

CAMPUS VISITORS

Professor W. M. Cooper, Director of Extension and of the Summer School, Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia.

Dr. W. M. Brewer, Head of Department of Social Studies, Miner Teachers College, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Marion Hargrove, author of the book, See Here, Private Hargrove.

Dr. Howard McNeill, Member of Board of Education, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Reverend T. David Parham, Graduate Student at the University of Chicago.

Professor F. J. Rogers, Principal of the Williston Industrial High School, Wilmington, North Carolina.

President and Mrs. S. D. Williams, Elizabeth City Teachers College, Elizabeth City, North Carolina.

Miss Claudia Durham, School of Nursing of Meharry Medical College, Nashville Tennessee.

Mr. Weaver Marr, National Director of Inter-racial Service, Boy Scouts of America, New York City.

Dr. Jerome Davis, author and lecturer and formerly a member of the faculty at Yale University.

Mr. James "Billboard" Jackson, representative of the Standard Oil Company, New York City.

Miss Irene Harris, Regional Secretary of the Young Womens Christian Association, Atlanta, Georgia.

Miss Rhoda T. Thomas, a native of Wales and a representative of the World Student Fund.

Dr. N. C. Newbold and Mr. G. H. Ferguson, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Hazel Harrison, Pianist, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Wendell P. Alston, Representative of the Standard Oil Company, New York City.

The Renaissance

The world stands out on either side; no wider than the heart is wide,

Above the world is stretched the sky, no higher than the soul is high.

The Heart can push the sea and land

Farther away on either hand.

The soul can split the sky in two And let the face of God shine through.

But East and West will pinch the heart

That cannot keep them pushed apart

And he whose soul is flat, the sky will cave in on him, by and by.

—Millay

ESSAYIST

Editor Bertha Barnes, '49, of Goldsboro, winner of the Hunter Electric Sales Company Prize.

"VOICE" EDITOR WINS ESSAY CONTEST

The essay on "Radar" submitted by Miss Bertha Barnes, senior of Goldsboro, North Carolina was adjudged the best and the winner awarded a ten dollar cash prize by Mr. T. M. Hunter who represents the local Electric Sales Company. Miss Barnes wrote from notes taken on a chapel lecture given by Mr. Hunter. There were six other contestants.

Miss Barnes, who plans to teach a year or so before proceeding to graduate school, has been active throughout her college career. For two years she was president of the Drama Guild and throughout her junior year, she was Superintendent of the college Sunday School. In her senior year, Miss Barnes is a member of the committee to work out a constitution for the proposed student council; she serves also as editor of the "Voice". Incidentally, Miss Barnes has been a member of the "Voice" staff during each of her four years in college.

Correction

In listing the names of instructors who did "advanced study" last summer, the "Voice" for November, 1948, quite through mistake, failed to list the name of Miss Clara C. Barnes, instructor at the Newbold Training School, who pursued courses toward the doctorate at Columbia University in New York City.

Women's Glee Club "Carries On"

Under the direction of Miss Mary E. Terry, Chairman of the Department of Music, the Women's Glee Club, composed of sixty voices, has been filling engagements in and about Fayetteville since the beginning of the winter quarter. The group furnished music as a background for the Drama Guild's recent production "And He Came To His Father."

Coming events on their calendar include a musical program on Palm Sunday and a formal spring concert, the date of which performance has not been announced. For the second consecutive year, a music clinic was held on the campus, the date this year being Saturday, January 29, 1949. The clinic was attended by a large gathering of in-service teachers from the public schools of Fayetteville and Cumberland County. The director, Miss Mary E. Terry, was also the main speaker.

J. H. BREWER

(Continued from page 1)

chosen end on the Negro All-American football team; for three years he was inter-collegiate hurdles champion and from 1938 to 1940 he was boxing coach at Virginia State College. Dr. Brewer was a Captain in World War II. Since coming to Fayetteville State Teachers College in 1946, he has served as assistant coach of the football team. He is now in frequent demand as a football and as a basketball official.

Dr. Brewer, known to his close friends as "Jimmy", is married to the former Miss Zadye Lee Carter, a graduate of Fayetteville State Teachers College. Of their two daughters, Janyce Marie is two years of age and Brenda Joyce, the newest edition, is but five weeks old. Dr. Brewer, whose ambition is eventually to do historical research, says his hobby is "going to East Arcadia to loaf." Apparently one might add "and smoking a big fat pipe."

The total number of instructors holding the doctor's degree is now stepped up to three. The other two are Dr. William Stewart Maize of Rutgers University whose area is Education and Dr. Joseph Douglass of Harvard University whose field is Sociology. Dr. Douglass is also Dean of the College.

NEWS BRIEFS

The local Drama Guild donated to the Athletic Association a check for $50.00 to assist with the athletic program for the current school year. The donation was made to Mr. James E. Coppage who is chairman of the local Athletic Committee. On Sunday January 23, 1949, the Drama Guild presented a one-act religious play, "And He Came To His Father" which is based upon the story of the "Prodigal Son". Participants were Messrs James Pelham, Sidney Fain, Danny Walker and Misses Pearl Bennett and Katie Owens.

Professor Werner L. Jordan of the Science Department has been busy providing moving pictures for entertainment as well as for instructional purposes.

To the March of Dimes effort the college contributed $68.55 and the Newbold Training School $200.00.

Two students on the campus are representatives of large cigarette firms. Mr. Charles Wiggs represents the Philip Morris Company and Mr. Robert Smalls, the Chesterfield firm. Mr. Small's brothers, Mr. Henry Smalls, is a full-time travelling representative of the Chesterfield firm. If you smoke, see either of our campus representatives.

Mrs. Dinnie (Mother) Bryant reports the enthusiasm with which the young women received Mrs. Annie Burney at the Pre-Christmas party at which occasion Nurse Burney spoke briefly to the group.

Mr. Charles Black, member of the "Voice Staff", entered a local hospital on February 10, 1949 for an operation. Black, a jolly good fellow, will be missed about the campus. We are with you, Black; remember that.

News has just come that Mr. John R. Hawkins, a former student, was one of the three recent graduates from the Lincoln University School of Law at St. Louis, Missouri. Like the others, he was awarded the L. L. D. degree. Mr. Hawkins and his family have returned to North Carolina, the state in which he plans to practice when he has passed the state bar.

Mr. Odell Uzzell, '46, recently took the M. A. degree in Sociology at the Ohio State University and has been added to the teaching staff of the Washington High School in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Negro History Week was observed from February 7 through February 11, 1949. Mr. Clarence A. Chick and Dr. Joseph Douglass were the speakers. The College Choir gave an assembly program and was heard over a local radio station.