

Elon College students walk through ancient gateway in Canterbury to visit the Cathedral where Thomas Becket, archbishop, was murdered in 1170 A.D.

History, political science, English, and music students with professors visited Stonehenge on a chilly January afternoon.

Winter term in England

photos by Ken Toda

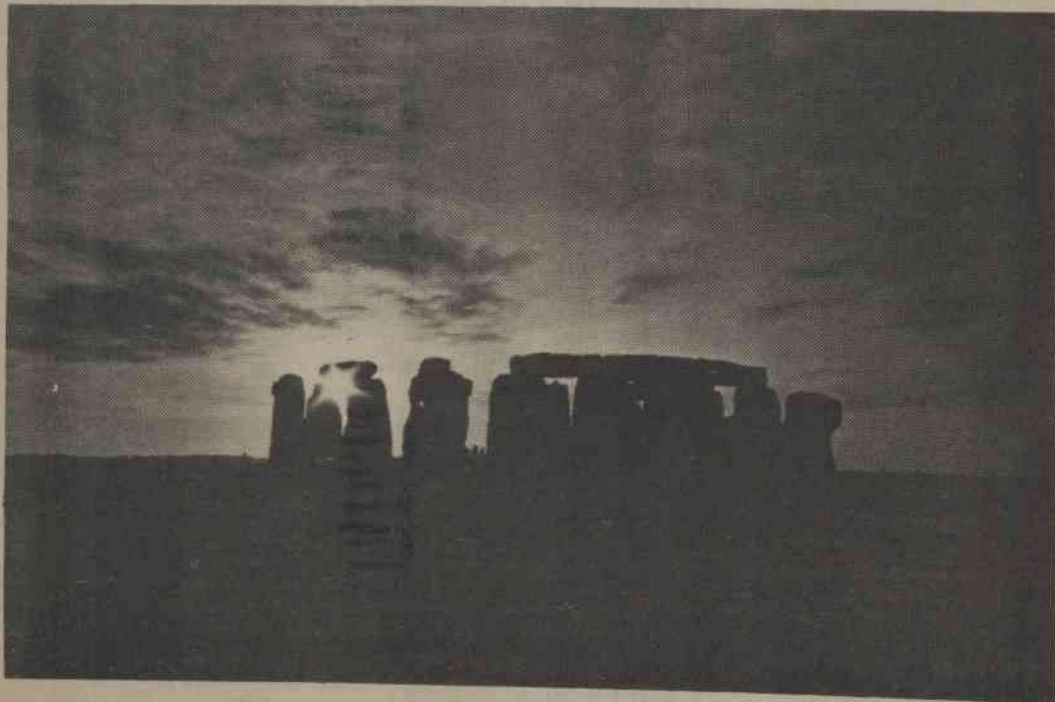

Royal Windsor Castle, largest in Europe, is a home of the Queen of England and a great tourist attraction. Students toured the State Apartments.

The pigeons of Trafalgar Square flutter up in front of the National Art Gallery in London.

Stratford-upon-Avon, birthplace of Shakespeare, was popular with the students who came by coach via Oxford.

Winter sun sets over Stonehenge before the Elon group leaves on the return coach trip to London.

Canterbury Cathedral, built on the spot where St. Augustine reintroduced Christianity in 597 A.D., was visited by students on tour from London.