

Summer education programs spiced with variety

Four special-interest programs ranging from energy conservation to alcohol abuse are planned at Duke in conjunction with the 1978 Summer Educational Programs.

Coordinator Fritz Anlyan says the programs will open with a short course on "Energy Conservation in Buildings," May 15-18. The program is designed to assist architects, engineers, physical plant managers and building owners to plan, develop and implement a rational program of energy conservation in buildings.

Lectures and discussions will be led by faculty from Duke's Center for the Study of Energy Conservation and by guest speakers from the National Bureau of Standards, Duke Power Co. and the American Gas Association.

According to Prof. Jack B. Chaddock, director of the energy conservation center, those attending will get "a factual overview of the supply and use of energy throughout the world and be provided with new building design methods and ideas on the use of solar energy in overall energy management programs."

The special schooling will continue May 22-24 with a seminar on "Federal Regulations in Higher Education."

The seminar is designed to assist administrators in public and private institutions to understand the various federal regulations applicable to institutions in the mid-Atlantic region. It will include university counselors from Princeton and Johns Hopkins universities, staff counselors from the American Council on Education and a Washington lawyer who is an American Bar Association authority on taxation and exempt organizations.

A course on "In School Record Keeping," June 5-7, is expected to attract a group of administrators charged with developing rational data entry and retrieval systems in their institutions.

Emphasis will be on systems that integrate data from admissions, registration and records, development, financial aid, business office and alumni records.

The last of the 1978 summer short programs is a "Youth Alcohol Awareness Workshop" set for July 23-28.

Aimed at providing intensive training in the prevention, early identification and treatment of alcohol abuse among young people, the workshop is designed for educators, health professionals and others working closely with young people.

The program is coordinated with the Southern Alcohol Education and Training Program, Atlanta, and will be led by Donald R. Nelson, a specialist in alcohol awareness program design activity.

Information on registration, fees, accommodations and program details may be obtained from the Duke Summer Educational Program, 06B-West Duke Bldg., Durham, 27708, or by telephone, 684-3924.

YOGI BARES HIS CHEST and second-year medical student Stephen Denning obligingly checks him out with his stethoscope during a visit to the pediatrics wards April 19. Yogi Bear and his equally animated cohort Scooby Doo included Duke on their rounds of hospitals in the state as part of a promotional tour for the recreation park Carowinds near Charlotte. Most of the pediatrics patients were delighted and a few were apprehensive, but the two overgrown playmates made as big a hit with hospital visitors and staff as with the kids. Yogi will return to Duke, again with pediatrics in mind, when he joins a host of other celebrities for the Children's Classic, May 27-29. (Photo by Parker Herring)

Physical Therapy

The following will receive the Master of Science degree in physical therapy:

Lynn Kisseloff, Liz Mostrom, Ann Munday, Linda Rosenberg, Rock Rusch, Lorraine Shelton, Debbie McCall Skalsky, Mary Snyder, Ann York and Janet Zechiel.

Health administration

Those who will receive Master of Health Administration degrees are:

Nicholas Kwaku Asare, Anita Sue Baker, Irwin M. Band, Robert R. Bandy, Michael D. Becker, Richard R. Bias, Kenneth K. Boggs, Robert J. Brody, Robert E. Byrd and Martin G. Chiles.

Franklin C.C. Chow, Donald Kent Clary, Timothy J. Clontz, Juan Alberto Cordova, R. Vincent Crawford, John G. Curran Jr., James L. Daily, Russell E. Danielson, Michael L. Davis and William H. Duncan.

Marc Adrien Gelinas, Suzanne I. Greenfeld, Keith Stephen Grundy, David Lee Gustafson, Joan Claire Hansel, Daniel Maxwell Harris, Sue Ann Heider, Craig A. Herink, Deborah H. Houghton and Jesse David Ingram.

Mark Owen Johnson, Jo Mauskopf, David Jefferson McCombs, Pamela Ann Mears, Robert C. Montgomery, William C. Moskosky Jr., Judith Ann Olsen and Raymond Justus Osburn.

