work-Study, NCC work—are quite simple. A student must be in good standing and must substantiate his need. For an entering freshman, "good standing" means he has been admitted to the college. For a student of previous attendance, it means an academic average of "C" and demonstration of worthiness for consideration.

A minimum of red tape is now involved, Blackwell said. First, an application, which may be secured from the Office of Student Financial Aid, must be filed on or before May 1 for assistance needed for the ensuing school year. Second, two letters of recommendation attesting to need and worthiness must be received before aid can be granted.

A personal interview, is desirable, though not mandatory, he added.

Grid Squad To Get New Assistant Coach

Robert Heard, line coach at Mississippi Valley State College since 1962, will join the North Carolina College faculty as an assistant professor of physical education and an assistant football coach effective September 1.

NCC's head football coach, James E. (Jimmy) Stevens, indicated that Heard's main duties will be as line coach for the Eagles.

football team and earned a scholarship to the University of Oregon at Eugene.

At Oregon he earned three letters under the mentorship of Len Casanova and as a junior was a member of the 1958 Oregon team which met Ohio State University in the Rose Bowl

Nursing Enrollment To Be Largest Ever

Twenty registered nurses from six states, the District of Columbia, and one foreign country will begin their studies toward the baccalaureate degree in nursing at North Carolina College in September, Mrs. Helen S. Miller, chairman of the Department of Nursing, reported recently.

This will bring the departmental enrollment to approximately 50—the largest in the history of the college's nursing program, Mrs. Miller said.

The entering students are graduates of the following three-year hospitals or programs in nursing: Presbyterian Hospital, Charlotte; Lincoln School for Nurses, New York City; St. Philip School of Nursing, Richmond, Va.; Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Freedmans Hospital, Washington, D. C.; Kate B. Reynolds School of Nursing, Winston-Salem.

ECHOES—of news and pictures, not sound, covered the North Carolina College campus recently, providing ideas and information about NCC and its program as the Summer Echo, a 12-page newspaper, was released.

Among the many students and others who found the paper of interest was Ella Tyson, a rising senior French major of Greenville, N. C. The paper was produced by the college's News Bureau, which assumes responsibility in the summer for the Echo, a student publication during the regular school year.
