NTE DATES

PRINCETON. New Jersey, September 22 — College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the three different test dates announced today by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: February 3, April 6, and July 6, 1968. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

A Bulletin of Information containing a list of test centers, and information about the examinations, as well as a registration form, may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

neighbors can live in peace without an underlying basis of economic and social development."

Dr. King stated that the S. C. L. C. had "expressly, frequently, and vigorously denounced anti-Semitism and will continue to do so." He pointed out that anti-Semitism was "immoral," and was used to divide Negro and Jew, "who have effectively collaborated in the struggle for justice." Anti-Semitism "injuries Negroes," he said, "because it upholds the doctrine of racism, which they have the greatest stake in destroying."

"Sociologists tell us what we already suspect is the truth that the new desire for separatism grows out of despair," Williams said.

He quoted an estimate by the President's Council of Economic Advisors that racial discrimination costs the country $20 billion a year. "We are talking about the Nation's oldest treasure hunt — the search of a people for equality of opportunity - educationally, politically, economically."

The conference, attended by high school teachers and students from across the state, heard Williams cite the achivements of Carl Stokes, newlyelected mayor of Cleveland, and Senator Edward Brooks as evidence that Negros can achieve prominence in areas where they are a minority.

"To make the most of new opportunities," Williams said. "the Negro must think of himself as a contributing part of

S B A ELECTS OFFICERS

The officers of the Student Bar Association of North Carolina College for the school year are Ellis Lewis, president; James McNeil, vice president; and James Smith, treasurer. There is presently a vacancy for the position of secretary.

Eighty-one students is the current enrollment in the Law School. The National Moot Court Competition, held on November 18-19 at the University of Richmond in Richmond, Virginia, is now the major business of concern to the law students.

News also coming from the school is that Mr. Raymond Watkins, a new instructor, took the place of Mr. Henry Frye this school term.

Students who recently completed the Bar are as follows: Clifford Johnson who is now working with C. C. Malone in Durham, North Carolina; George Harris who is now practicing in Roanoke, Virginia, and Zollie Richburg, who is now in graduate school.

Teacher Of Future To Have New Role

"Teaching as it is known today may soon play a secondary role in education as knowledge explodes and technological development continue," Robert E. Steppe told 425 participants in a National Educational Association North Central Regional Conference on Instruction, in Minneapolis in October.

Dr. Steppe, director of audiovisual instruction, Midwest Regional Center for the Deaf, Lincoln, Nebraska, said that the teachers' role in the future may be as the learning advises, prescribes, moderates, and -also teaches. Teaching, as we know it today, may become one of the secondary roles," Dr. Steppe continued.

School Spirit Plan Launched

The North Carolina College Physical Education Majors Club launches a "School Spirit" project designed to encourage greater support of the athletic teams and the cheerleaders. The hope is that the student, faculty, alumni, and friends of the college will join with the members of the PEM Club in creating an atmosphere of wholehearted support that will magnify the determination of our athletes to excel in every Eagle sports con-

As the number one Eagle booster, Dr. Albert N. Whiting, president of North Carolina College, was presented the Eagle bell, the Eagle shakers, and the Eagle hat to help the PEM Club initiate this new school spirit project. Dr. Whiting challenged the members of the club to help create at N. C. College an atmosphere of vigorous expectation. In such an atmosphere, Dr. Whiting emphasized, that excellence is the goal, whether it is on the athletic field, in the stands as cheering supporting spectators, or in academic pursuits in the classroom.

The N.C.C. PEM Club asks that all members of the NCC community become ardent Eagle supporters by getting the Eagle hat, the Eagle bell and the Eagle shaker.

Math Openings Explored

The Mathematics Department of North Carolina College at Durham indicates that many fields are open to the graduates of that department. The graduating class of 1967 had 12 seniors who majored in mathema-

Industry took in two of these graduates. Delores Boone and Annie Isaac are now working with International Business Machine (IBM).

Janice Baldwin and Mollye Brinkley decided upon high school teaching as their careers. Janice is working in Washington, D. C., and Mollye is employed in Connecticut.

Natalie Marshall Sandra Wray, and Hamilton Murray, preparing themselves further for college teaching careers, entered graduate school. Natalie, on a teaching fellowship, and Sandra are matriculating at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan; Hamilton is attending George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

The Prudential Life Insurance Company of Newark, New Jersey attracted Judith Bullock.

The remaining four graduates are working for the United States government. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in Green Belt, Maryland interested Elizabeth Galbreath. Nettie Young McArthur joined the Department of Navy in Washington, D. C. She chose to specialize in oceonography. Ralph Rutherford and Gilbert Bigby are in Arlington, Virginia working with the Department of Defense Intelli-

Intramural Sports Viewed

Welcome to the 1967-68 edition of Intramural Sports-NCC Style. This year's program poses to be the most thrilling and exciting ever. The Intramural Executive Board has worked hard to present a complete program made up of carefully selected activities designed to play an integral role in making your daily experience complete. No matter what your area of interest is, there is an intramural sports program just right for you. A wide range of facilities, activities, and opportunities for leadership is made available for your selection. Team and individual sports are planned purposefully to provide you with opportunities to learn skills, make friends, improve your health, develop your personality, and to acquire lifelong leisure-time interests.

We take pride in announcing our upcoming programs; bowling, golf, swimming, cross-country, table tennis, volleyball, track and field, archery, badminton, softball, tennis, and basketball are but a few of the many activities in store. As extra attractions, this year's program will offer co-recreational nights, telegraphic meets in track, All-Sports Day, and our annual basketball classic (Winston-Salem vs NCC), and our city basketball, and softball championships (Duke vs NCC).

There are many questions that come about every year pertaining to the organization and operation of intramural activities. The director, Mr. Robert Bowles, has made available the services of his office and staff to answer any questions that may arise. If you are a returning student, you probably have had some ac-
