8th Grade Operates Store

The Eighth Grade of the Training School now operates a co-operative store. The purpose of such a store is to supply the needs of the pupils and teachers with school supplies at a minimum cost and at the same time aid the pupils of the school to make money at investment. The pupils experience real and true to life activities in buying, selling, banking and investing.

The store contains such school supplies as pencils, note books, paper, construction paper, hectographs, ink, and tag board.

The store is opened daily from eight o'clock until nine o'clock.

Officers of the cooperative store are as follows:

- Manager—Fannie Smith.
- Secretary—Sallie McGregor.
- Assistant Secretary — Elise Fuller.
- Secretary & Treasurer—Gloria Greene.
- Treasurer—Mr. Julius C. Morgan.
- Year round clerk for master and student teachers — Maxine Smith.
- Advisor — Mrs. L. B. Hedgepetch.

Fire Chief Brinkley

Fire Chief Brinkley commended the pupils of the Training School for their strenuous efforts to reduce fire hazards in his speech made recently to the student body and staff. Mr. Brinkley mentioned that Fayetteville will be a safer place in which to live if each girl and boy will continue to do his or her part to keep it safe.

Fire Chief Brinkley has been present to witness a number of fire drills held recently at the school. The pupils are given instructions as to correct procedure to follow in passing from the building to the grounds during a drill. The method of passing and line formation of the pupils on the ground also meets the approval of the Fire Chief.

Miss Simmons Secretary

Mrs. M. E. Simmons was elected secretary of the General P. T. A. at a meeting held recently. The organization was without a secretary because of the resignation of the one previously elected to fill the position. When it became apparent that a secretary was needed, nominations were made to that effect. Mrs. Simmons became secretary after the tie vote which had been made by the house was broken by the president, Mr. William Carver. Mrs. Simmons states that she will do her best to make a success of the work.

Study U. S. Army Airplanes

(A Short Unit of Work)

Seventh Year Pupil

I. Aim

A. To lead pupils to read and study about the airplane.

B. To lead pupils to realize the progress made in air transportation through the years.

C. To appreciate number of people who make air transportation possible.

D. To appreciate the Army Air Forces of the United States.

II. Motivation

The story of the life of Amelia Earheart served as a motive to make us want to learn more of airplanes. A few pupils in our class had seen and examined parts of airplanes. Out of these discussions, our interest in planes arose.

The class read and discussed the life of Amelia Earheart. They read stories and articles from their own text, library books, supplementary readers, newspapers, magazines, and encyclopedias.

A. The first or older planes were discussed.

B. Recent planes were discussed.

1. Smaller world since the invention of the airplane.

2. Airplanes are used in the Army

(a) Kind.

C. A visit to Fort Bragg Air Field (Pope Field).

1. How we planned for the trip.
(a) Our assistant teacher, Miss Romaine Clark, made all the preparations.

(b) A Queen City Coach was chartered for the trip.

(c) Our ride to Pope Field.

2. The end of the ride.
(a) Persons we met.

1. C. W. O. Rufus E. Williams (Made the visit possible.)

2. Lt. Adler, the airdrome officer (Took us through the field acting as a guide.)

. An engineer (Explained his duty and discussed the mechanical make-up of the planes.)

4. Military police (Greeted us and admitted us to the field.)

3. What we saw.

1. C 47 planes.

2. Troop carriers (We boarded one and examined its parts).

3. Gliders. (C. W. O. Williams took flight in one that we may see it in action.)

4. Runaways.

5. Ramps.

6. Paratroopers boarding a carrier.

7. Hangers, sleeves, radio towers.

The children learned that the airplanes was very necessary in our past war. They learned the names of different kinds of planes of all types as used by the Army Air Forces of the United States. They developed a keener appreciation for the Army Air Forces.

Newbolds PTA Meets

The second meeting of the General P. T. A. of the Training School met Monday night November 11 in the school's auditorium. Mr. William Carver, president of the organization, presided over the meeting. The organization discussed many possible plans for the raising of money. One of the plans discussed was the usual contest held among the different groups of the P. T. A.

At the close of the contest, which will last about two weeks, the winning group will be given a prize. Formerly the prize to the winning group has been a large brown American doll. It is hoped that a bicycle will be awarded this year to the winning group.

The organization feels that such an award will create more interest among the members of the groups.

The banner of attendance was awarded Mrs. V. S. Haithman.

The Newbold P. T. A. is a member of both the state and national P. T. A. and will represent in both organizations this year as before.

Mr. J. Q. Cornick, principal, presented the assistant teachers to the organization and praised them for their attendance.

Rev. Watkins Is Guest Speaker

The Rev. T. H. Watkins of the city was the guest speaker at the regular chapel program Friday, December 6, at the Newbold Training School, a unit of the Fayetteville State Teachers College. Rev. Watkins used as his theme "Preparation." He told the pupils how preparation helps one to do something for someone else. He urged them to prepare for something worthwhile in life. "Training," says Rev. Watkins, "prepares ones to serve." The busy pupils have no time to waste since they are busy making preparations.

Santa Claus, the spirit of Christmas, was used as an illustration as the proper person to use as an example throughout the Christmas season. "Santa Claus doesn't waste much time because he makes adequate preparations before coming on Christmas Eve night."

Rev. Watkins received his invitation to speak from the seventh year pupils. Sylvia Tyson, a seventh year pupil, was in charge of the chapel program and introduced the speaker. Johnsie Parker offered prayer. Mr. J. Q. Cornick, principal of the school, gave remarks to the address and thanked Rev. Watkins. Rev. Watkins has given a gift as a token of appreciation for his kindness. He is pastor of Mount Sinai Baptist Church.

Three Pupils Win Prizes

(Claude Rankins and Sons Donate)

During the recent poster contest which was held among the school of Fayetteville during Fire Prevention Week, two prizes were awarded Newbold pupils as a results of the decision of the judges. The first prize was awarded Roscoe Williams of the second year for presenting the best poster. The second prize was awarded Albert Brown of the sixth year for the second best poster.

Milton Hodges of the fourth year was given five dollars in cash by Claude Rankin and Sons, Insurance Company because the poster which he entered into the contest boosted the fire insurance business.

The presentation of the prizes were made by Fire Chief Brinkley.

Teen Agers Organized

The teen age girls of the upper grades of the Training School have organized a Teen Age Club. The purpose of the Club is to discuss problems which are peculiar to the adolescent girl and to offer suggestions to off set any difficulties encountered by the girls.

The girls met recently and elected officers for the organization.

The following pupils are officers:

- Catherine McKoy, president.
- Virginia Murchison, V-president.
- Maxine Smith, secretary.
- Sylvia Tyson, Assistant secretary.
- Iris Rodgers, treasurer.
- Misses T. M. Callender and C. C. Barnes and Mrs. L. B. Hedgepetch are advisors to the club.

NEWBOLD NURSERY SCHOOL SPONSORS TOM THUMB WEDDING

The Newbold Nursery School sponsored a Tom Thumb wedding on the night of December 9 in the school's auditorium. The bride, Ann Griffin, wore a beautiful bridal gown as she was wedded in "un-holy" ceremony to Pemberton Simmons. The bride's maid was Ellen Brinkley and the best man was Hugh Smith. The girl and boy raising the highest amount of money were chosen as bride and groom. Ann Griffin reported $32.01 and Pemberton Simmons reported $35.00. A total of $161.00 was raised. A number of parents and patrons of the school witnessed the wedding.

Mrs. A. R. McNeil is principal of the nursery school and J. Q. Cornick is principal of Newbold Training School.
