SOUTHEASTERN COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Harold McDaniels:

Preparing For The Future

Improved services will be available for Southeastern students and faculty in the future thanks to the office of Research and Evaluation and its director, Walter A. McDaniels.

Since his arrival here in September, Mr. McDaniels has been very busy evaluating the needs of our growing college. "Surveys are one of the major responsibilities of my office," Mr. McDaniels said. In the past months McDaniels and his staff have reviewed the veterans financial aid program, the Learning Resources Center, and several other college services.

Mr. McDaniels comes to us from Swannanoa, N.C., where he worked with the State Department of Corrections. He has held other research positions with the cities of Baltimore and Philadelphia. McDaniels feels that his experience as a teacher in the Philadelphia school system will help him in understanding the problems facing students.

One of the immediate goals of his office is to eliminate the long lines during registration. Another project is the development of a "Data Base" to make compiled records and information more available. Much of Mr. McDaniels' job involves work with our computer, and he feels data processing will take an increasingly larger role in the school's administration and curricula.

Mr. McDaniels is presently working toward a doctorate from N.C. State. He now holds a bachelor of arts degree from Cheyney State in Pennsylvania and a master's from Lehigh.

Among his other diversions, Harold has formed a chess club and is currently regarded as one of the campus' leading chess hustlers.

Miss Music Of The Border Belt

The 1975 Miss Music of the Border Belt Pageant was held here in the S.C.C. auditorium Saturday December 6, 1975. The Miss Music title for 75-76 was awarded to Miss Antoinette Gibbs of Fair Bluff. Two of the contestants, Carolyn Graham and Arlene Evans, attend S.C.C.

In the pageant the girls demonstrated their talents, which in some instances were amusing and in others showed much originality. Also there was streetwear competition, swimsuit, and evening wear competition. The girls were also judged on their self - inroductions, poise, and dress. All the girls were lovely which presented a difficult task for judges. Julie Stocks, Martha Young, Brenda Ebron, and Lloyd Inman, Jr. were the judges.

The theme was "From Now Till Eternity" for which a poem was written by an S.C.C. student Miss Sue Graham. Miss Emily Adams, an artist in residence at S.C.C., provided the special entertainment. Mr. Frank Suggs, another student at S.C.C., was the Master of Ceremonies.

INTRAMURALS

"The key to success in intramural sports at S.C.C. depends on the involvement of students, forfeit of time, and faculty participation," stated Barry Nation, English instructor.

Nation, who has been involved intramurals this year, said there have been intramural sports before, but the lack of participation has caused the attempts to be lacking in success.

Volleyball tournaments will be held during the winter quarter for any students desiring to compete.

Any students interested in competing the winter intramurals are asked to contact Barry Nation or Bob Young.
