Unimagined America

Just look around you people and what do you see?

Why this great land of ours that is now free.

It is no longer a dream, But a land founded for all to see.

A land of beauty, a land of grace,

Not for just one man But for all human race.

Our country was once a peaceful land,

Not for just one man, But for every man.

We had love one for the other,

But now hate eats away this love,

This beautiful love for our brother.

Our land goes down day by day,

Because we have forgotten love in every way.

O PEOPLE My heart goes out to you,

But what can one person do.

We must all work together.

O PEOPLE forget this awful hate,

Forget it before it is too late.

Too late for our country, Which still remains beautiful and so free.

Dizzy Gillespie Here

The highly renowned trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie paid a visit to our campus and played upon his specially designed trumpet, December 3.

He was accompanied by a drummer and bass player, and when they played their jazz you knew they knew their music.

Loomer and Indian Expert Speak

Percis Grayson, President of the Weavers Guild of America gave the SCC Humanities class a demonstration of weaving and the use of the loom, December 9.

Lew Barton, Lumbee Indian expert explained some of the history and heritage of the Lumbee Indian tribe, December 10.

"Ho, Ho, Ho."
Ho, Ho, says Lew
