

Lenoir-Rhyne Will Be Next Home Football Foe

WAA Plans For Sports And Socials

The Women's Athletic Association, at its last regular meeting held on Monday, October 30th, made plans to invite the girls' hockey team of the University of North Carolina to visit Elon and play the Maroon and Gold stick-wielders on an early December date.

Practice is continuing in hockey for both the freshman gym classes and for the members of the upper-class Hockey Club, and plans are rapidly taking shape for the annual meeting of the freshman and upperclass teams soon after Thanksgiving holidays.

Plans were also discussed for the sale of football programs at the remaining games of the season, and it was voted that the WAA should hold its next social gathering in the form of a Christmas party.

Jeanne Pittman and Aleane Gentry were elected as official delegates to represent the Elon WAA at the state convention of the Women's Federation of College Athletics, which is to be held at Duke University on Saturday, November 18th.

Two Teams Are Knotted In Tag Loop

As the final week of Elon's tag-football season got underway, the Oak Lodge-Carlton House and the I.T.K.-Vet's Apartment outfits were deadlocked for the leadership of the loop, each with a record of three wins and no losses.

However, one of the Oak Lodge-Carlton House wins was under protest from the South-Sigma Phi combination, and the matter was under consideration of the Intramural Council. The protest was to be decided at a meeting yesterday, but the results had not been announced at press time.

The play-off battle between the winners of the first and second half schedules is planned for Thursday afternoon of this week, but there is still a possibility that Oak Lodge-Carlton House, which won the first half, may clinch both halves and render a play-off unnecessary.

ELON GETS FIRST SCORE AGAINST HIGH POINT

Maroon And Gold Eleven Trounces High Point's Panthers By 41 To 0

By JOE SPIVEY

The Fighting Christians lived up to all advance press notices in Albion Millis Stadium at High Point last Thursday night, when they trampled a hapless Panther eleven 41 to 0. The stunning North State Conference win placed High Point in the doormat position in the league and zoomed the Christians into a tie with Appalachian for first place.

The score was not the main topic of talk, however, for the second-to-none running of Elon stellar tailback pair, R. K. Grayson and Lou Rochelli. It was "all the way, R. K.," as he reeled off dazzling touchdown sprints of 40 and 34 yards and added a third score on a 1-yard end run. Then it was "through the Panther crew" for Lou, as he twisted 49 yards for one touchdown and circled end from the two for another.

Not entirely overshadowed by these two were Pete Marshburn, who dived over for the first score, Frank Tingley, Fred Biangardi, Gary Farmer and Joe Parker, all ripping off long gains; and defensive honors went to Hank DeSimone, Sal Gero, Bob Marshall, Jim Snow, Bob Reece, Ernie Gero and Bill Renn. High Point's honor men were Lloyd, Bovender and Kimball.

Elon dominated the whole contest, scoring four times in the first half and twice in the final half. The Mallory-men rolled to 401 yards net on the ground and 106 via the aerial route, while the Christian defense held High Point to 116 yards running and 41 yards through the ozone. Elon was not once forced to punt.

The Crushing Christians had the Panthers by the tail from the start. High Point lost ground on her first two plays after the kickoff, and Gordon's kick, almost blocked by Nester, was out of bounds on the Purple and White twenty-six. Grayson weaved through for eleven, Tingley added the same, and two plays later

Tingley and Marshburn moved to the thirty-four, and R. K. went "all the way" from there for the first of his three touchdowns. The extra point made it 13 to 0.

Penalties failed to stop Elon on her next march, which featured a 40-yard aerial heave from Grayson to Bob Lewis on the Panther twenty-five. The first quarter ended, but the scoring didn't. Brigman, Marshburn and Grayson lugged to the one, and Grayson circled end to tally. Gero kicked to total up 20 to 0.

