

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Mr. J. S. Lincoln spent Friday in Greensboro.

Miss Blondie Kernodle spent Sunday at her home at Ossipee.

Mrs. Rhodes, from Harrisonburg, Va., is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Moffitt.

Dr. G. S. Watson left Friday for a visit to his daughter, Miss Ellen, at Tryon, N. C.

Misses Ora Smith and Nellie Lassiter have gone home, Clayton, N. C., for a few days' visit.

Mrs. T. C. Amick returned Saturday from Liberty where she had been visiting her father, Mr. Ward.

Miss Pattie Preston returned Saturday from her home at Belew's Creek, where she had been visiting.

Dr. J. U. Newman gave a splendid discourse at the 11 o'clock service Sunday on "The Kingdom of Heaven."

The Y. W. C. A. had its regular meeting Sunday afternoon, leader, Affie Griffin; subject, "Suffering and Service."

The play "Valley Farm," which was given here Saturday evening, showed real ability in the Department of Expression, and was well patronized.

Mr. G. S. Wellborne, of the University of North Carolina, spent Friday night here. From his frequent visits here he seems to be in love with Elon.

Miss Lois Davidson's friends will be glad to learn she stood her operation in St. Leo's Hospital all right and is getting on nicely. She expects to be back in College before long.

In the Philologian Society Friday evening Mr. R. A. Truitt was the best speaker oratorically. Debate, query: Resolved, "That poverty causes more crimes than riches." Best speaker on the negative, A. T. Banks; best speaker on the affirmative, J. S. Truitt.

In the Christian Endeavor Society Sunday evening was the monthly consecration meeting. B. J. Earpe was leader; subject, "Christ our Guide." The meeting seemed to be a real consecration service. A vocal solo by W. W. Elder added much to the meeting.

In the Clio Society Friday evening J. A. Dickey was the best speaker oratorically. Debate, query: Resolved, "That the present criticism of President Taft's administration is justifiable." Won by the affirmative. Best speaker on the affirmative, J. W. Barney; best speaker on the negative, R. A. Campbell.

The baseball club played a practice game on the home grounds Monday afternoon, the 7th, with the team from Whitsett Institute. The effort to make athletics purely a sport rather than professionalism has some show here. The game was pluckily played throughout, and the score was 9 to 3 in favor of Elon.

The following attended the play, "Valley Farm" Saturday evening and remained over Sunday with friends: Mrs. P. H. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Fonville, Misses Mamie Fonville, Pearl Walker, Annie Holt, Sallie Foster, of Burlington; Dr. Satterfield, Mr. Algenon Warren, of Durham; Mr. W. M. Satterfield, of Mebane.

In the Pspihelian Society Friday evening there was an interesting program on "prose fiction." Those who deserved special mention were Miss Ruby Satterfield, who gave the story of "Beverly of Graustark;" Miss Maggie Iseley, "The Strange Case of Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Miss Virgie Beale told the story of "Kenilworth."

Affie Griffin.
