Elon To Have Full Program Of Minor Sports For Spring

SENIOR DIAMOND ACES ANCHOR CHRISTIANS' INNER DEFENSE

Two senior veterans and two of the cleverest infield aces in the North State Conference will anchor the Elon inner defense this spring as the Christians bid for the 'Conference baseball crown The two senior aces are Alton Myers (left) of Lexington, third baseman who won All-Conference honors as a utility infielder last spring; and Nick Thompson (above), of Burlington, who has been All-Conference and All-State at shortstop for three seasons.

Tennis Team Has Fourteen Dual Meets

The Elon tennis squad, which of recent years during the 1956 campaign, is slated for fourteen dual meets and will climax its season by entering the annual North State Conference tournament to be played on the Elon the powerful Guilford Quakers courts early in May

Coach Scott Boyd has four lettermen back in togs to serve as a nucleus for his racket-wielders this spring. The letter veterans back in action include Ray Whitley. of Winston-Salem; Hugh Citty, of Reidsville; Leslie Johnston, of Holland, Va.; and Ben Barr, of Taftville, Conn.

In addition to these letter veterans, Coach Boyd also expects Ben Kendall, senior basketball star from Kokomo, Ind., to add Golfers Have strength to the Christian net out fit this spring The tennis schedule follows.

Elon Golf Squad Gets Fine Start

The Christian golf squad is off to a flying start in its bid for North State Conference honors, with smashing victories over Guilford and Catawba in the first two Conference tests of the new 1956 season

The Christians turned back here on Monday, March 13th, by a 12 1-2 to 5 1-2 margin. with Bobby Loy shooting a 72 in the wind and rain to grab medalist honors. Ten days later on Friday, March 23rd, the Elon linksmen downed Catawba 17 to 1. Once more Loy was the medalist, shooting a three-under-par 68 over the Alamance Country Club course.

Rugged Card

The Elon golfers, who gained the runner-up honors in the North State Conference last spring, have last year's strong Elon team to already gotten off to a winning start on a rugged 1956 schedule which includes 14 dual meets and which includes 14 dual meets and the annual Conference Tournament, which is to be played over the Starmount Country Club course in Greenshorn course in Greensboro.

gained a place in the athletic spotlight by winning three of four meets and copping the North State Conference championship last season, will really come into its own this spring with a schedule that calls for eight meets.

Not in many years have the Christian cindermen had such an opportunity to show their talent, and Coach Sid Varney already has the thinclads out running and jumping in preparation for a season card that includes seven dual meets and the annual North State Conference event.

Six of the seven dual meets are slated to be run on the home cinders down in Burlington Memorial Stadium. In addition to home meets with Conference rivals from Guilford, High Point, Lenoir Rhyne and Atlantic Christian, the Elon runners and field men will also face the powerful Virginia squads from Roanoke and Lynchburg. The lone meet away from home is with Atlantic Christian