Lou Rochelli ran "hog-wild" for the next Christian touchdown. The Panthers had kicked to Elon's fifteen, and Tingley, Rochelli and Biangardi ate up the yards as they tore down to the High Point forty-nine. From there Rochelli wove his way behind beautiful blocking for a touchdown, bringing the crowd to its feet with the beauty of his jaunt. Jack Christy cut down the last man barring the scoring path, and Gero's kick was good again. It was 27-0 at half-time.

Elon failed to get up steam with the second-half kick-off, and High Point took over on the Elon forty-five. The Panthers had to punt, however, and Grayson returned to his own twenty-six. The Christians were on the way again! Marshburn completed a jump pass to Lewis to the High Point forty-two, and, after a penalty, Rochelli tossed another to big Bob on the forty. From there Grayson was off to the races again, picking up lovely interference as he zoomed 40 yards for his third TD of the evening. Gero kicked again, and it was Elon 34 and High Point still working on their zero.

The fourth quarter capped the performance, with Joe Parker racing 39 yards on a wingback reverse to the High Point one. Rochelli was off-tackle for the touchdown, and Big Sal Gero kicked his fifth point of the night to write "finis" to the scoring at Elon 41, High Point 0. There were other thrills, such as Gary Farmer's 43-yard run at right end, but there was no more scoring.

High Point threatened twice, once late in the first half when Bill Lloyd paced a drive to Elon's nine, where the Christian defenders held. Again in the final period Lloyd paced a drive down field, with the Elon defense rising up when the danger point was reached.

Elon To Seek Revenge For Defeat Last Year

MARSHBURN LEADS FOOTBALL SCORING

Eight of Elon's football stars have had a share in the scoring in the first eight games of the season, which have shown the Christians rolling to 187 points against 106 points for all opposition. They are running behind last year's blistering pace, which showed them with 254 points against 53 in the first eight games. However, the opposition has been tougher this season.

Pete Marshburn is leading the way with 48 points, with R. K. Grayson as runner-up with 36 markers. Sal Gero follows with 25 points, while Lou Rochelli and Fred Biangardi boast 24 counters apiece. Bob Lewis has contributed 18 points, and Frank Tingley and Archie Brigman have each scored 6 markers.

Hunger and thirst will be driving motives behind the Fighting Christians when they tackle the burly Bears of Lenoir-Rhyne in Burlington Stadium on Saturday night — hunger for revenge against the Bears for last year's "upset" defeat and thirst for titular honors in the North State Conference.

This game with Lenoir-Rhyne marks the renewal of one of the oldest and most successful gridiron rivalries in Elon history, for the Christians and Bears have met twenty-one times since 1921, and the records show that Elon has won fourteen of the contests while losing seven. It is a sore spot, however, that the Maroon and Gold forces have not won a game from Lenoir-Rhyne since World War II.

Elon won the first six games in the series, rolling to victory 39 to 0 in 1921, winning 48 to 6 in 1926, taking a thriller 7 to 6 in 1927, rolling again 26 to 6 in 1928, triumphing 13 to 7 in 1929 and adding a 20 to 7 victory in 1930. Lenoir-Rhyne broke the string with victories in 1931 and 1932. The score in 1931 is not on record here, but the Bears won that year and added a 12 to 7 victory the next season.

The Christians came back strong and copped six more wins in a row, winning 7 to 0 in 1933, 13 to 6 in 1934, 20 to 0 in 1935, 38 to 0 in 1936, 27 to 6 in 1937 and 14 to 6 in 1938. Lenoir-Rhyne copped again in 1939 by a 10 to 0 margin, but Elon won 8 to 6 in 1940 and 13 to 0 in 1941. Since World War II the Bears have won 14 to 13 in 1946, 13 to 0 in 1947, 13 to 0 in 1948 and 19 to 7 last year.

Spying On Sports

by JOE SPIVEY

The Fighting Christians continue to roll! Including High Point encounter, with eight games of the ten-game season under their belts, they had moved the pigskin almost a mile and three quarters on the ground and in the air, with a total of 2,948 yards from scrimmage. The powerful rushing attack had netted 1,922 yards of that total, while 1,026 yards has come on pass receptions. If we add in Elon's 869 yards on kick returns, we find that Elon's backs have lugged the ball well over two miles this year.

