

ALE targets students, stores over weekend

Alcohol Law Enforcement issued citations to 56 people in Alamance County last weekend as part of separate programs targeting sellers and buyers in underage transactions.

Statewide ALE officers and Town of Elon Police charged 30 underage buyers Friday night for attempting to purchase alcohol, purchasing alcohol or using a fake ID, said ALE supervisor Rodney Johnson. The citations were part of the buyer-targeted Cops in Shops program, in which clerks are alerted to the presence of law enforcement officers in their store.

Thirty-three citations were issued in a Cops in Shops operation staged during last year's opening weekend. "We really focus on the college areas when the colleges start up to get the point across," Johnson said.

Friday night, ALE officers sent four 18-year-olds to 48 Alamance County stores to attempt to purchase alcohol. Twenty-six of the stores sold to the teenagers, said Johnson. Eight stores in Burlington and one in Elon were among those 26.

Johnson said the clerks who sold to the teenagers were issued citations, and stores could face fines or have their ABC license suspended.

Dude, where's your car?

More than 200 parking citations were issued Tuesday for unregistered vehicles. Those who register their vehicles by 5 p.m. today can have their citations voided.
