

Legislature In Year's First Meet

The Student Legislature, holding its first meeting of the 1955-56 college year on September 28th, appropriated funds to finance the annual "Homecoming Ball" and considered resolutions and motions pertaining to the deliberations of the legislature itself. The group also passed a bill, which authorized the design of a seal for the Student Government.

The complete minutes for the meeting, submitted by the officers of the Legislature, are reprinted below:

Curtis Young introduced a recommendation asking for $400 for the dance committee to use in giving the homecoming dance. He moved that the dance committee be given $400 to be used for the dance and that a complete statement of their expenditures be made and given to the legislature and that all money not spent be returned to the treasurer of the Student Body. This motion was carried unanimously.

William Stanfield introduced a bill which resolved that there shall be a permanent committee on Constitutional Amendments to study and propose amendments to the Constitution. This bill was enacted.

James Biggerstaff then introduced a resolution to appoint an Engraving Clerk who will have responsibility of typing five copies of the edited minutes and such copies of all bills as may be requested. This resolution passed also.

Terry Emerson submitted a bill that a committee be appointed to design a seal for the Student Government and that this committee recommend to this assembly a design for the seal and the manner in which it shall be used. This bill passed.

John Biggerstaff introduced a bill to appoint a Chaplain to the Legislature who shall open sessions with prayer. This was enacted unanimously. The speaker appointed Curtis Medlin as Chaplain.

The question asked at the last meeting by William Stanfield as to what would happen if a motion were made by a person who is not a member of the Legislature was Terry Emerson, who read from Roberts' "Rules of Order" that such a motion would conflict with the Constitution by-laws or standing rules of the Assembly and if such a motion is adopted it is null and void.

NEWBERRY GAME

This is practically the same combination which gained better than 400 yards rushing against Elon here two years ago, and Coaches Sid Varney and Doc Mathis have been concentrating this week on plans to halt these speedy backs. At the same time, the Christian coaches hope to get Elon's own attack to clicking for the first time this season against the Palmetto

ELON BAND MAKES FINE SHOWING IN FIRST APPEARANCE OF YEAR

Making its first appearance of the new college year, the Elon College Band drew much favorable comment for its fine work at the annual Elon-Appalachian football game in Burlington on Saturday night, October 1st. The band displayed excellent marching form, despite the fact that it had had only a few practice sessions under the direction of Prof. Dewey M. Stowers, who took over the band program this fall. The picture above was caught as the band faced the Elon stands during the half-time intermission. Leading the group, with back to the camera, is Drum Major Carl Burke. The majorettes, left to right, are Lucille Edwards, Nancy Williamson (mostly hidden by the drum major), Ann Dula, Becky Murdock and June Driver. Mary Ann Harris, the sixth majorette, was not on the field at the time of the picture, since she was assigned a special role in one of the half-time maneuvers.

B.X.E. Names New Officers

Lucille Edwards, of Franklin, Va., is the new president of the Beta Chi Epsilon Sorority, which is composed of students enrolled in the business education and commercial department and who are interested in careers in the business world.

She was elected at the initial meeting of the group for this year, which was held on Thursday, September 29th. Other officers elected at the same meeting included Betty DeLancey, of Reidsville, vice-president; Sadie Dickerson, of Durham, secretary; Myrna Hockaday, of Burlington, assistant secretary; Al Hassell, of Durham, treasurer; Marjorie Englebright, of Gibsonville, assistant treasurer; Bess Carson, of Greensboro, sergeant-at-arms; and Carol Lynn, of Durham, reporter.

The sorority, which has Prof. Fox as faculty advisor, plans to hold weekly meetings throughout the college year and will have guest speakers representing the business world to speak at their meetings and dinners. The group will also have special entertainment projects for its members at intervals, the first being a planned trip to the State Fair in Raleigh this month.

PLAYER SHOW

presentation will provide an opportunity for everyone to see the show.

The hard work done thus far has not been confined to the actors themselves, for the publicity committee has been busy preparing posters, and the stage crew, directed by Bill Walker as stage manager, has been making and painting new flats.

The Players hold regular meetings each Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock, at which time they meet with their advisor to discuss progress of the current play and plan future projects. There is much interest this fall in the proposal that the Elon Player shows be carried "on the road" for showing at high schools in the area.

Applications Are Being Taken For Marine Officer Program

The Marine Corps Officer Procurement authorities, in a special dispatch to the Maroon and Gold, has announced that applications are now being accepted from students who desire to earn a commission in the Marine Corps while completing college.

Members of the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes, other than those taking pre-medical, pre-dental, theology, pharmacy or music are now being selected for the Platoon Leaders Class. All training for this class is conducted during two six-weeks summer classes.

Candidates receive $160 as pay for the first class and $200 as pay for the second class, along with uniforms, food and travel allowances. Members of these classes are deferred from induction, and commissions are granted upon graduation from college.

There is also an Officer Candidate Course and an Aviation Officer Course, for which seniors and college graduates may apply, with commissions going to those who complete a ten-weeks training class after graduation. Aviation officer candidates are assigned to flight school after being commissioned.

Any students interested should see or write Captain F. R. Hittinger, Jr., Officer Procurement Officer, Room 537, Peachtree-Seventh Building, N.E., Atlanta.

EAST CAROLINA

The second quarter was a different story, with East Carolina driving to the Elon 26-yard line in its early moments and then staging a sustained drive that carried 70 yards for a touchdown late in the period. This drive started after Joe DelGais kicked out of bounds on the East Carolina thirty, with Emo Broado pacing the Pirate attack for four first-and-tens to the Elon twenty-one. Milton Collier passed from there to Bob Perry, who went over for the score. Collier kicked good for a 7-0 half-time lead.