While I'm on the subject of pass receptions, I think it would be appropriate to mention that Bob Lewis has snagged 24 of Elon's 62 completed passes credited to the Christians, and the lanky end has thus accounted for a cool 502 yards. The big boy from Wilmington is All-Conference material if anyone is. While Elon is considered primarily as a ground-gaining aggregation, the Maroon and Gold crew is full 28 yards ahead of all opponents in passing, and that is after playing East Carolina too! With 978 yards gained on passing against Elon, Thrift and Company surged out to pick up 324 yards of it for East Carolina.

The Catawba Indians really like to live up to their nickname, for they have a gen-u-wine Indian on the team, who plays a bang-up game at right end. His name is Joe Oxendine, and he hails from Pembroke, down in Croatan land.

Archie Brigman is the original hard-luck man on the gridiron. Arch shook loose for a 70-yard touchdown jaunt against A.C.C., only to have it called back on account of a rules infraction. Against Catawba Archie took a pass and scooted across the double markers for another tally, and you can guess what happened. It was called back.

Up at the Western, Carolina game, Sal Gero kicked an extra point, but Elon was penalized 15 yards for holding. Sal moved back, and Bob Lewis was the glue-fingered end who was sent in to take a Gero pass on the next try. Well, Sal passed, but it was intercepted. Gero grumbled, "They knew it would be a pass when Lewis was sent in." Jack Annas only laughed, saying, "It wasn't that . . . They just knew you were the only triple-threat tackle in the Conference!" Ain't it the truth? Sal has run the ball for a touchdown, has kicked all those extra points, and now he's passing. In between all these chores, he plays some hunky-dory offensive and defensive football. As far as I know, Gero is the highest scoring tackle in the Conference. Anybody who wants to know our nomination for Little All-American can instantly get the reply. "It's big Sal Gero."

Al Ludwig, first string guard, has a new nickname. Just call him "Tangerine." If you want to know the reason, just look at that painted nose.

Ersel G. Molestin has resumed his sporadic correspondence, and this time the letter was not edged in black, as it was after that disastrous weekend of October 14th. The crystal ball has been thoroughly cleaned, and the predictions are coming through nicely.

For the weekend of October 28th Ersel hit four out of five and retrieved his Egyptian sling-shot from the pawnshop. The only miss was the Catawba upset of V.M.I. Here are the latest guesses: Oops! . . . I mean predictions:

For the weekend of November

SPYING ON SPORTS
11th . . . EMORY and HENRY over Western Carolina . . . APPALACHIAN over A.C.C. . . . EAST CAROLINA over High Point . . . CATAWBA over Guilford . . . and ELON over Lenoir-Rhyne (sweet revenge).

For the weekend of November 18th . . . EAST CAROLINA over Atlantic Christian . . . CARSON-NEWMAN over Western Carolina . . . WOFFORD over High Point. See you at the Lenoir-Rhyne game!

Pro Cagers Down Elon; J-V's Win

The Grand Rapids Hornets, touring big league pros, chalked up a 70 to 59 decision over the Elon Christians here on Tuesday night, October 31st, taking advantage of experience and superior height to pull out ahead of Coach Doc Mathis' silver-jerseyed boys. The Elon Jay-Vees won a thrilling prelim from Burlington High by a 46 to 44 margin.

Big Don Halthcox, Elon's All-Conference center, got hot in the final half and topped the scoring for the game with 22 points, while George Glamack and Elmore Morgenthaler, towering All-Americans, rung 17 each for the pros. Dave Mondy and Ned Gauldin were runner-up scorers for Elon.

The line-ups:
Pos.—Elon (59) Hornets (70)
F.—L. Gaither (9) . . . Towery (6)
F.—Hamrick (9) . . . Brookfield (6)
C.—Halthcox (22) . . . Glamack (17)
G.—Mondy (13) . . . Doyle (4)
