

Carcatera Still Leads Cage Scoring

Big Tony Carcatera, Elon's only three-sport athlete, who has already won All-Conference and All-State honors in football and baseball, posted a strong bid for Conference honors in basketball as he led the Christian cagers in scoring with 267 points for the full 22-game regular season.

Carcatera also had the top floor-shooting average with 44.3 per cent on 97 of 219 attempts, top free throw average of 68.9 per cent on 73 of 106, the most field goals, the most free throws and pulled down the most rebounds. In fact, his 308 rebounds, for an average of 14 per game, was tops in the entire Conference.

Only bracket in which the big Long Island boy failed to lead the parade was in average points per game, a field in which Eddie Burke was the leader with 254 in 19 games for an average of 13.4 points per game. Carcatera averaged 12.7 points per game.

The individual scoring marks at the 22-game regular schedule came to an end included the following:

Greek Letter Group History

Others in 1924

Two additional groups, one for boys and the other for girls, published their first groups of members in the 1924 issue of the Phi Psi Cli. One of these was the Iota Tau Kappa group, with an initial list that included G. A. "Chubby" Kirkland, for many years director of athletics at Catawba College; W. J. Apple, W. C. Elder, W. W. Woody, G. L. Miller, E. P. McLeod, E. E. Spotherly, C. E. Sides, F. J. Alston, J. P. Rogers, E. H. Gilliam, J. R. Barker and R. L. Hill. Another early member was Darden W. Jones, now an outstanding dentist in Holland, Va. The 1927 Phi Cli listed as honorary members four of the Elon faculty, three of whom are still here in Elon College. Those honorary faculty members were Dr. W. A. Harper, then president of Elon, Dr. N. F. Brannock, Prof. J. W. Barney and Prof. A. L. Hook.

The Pi Kappa Tau group also appeared in the annual that same year, its initial list including Louise Homewood, later Home Demonstration Agent for Caswell County; Sallie Mae Oliver, now Mrs. L. A. Ligon, of the Oxford Orphanage faculty; Julia Yarborough; Mable Cheek, Alice Weber, Beulah Hammer, Lyde Bingham; Jewell Hughes, and Elsie Teague. The final one of the present eight Greek letter groups to appear on the scene was the Alpha Pi Delta, its first list being published in Phi Psi Cli for 1927, although its organization dated back to 1926. Its first group included Frank Alexander, James B. Brown, H. E. Crtuchfield, Romie Davis, J. M. Green, B. L. Green, F. L. Gibbs, P. G. Hook, T. V. Huey, M. M. Johnson, W. L. McLeod, E. M. Qualls and J. C. Qualls.

GIRLS' CAGERS

THURSDAY, MARCH 5

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11

One other club had appeared very briefly in the 1923 and 1924 annuals, but it disappeared from the scene after that time. This was the Tau Theta group for girls. Its membership included Adelia Jone, now Mrs. John G. Truitt; Josephine Alford, Lena Jackson, Eunice Morrow and Mildred Kirkland.

A quick perusal of the succeeding volumes of Phi Psi Cli reveals that the Greek letter groups continued to function as clubs until about 1940, when they first began to be designated as fraternities and sororities.

The fraternities and sororities have continued to function through the years, and they now play an important part in the campus life of the college. Hundreds of prominent Elon alumni have held membership in the four fraternities and four sororities since their organization, all of them worthy predecessors of the brothers and sisters who now wear the jeweled pins on the Elon College campus.

Tony Carcatera was top scorer for the Elon cagers, racking 14 points, and he also grabbed down 22 rebounds for the night to rank tops in that department. He was trailed by Marsh Oakley, freshman forward, who had 11 points.

Quakers Top Christians By 79-44 Margin

The Christians caught the Guilford basketeers on a hot night, and the Quakers pasted the Elon hardwood outfit with a 79 to 44 licking as the Guilford entry wound up an otherwise dismal season in a manner that set the Quaker fans into a frenzy.

The Guilford cagers, who had won only one game all the season, caught fire early in the game and pounded out a 37 to 17 lead by the half-time. They went ahead for good on a 9-8 field goal by Ted Tighlman, and the Elon squad was never able to regain the lead during the night.

Not a single one of the Elon players was able to hit double figures in the scoring column, with Eddie Burke as the Christian leader with 9 counters and with Steve Wall second with 8 points. Don Lineberry with 24 and Tighlman with 21 were the heavy scorers for the home-standing Quakers.

WATCHTOWER

books have been ordered for all Legislature members.

We understand that there are good arguments for inter-communication systems in the boys' dorms, for we have heard complaints from persons who have had to run to third floors to call persons to the telephone.

If certain groups had taken care to elect more responsible officers, we suspect that certain recent faculty-student conflicts could have been avoided. —The Arts Forum programs are continuing to draw enthusiastic audiences.

We hear considerable discussion on campus these days concerning the merits and otherwise of the Honor System. For those Elon College students who obviously have chosen to cheat their way to a degree we throw out these thoughts: What do we really have, even if we manage to dishonestly obtain a degree?

What assurances do we have that we will not be like the several persons whose dishonesty has led them before the Honor Council recently and caused their suspension from Elon College? Who are we not to share these persons personal embarrassment and to have our records in the college offices marred if we follow the same practices as they? We may deceive our professors and we may deceive our fellow students, but there is One who shares with us all secrets.

Bears Down Elon, In Last Home Battle

The Fighting Christian cagers closed out their home basketball schedule on Thursday night, February 19th, when they absorbed a 58 to 50 defeat at the hands of the powerful Bears of Lenoir Rhyne, but the Elon basketeers put up a stiff fight and made the game a nip-and-tuck affair until the closing moments.

The score was tied seven times in the first half, with the Christians rebounding from a slow start to knot the score at 13-all after eleven minutes were gone. The Elon outfit pulled out to a four-point lead and went on to hold a 31 to 29 advantage when the rivals went to the dressing rooms for the half.

The contest continued close through the third quarter of the game, with the score knotted at 45-45 after eleven minutes of the final half, but Elon hit a cold streak at that point and did not score for about six minutes. By that time the Bears were out front by a 54-45 count, and they held the lead to the end.

One more big Tony Carcatera was the top point-getter for the Christians as he hit for 13 points, and he also pulled down 17 rebounds during the fray. Other leaders for Elon were Eddie Burke and Marsh Oakley, each of whom counted five field goals for 10 points. Tommy Sellari led the Bears with 22 points.
