IN NEW POST

COACH ALAN WHITE

Coach Alan White, member of the Elon College football coaching staff for the past three years and chairman of the department of physical education since last spring, has accepted a new post to head up the football recruiting program at Mississippi State, according to announcements made from the Mississippi institution last week. Coach White will assume his duties for the coming 1967-68 college year.

Falcon Nine Downs Elon

The fine pitching of Pfeiffer's Jack Cooke, Falcon mound ace, featured as the Pfeiffer baseballers turned back the Elon outfit by an 8 to 1 count on the Pfeiffer field on Tuesday, May 2nd.

The Falcon hurler fanned eleven and allowed no walks as he turned back the Elon nine with five scattered singles during the game, which was the second win over Elon for the Pfeiffer squad this year, and the win ran the Falcon season mark to 21-7 for the season.

The Elon team scored first, plating a singleton run in the second inning, but the Falcons came right back with a pair of counters in that same frame and added two in the fourth, one in the fifth and three in the sixth to post the final winning margin of 8 to 1.

The line score:

Elon	010 000 000 1 5 3
Pfeiffer	020 213 00x 8 9 1

THOUGHTS ON DUTY

as an individual but should think instead what one could do for one's country. The same idea applies equally well to a student in college, and certainly those individuals who elected to go dancing on a weekend of a track meet had never given thought to the Kennedy philosophy.

Perhaps the same philosophy which was shown in these instances also motivates those persons who have burned their draft cards or have participated in protests against the Vietnam war, for college ideas do carry over into real life. The same persons who let the college and their team down in favor of personal enjoyment could quite easily be likened to those individuals who have to all intents and purposes turned "chicken" in time of war.

The Women's Athletic Association, which operates under the direction of Miss Marion Fortune, sponsored a workshop in movement education on the Elon campus last Friday. The workshop, held in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium, was conducted by Miss Dorothy Richardson, of the UNC-G staff.

Miss Richardson, who received undergraduate training at I.M. Marsh College in Liverpool, England, taught physical education for four years at a girls' private school in England and has taught at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa., and at Germantown Friends School in Philadelphia prior to coming to this state.

She is well known in movement education and has conducted workshops for the Southern District Convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation as well as for the Virginia state convention and for a number of colleges.

Movement education entails a new approach to teaching concepts in movement, with emphasis on problem solving, creative approach and less formally structured methods of teaching.

NEW ELON LIBRARY IS RISING ABOVE GROUND

The new Elon College library has begun to rise out of what was only a huge hole in the ground two months ago, for the basement walls have been poured in durable concrete, and the ground floor itself has been put down, also in solid concrete. Within the past few days the superstructure of the two-story library structure has started to rise. The first portions to go up were the concrete pillars which are pictured in the center of the above picture. Blessed with excellent weather conditions, the contractors are moving along rapidly with the job, and the new library may assume the appearance of a real building before the old grads come back to the Elon campus for 1967 commencement festivities that are barely two weeks in the future.

curity Industrial Association and is an officer of the North Carolina Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America. He has been a member of the Governor's Council on Occupational Health since 1957. Other activities include membership in civic clubs and the chambers of commerce at both Greensboro and Burlington.

Matthews Preaches Sermon

Dr. Warren Matthews, an Elon graduate, who became pastor of the great Christian Temple in Norfolk, Va., in 1965, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the Elon graduates on Sunday morning, June 4th.

After graduating from Elon College in 1952, he earned the B.D. degree at Hartford Theological Seminary in 1955 and was awarded a William Thompson Fellowship at that time for two years of added study at the school of his choice. He also received another scholarship from Harvard University and began his doctoral studies in 1955, later going on to St. Andrews University in Scotland and earned the Ph.D. degree in 1959.

He then became Dean of the Chapel and a member of the faculty of philosophy and religion at Doane College in Crete, Neb., where he remained until called to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church in Topeka, Kans., to serve in that position from 1960 until 1965.

Dr. Matthews came from Topeka to Norfolk to become pastor of the Christian Temple in 1965, succeeding Dr. Frank Hamilton, who has long been a member of the board of trustees of Elon College. He also fills a post that once was held by Dr. Leon E. Smith, long-time president of Elon College.

His wife is the former Virginia Jernigan, of Godwin, N. C., who graduated from Elon in 1954, so his appearance in the baccalaureate program for Elon's 1967 commencement will be a "homecoming" for both him and his wife.

Catawba Tilts

In addition to Freisinger's three-run circuit blast, other leading hitters for Elon in that first game were Rock Smith and Frankie Mensch, each with a pair of hits. Layne Biggers and Bob Stebbins each hit twice for Catawba.

The second game also featured homers, with Layne Biggers, Mike Reynolds and John Gibson all blasting solo homers in the same inning, and that big blast in the bottom of the third sent Catawba out front by a 5 to 2 count. Elon came right back to tie the count in the fourth, and each team plated singleton runs in the fifth to set up a 5-all tie that carried into an extra inning before Catawba scored the winning tally.

Linksmen Lose In Two Meets

The Elon golf team concluded its 1967 season by dropping two meets to Atlantic Christian and Catawba last week, both defeats coming after three members of the Christian squad were found academically ineligible to finish the season. For the same reason, the team did not enter the annual Conference tournament at Boone this week.

The Christian linksmen concluded the year's play with a record of seven wins, five losses and a pair of ties in dual meet competition, all of it with Conference opponents. The team was undefeated in its first six meets of the year, but the competition got tougher as the season progressed and brought losses in three of the final four meets.

Exam Schedule

On Wednesday, May 31st, all TTS 8 o'clock exams will be given that morning, followed Wednesday afternoon by all 111 and 112 classes in French, German and Spanish. The Thursday, June 1st, schedule lists all TTS 11:40 o'clock classes in the morning and all Economics 222 classes that afternoon; and the final day's schedule on Friday, June 2nd, shows all TTS 10:40 o'clock classes that morning and all MWF 11:40 o'clock classes that afternoon.

The Physical Ed activity classes and all afternoon classes except those in blocked groups will be held at the last class meeting, as will all night class examinations.

Freisinger then singled to plate the tying marker, advanced himself on a passed ball and an enemy error and raced home on Dempsey Herring's sacrifice fly to right field.
