

Elon alum authors book, returns for signing in campus shop

Kaitlyn North
A&E Editor

Elon's notorious campus has been immortalized in a book, and it is not "The Princeton Review." Tesa Jones, 1972 graduate of Elon, will be on campus Saturday promoting her book "Cobwebs of Time," a novel set by the shore of Lake Mary Nell.

"Anyone who has gone to Elon can relate to this story," Jones said. "Anyone who has gone to college can relate to this."

The story involves a pair of brothers who attend Elon in the early '70s. "Men have found it much more enjoyable than they expected from a book with a rose on the cover," Jones said. "It is told from a man's perspective."

Much of the action in the story takes place by the lake, which Jones calls "definitely fundamental."

"Half of the book is at Elon, and Elon is really a character," she said. "As the story progresses, the characters grow and the campus evolves."

The book also visits areas in Burlington, Gibsonville, The Cutting Board and the forest where the Greek courts are currently located.

"Cobwebs," which was published a year and a half ago, has received critical acclaim in the Mid-Atlantic region.

"When you write something down, you put a piece of yourself out there. I've really enjoyed good reviews from the press about this book," Jones said.

Jones, who was an education major and lived in Staley and Virginia dorms while attending Elon, says she is enthusiastic to visit the campus over Homecoming weekend and sign copies of the book in the campus shop.

Contact Kaitlyn North at pendulum@elon.edu or 278-7247.

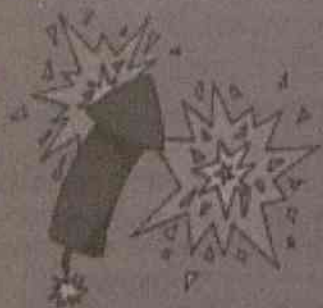

Photo courtesy of Tesa Jones

Tesa Jones is visited by her Zeta sisters at the release of her book "Cobwebs of Time" at the Elon Campus Shop. Jones was a member of the charter Zeta pledge class at Elon in 1971.

HOMECOMING 2003

Movin' up

Friday November 7

Walk and Talk,
Fonville Fountain @ 7:45
p.m.

Pep Rally, Rhodes Stadium @ 8:30 p.m.
NPHC Step Show, McKinnon Hall @ 9 p.m.

Saturday November 8

Tailgating- 11:30 a.m. On the Green
Sponsored by the Division of Student Life

Football vs. Appalachian State
2:00 p.m. @ Rhodes Stadium

SGA
We Work For You