

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Dr. Moffitt left Thursday for Liberty and Sanford.

Misses Sallie Foster and Iris Holt were visitors here Sunday.

Prof. John T. Cobb left Saturday to visit his mother at McCleensburg.

Dr. and Mrs. Randolph spent last week at their home near Charlotte.

In Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening Mr. H. E. Truitt led, subject "Faithfulness."

Mr. M. W. McPherson spent Saturday and Sunday with his brother in Haw River.

Prof. T. C. Amick, Mrs. Amick and Miss Hattie Ashburn were in Burlington Friday shopping.

Prof. W. C. Wicker preached at the 11 o'clock service Sunday to a large and appreciative audience.

Misses Ruth Jones and Blon lie Kernodle spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Burke in Burlington.

Rev. J. W. Patton was at home a few days last week. He is on an extensive Masonic lecturing tour.

In Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon Miss Nannie E. Farmer was the leader, subject, "A Well Rounded Life."

Miss Lillian Aldridge, of Union Ridge, went home last Friday accompanied by Prof. W. P. Lawrence and family.

The Psiphelian Society will give its annual entertainment in the College Auditorium next Friday evening, March 26. Everybody is invited.

In the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening Mr. W. L. Wells was the leader, subject, "Money a Curse or a Blessing." The meeting was very interesting.

Mr. R. P. Coble, Class of '09, spent last Tuesday here on his way to Oxford, where he has accepted a position with the Government Geological Survey as Civil Engineer.

The following spent Saturday and Sunday at their homes in Burlington: Misses Sadie Fonville, Pearl Fogleman, Messrs. Vitus Holt, Claude Fonville, Sipe and Henry Fleming.

Several of the young men attended the game of baseball in Burlington Saturday afternoon between Oak Ridge and Bingham School. The score was seven to one in favor of Oak Ridge.

Mr. J. R. Pointer, of Semora, N. C., was away on a visit Sunday to relatives near Liberty. Affie Giffin.

Wing and Wing.

"Wing and Wing" is one of Cooper's sea stories. It seems to have been written while he was on the rocky bluff above the town of Porto Ferrajo, in the Island of Elba, a spot that has since become so renowned as the capital of the mimic dominion of Napoleon.

Mr. Cooper pictures to us the people of the Elba (rather a few of them) standing on the shore; they see an approaching lugger. He tells us of two prominent persons, Tonti, the oldest mariner of Elba to whom the people looked for advice, and Ghita, a very attractive and popular young girl. They watch the lugger, but are unable to tell for a while what it is and who the captain is. The ship finally comes to shore, and it is found to be a lugger from England. Night comes on, and the captain of the lugger is invited to spend the night with Vito Viti, who carries his guest to see the deputy garrison. There followed a long conversation, carried on by the governor and the captain. The captain is questioned about his country, its government and religion. The conversation closes, and by chance the stranger walking around, meets Miss Ghita, who warns him of the danger such strangers, as he, is in.

The next morning another vessel is seen approaching, which proves to be the English La Proserpine.

Cooper further tells of the glories of the Mediterranean Sea, the conversations of sailors with foreigners, the great sea battles in which ships are sunk, and lastly of the death of Raoul Yvard, the lover of Ghita; and how she watched over him, as he lay dying on a large rock, and did what she could to make his last moments on earth happy, and his after life one of eternal joy.

J. F. Morgan.

[This narrative, like the one concerning "The Last of the Mohican," was written on part of the parallel work in English for the Freshman year, and was not intended for publication.—Ed.]

An old farmer on being told that a new railroad was going to run right through where his barn stood, exclaimed: "Now, by gum! I guess I'll have something to say about that. I've got enough to do without opening and shutting them barn doors every time a train come along."

TIE SALE

Every ONE bringing this Coupon this week will receive a 25c. TIE for 15c.

SAUNDERS

DR. J. S. FROST
DENTIST

Teeth extracted or filled by most painless and approved method. Office over Sellars' Dry Goods Store.

BURLINGTON, N. C.

R. M. MORROW, Surgeon Dentist

MORROW BUILDING,

Cor. Front & Main Streets,

BURLINGTON, N. C.

FOR PHOTOGRAPHS OF QUALITY

Have them Made at

ANGLIN'S

BURLINGTON, N. C.

ALAMANCE INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE CO.

INSURANCE, LOANS, REAL ESTATE

CASH CAPITAL, $30,000.00

MONEY LENT through this Company on real estate is secured both by mortgage and Company's guarantee. The lender receives 6 per cent. interest—3 per cent. promptly every six months—and is not bothered about interest collections.

BURLINGTON, N. C.

W. K. HOLT, PRESIDENT.
R. M. MORROW, VICE-PRESIDENT.
W. E. SHARPE, TREAS. AND MGR.

When in Need of

FURNITURE Or Anything in the Housefurnishing Line

It will pay you to see what we have and get prices before buying.

M. B. SMITH, The Furniture Store,
BURLINGTON, N. C.

1890

1910

ELON COLLEGE

A young, vigorous College for both men and women. On Southern Railway, sixty-five miles west of Raleigh, the State capital, and seventeen miles east of the thriving city of Greensboro.

The Location is Delightful; Water Pure; Climate Healthful.

Plant valued at $150,000, is modern in comfort and convenience. Steam heat, electric lights, water and sewerage connections with all buildings. Courses Lead to A. B., Ph. B. and A. M. Degrees.

Teachers' Course of 8 weeks opens April 5, 1910. No tuition charges. Course approved by State and County Superintendents of Public Instruction.

EMMET L. MOFFITT, A. M., LL. D., President.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS

High-Class Dry Goods

AND

Gents' Clothiers and Tailoring Merchants

Main Street - - BURLINGTON, N. C.

Flower and Garden Seeds

FOR SPRING PLANTING

FREEMAN DRUG COMPANY

BURLINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA