

Carson-Newman Downs Elon By 14 To 0 Count

GIVEN HONOR

LINDA SMITH

Named Queen By Sigma Mu Sigma

The Lambda Chapter of Sigma Mu Sigma, Masonic affiliated service fraternity on the Elon College campus, has just announced the selection of Linda Smith, an Elon junior class member, as the "Sigma Mu Sigma Sweetheart" for the 1966-67 college year.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Smith, of Elon College, transferred to Elon College from UNC-G during the past summer. While at UNC-G she was a member of the University Choir and of the Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority. At Elon she is majoring in music and preparing to teach piano and is active in the Elon Choir.

The Sigma Mu Sigma group has selected its "Sweetheart" each year for several years, with the girl thus honored representing the chapter as its sponsor in the Homecoming parade and reigning at various gatherings of the fraternity during the year.

Enrollment

Honduras, Japan and Jordan.

Among the North Carolina students there are 59 of the state's 100 counties represented, three more than were represented last fall. Alamance County furnished 576 students, an increase of 40 over the Alamance enrollment last year. Other county leaders are Guilford with 59, Durham 41, Rockingham 41, Randolph 25, Forsyth 24, Orange 21, Person 20 and Wake 19.

The varied religious membership and preferences represent 28 denominations, two more than last fall. As is usual, the Baptists and Methodists have the largest groups with 357 and 299 students listed, each holding the same relative rank as a year ago.

In third spot behind them is the United Church of Christ with 264, followed in order by the Presbyterians with 171, Episcopalians 69, Catholics 65, Lutherans 47 and Jewish 6 students. The remaining 12 percent are divided among other groups or listed no preference.

The worst trouble with the future is that it seems to get here quicker than it used to.

The Carson-Newman Eagles capitalized on a partially blocked punt and an intercepted pass deep in Elon territory to sew up a pair of touchdowns and turned back the Elon Christians 14 to 0 at Burlington Stadium on Saturday night, October 15th, handing the Christians their fifth defeat of the year.

The Eagles partially blocked an Elon kick in the first quarter and gained the ball at the Elon 39-yard line, and they drove from their for the first touchdown, which came on a 12-yard run by Ron Medlin. David Pitt kicked true, and Carson-Newman boasted a 7 to 0 lead at half-time.

Elon came back in the third quarter to dominate play and drove 79 yards to the Carson-Newman three for a first down, but four plunges failed to move the ball into pay dirt, with the Eagles holding at the six inch line.

Late in the fourth period Carson-Newman intercepted an Elon pass at the Christian 25-yard marker and returned to the thirteen, and three plays later Dale Rutherford bucked two yards for the score, with Pitts again kicking good for the final 14 to 0 win.

Writes Book

being is immortal in some fashion. Especially important is the manner in which he links religious thought to other channels of inquiry in the physical and social sciences.

This is the third book which Dr. Reynolds has written and published in the field of religion since he joined the Elon College faculty in 1946. His first volume was "The Gospel Unlimited," published in 1949, which was a Biblical study; and the second was "Adventure With People," a book on Church leadership which appeared in 1954.

Dr. Reynolds is a native of Indiana, the son of a clergyman, who followed his father's footsteps into the ministry. He was educated at Butler University and the Hartford Theological Seminary and went on to the University of Edinburgh on a Welles Fellowship to earn the Ph.D. degree. He also traveled extensively in Europe and spent several months at the University of Marburg in Germany.

Before he joined the Elon College faculty in 1946, he was for a period of eleven years the pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Manchester, Conn.

Maybe hard work never killed a person, but you never heard of anyone resting to death, either.

WILL OFFER ORGAN CONCERT

Appearing as the second of the Elon Lyceum programs for the 1966-67 year will be a husband-wife team of organists, M. and Mme. Durufle, two of the most noted organists in the world. Both are natives of France, he born in Louviers and she in Marseille, and both have attained great recognition in their natieland, where he has been titular organist at Grand Orgue de Etienne-du-Mont, and she has been titular organist at the Cathedral of St. Veran de Cavillon. Their concert at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, October 30th, will be one of two appearances in North Carolina, the other being in Charlotte. Other American concerts will be in many of the nation's largest cities.

Steere Will Speak Here On Monday

Appearing as the first of the speakers under the Visiting Scholars program of the Piedmont University Center during this 1966-67 college year, Dr. Douglas V. Steere, a professor of religion and philosophy at Haverford College for more than thirty-five years, will speak on the Elon campus at 8 o'clock next Monday night.

Dr. Steere, a native of Michigan, is a graduate of Michigan State and holds a master's and doctor's degrees from Harvard in the field of philosophy. He later studied at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar and holds honorary degrees from a number of institutions.

He has served as a visiting lecturer at the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Harvard, Chicago Theological Seminary, Hartford Theological Seminary and Carlton College and at institutions in Tokyo in Japan and at Johannesburg in South Africa in addition to his long teaching tenure at Haverford. He is a member of the American Philosophical Association and is both a member and former president of the American Theological Society.

Elon Band Is Given Praise By Grid Fans

The Elon College Marching Band, which will be a feature of the Homecoming game with Catawba and the Homecoming parade, has won much praise from the grid fans for their fine performances at other football games played by the Fighting Christians this fall.