The third quarter saw the rivals battle on even terms, with each team chalking three first downs and with each penetrating deep into enemy territory one time. The Elon threat ended at the Pirate thirty-five, while the East Carolina drive collapsed with a lost fumble at the Christian fifteen.

The second and final Pirate TD came after five minutes of the fourth quarter. Bob Perry started the East Carolina outfit on its way when he intercepted an Elon pass at the Pirate 42-yard marker and returned five yards. Perry then alternated with Emo Boado in carrying for three first downs, the last one on the Elon two. Perry hammered across for his second TD of the night, but Collier's kick failed and left the final count 13 to 0.

At this juncture in the game the Elon reserves took the field and seemed to inject new life into the Christian attack, with Bobby Joe Moser directing the youngsters for three first downs before a fumble and a kicked ball set them back. East Carolina fumbled right back, and the game ended with Elon in possession deep in her own territory.

Outstanding in the winning Pirate attack were Milton Collier, Emo Boado and Bob Perry, while Whitney Bradham played brilliantly for Elon's losing cause.

penalty called the play back and gave Elon a first-and-ten. The Mountaineers would not be denied, however, and moments later after Elon fumbled on an attempted punt the Apps took over on the Christian twenty-nine and drove for the final score. Jim Kiser hammered over from the three for the TD that made it 9 to 0.

The rest of the game featured the play of the Elon reserves, who played defense with an eager spirit but proved just as unable to move the ball as had their varsity mates. The game ended with Appalachian in possession on the Elon thirty-five.

Naming stars for Elon appears almost impossible, although Sonny Martin and Homer Hobgood had bright moments backing the line. Whitney Bradham and Kerry Richards carried most of the offensive burden, with Richards' best play a 42-yard return of an Ollis punt.

WALKING THE CHALK-LINES

And to the team itself, you boys can come nearer than anyone else to spotting just what the trouble is, and you may be the only ones who can mend the fault. We as students are not telling you that you have got to win for us to have and show school spirit. No, not that! We only ask you to at least give us a team that plays 60 minutes of good, hard football, and we'll still be with you all the way.

They say that school spirit is best tested when a team is losing, and maybe that is true, but it is certainly far more pleasant and much easier on the spirit to have a winning team. We believe we can still have just that.

Elon's "Athlete of the Week" for this week is quite definitely and surely Whitney Bradham, who put on an almost one-man show last Saturday against East Carolina. He ran the ball with such bull-force play after play that it appeared for a time that he might pull the game from the fire single-handed. However, no back can run every play and be expected to last, not even a back as good as Whitney. Others deserving credit with Whit are Joe DelGais, Harry Faust and B. J. Moser, a trio of freshman backs, and I'd like to pass a bouquet to Sonny Martin, who has looked good all season and is one of the most dependable reserves on the team.

DR. BROWN NAMED

Dr. William M. Brown, member of the Elon College faculty for the past eight years, was recently re-elected grand secretary of the Sigma Mu Sigma National Fraternity and was presented a plaque for meritorious service to the organization. Sigma Mu Sigma, which has for several years had a chapter on the Elon Campus, is governed by Masonic principles.

Dean Danieley Doing Work In Research

Dr. J. E. Danieley, dean of students here at Elon since 1953 and a member of the faculty of the chemistry department since 1946, is doing research this year in the field of cyclobutane compounds, working under a special grant of $2,100 made to the college earlier this year by The Research Corporation.

The sum is one of the Frederick Gardener Cottrell grants, which were designed to stimulate academic research and especially to assist smaller colleges of the nation in their research programs.

In announcing the grant, which came through during the early summer, President Leon E. Smith stated that "the Cottrell grant comes as a recognition of the outstanding record and thorough instruction of the Elon College chemistry department, which recently added the B.S. Degree in the chemistry curriculum, a program which requires original research by each degree candidate.

This grant provides encouragement and real assistance in the program, and Elon is deeply grateful to The Research Corporation."

Dean Danieley, in whose behalf the grant was made, is a native of Alamance County, where he received his early education. He graduated from Elon College in 1946 and received the Ph.D. degree from the University of North Carolina, where he did his research in the field of cyclobutane chemistry under the direction of Dr. Arthur Roe.

LIBRARY NOTES

The Library notes for this year are addressed primarily to the students. It is the purpose of the library to acquire new books of interest to persons of all last and needs and to keep them coming continuously throughout the school year.

In order for these books to be seen and examined as soon as they are processed, they will be placed on shelves across from the charging desk, where they will remain for at least two weeks before they are placed in the stacks.

Many new titles may now be found on these shelves, and they may be charged out for two weeks the same as any other book. If anyone finds one he would like to borrow, he should take it to the charging desk, and the desk attendant will make the necessary records.

Each succeeding library note will announce the arrival of a few new books, and it is the sincere hope of the library staff that every student may find at least a few books that afford both benefit and pleasure.

VIENNA

year it was my privilege to see people extremely happy because they were alive. They were happy with so little.

We in America have so much to be thankful for that never crosses our minds. We live in a land of opportunity that has never known foreign occupation, and we should continue to develop our civilization through better education, learning to live with ourselves and with our fellow men. Many foreign hopes, hopes for the present generation and for the generations of the future are in the leadership of the American people. In such lie the dreams of Vienna.