Paul Peruzzi, Stephen J. Pomeroy, Daniel D. Ristau, Anthony M. Sanzo, John Wayne Schrader, Jonathan S. Sherwin, David B. Snow Jr. and Richard A. Snow.

James A. Stinson, Larry Gerald Storch, Thomas B. Symonds, Francis C. Thayer, Susan J. Tieri, James R. Vroom, Suzanne J. Wasiolek, Deborah L. Williams, Steven Robert Winkler and Stephen A. Yenchek.

BHS degrees

Those students who have earned the Bachelor of Health Science degree as physician's associates, medical technologists and pathology assistants are:

Linda Ann Ahrends, Lovest Theodore Alexander Jr., Sara Lynn Amedeo, Michael Edward Arrowood, Bruce Lamar Bair, Karyn Marye Baumann, Pamela Anne Beaver, Mary Herndon Berg, Michael Alan Bertain and Carol Louise Blessing.

Cynthia Joyce Gregg, A. Earl Haddock, Daniel Frank Harshbarger, Marcia Edwina Herman-Giddens, Kenda Hills, John Robert Horn Jr., James Carney Irion, Charles R. Kelly Jr., Lloyd Young Son Kim Jr., Maria Carmen La Valle and Howard C. Lee Jr.

Dean Arnold Little, David Michael Lott, Norair Missirlian, Mario Narro-Garcia, Tata Lynn Odum, Don Lawrence Pacheco, Stanley Kenneth Pasay, Patricia Jayne Payne, James Stephen Phares, Elizabeth Behney Quick and Kenneth Herbert Rathey.

David Allen Reeves, Suzanne McCleish Rhea, Roger James Sanders, Scott William Smalley, Douglas Edward Stackhouse, John Tibbs Summers Jr., Margaret Lanigan Symmes, Debra Sue Teplin, Sheryl Arnold Turner, John H. Wharton and Allen Paul Willistein.

Robert Lee Branch, Mary Anne Blair Riva and Patricia Bohan Willoughby completed requirements for the BHS degree in September 1977.

The Medical Center Calendar lists lectures, symposia and other activities of interest to faculty, staff and students. Notices should be sent to Box 3354 no later than one week prior to publication. If last minute scheduling makes it impossible to send a written notice in time, please call 684-4148.

Friday, May 5

12:30 p.m.

Biochemistry Seminar. Dr. Stuart Kornfeld, professor of medicine and biochemistry, Washington University, "The Processing of Oligosaccharides in Glycoprotein Biosynthesis," Rm 147, Nanaline H. Duke Bldg. Coffee at 12:15 in the lobby.

12:30 p.m.

Seminar series on molecular mechanisms of motility. Dr. Keigi Fujiwara, assistant professor of anatomy, Harvard Medical School, Boston, "Comparative localization of contractile proteins and nonmuscle cell motility," Rm 143, Jones Bldg. Coffee and cookies at 12:15.

1 p.m.

Network for Continuing Medical Education (NCME). Program on "The Effective Diagnostic Imaging: A Clinical Workshop." View in Rm M406 at Duke and Rms D3008, C6002 and C7002 and Bldg 16 at the VA Hospital.

Monday, May 8

1 p.m.

Pathology Research Conference. Dr. George Michalopoulos, "Studies in Hepatocarcinogenesis Using Cultures of Hepatocytes," Rm M204.

Tuesday, May 9

12:30 p.m.

Joint seminar sponsored by cellular and molecular biology program and biochemistry department. Dr. Ronald Davis, Stanford University, "Mapping and Expression of Yeast Genes Using Cloned DNA Sequences," Rm 147, Nanaline H. Duke Bldg. Coffee at 12:15 in the lobby.

4 p.m.

Pharmacology Seminar. Dr. Stephen Butler, "Psychoendocrine Regulation of Polyamine Metabolism," Rm 408 Nanaline H. Duke Bldg. Coffee at 3:45.

Wednesday, May 10

1 p.m.

NCME. See Fri., May 5, for program and viewing areas.

2 p.m.

Special MedCom showing. "Focus on Bone Scarring: A Clinical Approach." view in Rm M406.
