

Big Year Ahead

The 1949 edition of the student council "carries on" under the leadership of William Hill (seated, third from left), a senior of Fayetteville. In this its first year of operation, the council has gotten off to a good start in assuming a share of the government under which students must live. Prior to last year, students sat as regular members on most all college committees. Other officers of the council are James Burch, Class of '49, honorary president; Dorothy Cushenberry, vice president; George Johnson, recording secretary; Annie Witherspoon, corresponding secretary; Harold Cushenberry, treasurer; William Carter, assistant treasurer; James Pelham, business manager; June McCowan, director, publicity and Floyd Caldwell, parliamentarian.

Students At Council Meet

Two students from "State", Dorothy Crawley, a senior and the editor of the "Voice" and William McNair, a junior who is president of the Gilreath Club, attended the Virginia-Carolina Association of Student Councils which convened at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 21, 22, and 23. The purpose of the meeting was to devise means of interesting more students in sharing in the government under which they must live while in college.

Miss Crawley worked with the group on publication and Mr. McNair, with the group on educational problems. The Association went on record as disapproving the gossip sheet sometimes found in school papers and suggested that more and more student activities be operated with less and less by help and supervision from faculty sponsors. "The Voice" held its own with the other student papers represented at the Association.

Other Negro college represented at the Association were North Carolina College at Durham; Allen University, Benedict College, A. and T. College and Johnson C. Smith University.

NEWCOMERS TO THE FACULTY, 1949-1950

(Continued From Page 1)

bia University, Music; Mrs. Mae F. Lindsey, B. S., Fayetteville State Teachers College, Newbold Laboratory School, and Mrs. Irene D. Spaulding, M. A., Hampton Institute, Newbold Laboratory School.

During the past summer quarter, fourteen of the institution's instructors pursued advanced study as follows: Mrs. Helen T. Chick, Columbia University; Mr. Marion L. Fleming, University of Michigan; Miss Beulah W. Jones, North Carolina College at Durham; Mr. Warner L. Jordon, University of Pittsburgh; Miss Louise Murphy, New York University; Mr. Lafayette Parker, New York University; Mr. Andrew L. Scott, Columbia University; Mr. H. L. Scott, University of Pittsburgh; Miss Lois P. Turner, Columbia University; Mrs. Addie O. Williams, Columbia University; Miss Clara C. Barnes, New York University; Miss T. M. Calander, Virginia State College; Mrs. Mildred Miller, University of Pennsylvania and Miss Loretta J. Taylor, Columbia University.

Three instructors are nearing the completion of their work for the doctorate. Mr. Leonard H.

STATE'S PREXY

(Continued From Page 1)

1937 and enlarged in 1941; the year 1938 saw the completion of a cottage for teachers, the Henry W. Lilly Gymnasium, the Robert Harris dormitory for women, and a monument in memory of Dr. E. E. Smith, former president of the school. One year later came the James Walker Hood Hall, a dormitory for men, the Robert R. Taylor Science Hall and a WPA Project for the beautification of the campus; and the year 1941 witnessed the erection of another teacher's cottage and the enlargement of the laundry. Since 1941 many of the buildings on the campus have been renovated, and in 1947 a trailer camp of twenty-one units made its appearance.

A recent legislative appropriation has made possible by far the most elaborate building program in the history of the institution. The sum of $974,922 will provide for an addition to the library, improvement to Bickett Hall, a dormitory for married teachers, a dormitory for single teachers, an extension of the balconies of the gymnasium, a new auditorium, the remodeling of the Mechanic Arts Building, additional roads, walks and lights on the campus, the converting of the assembly hall into classrooms and offices, the enlargement and improvement of the athletic field, major repairs to campus buildings, improvement of the dining hall including the installment of facilities for cafeteria service, repairs to the President's residence, and the converting of Vance Hall into a dormitory for men. A local newspaper recently referred to our "million dollar expansion and improvement program" and to Dr. Seabrook's record for the economical management of the institution. It said, "For two decades Dr. Seabrook has maintained the lowest per capita cost — from state appropriations — of any college in North Carolina."

Add to this the "A" rating the college has recently received, the improvement of the faculty, the expansion of the enrollment (one student now comes from Liberia) the enriching of student life on the campus and you have a picture of our prexy who works hand in hand with what he calls the "best Board of Trustees of them all." To the titles he now has the "Voice" would like to add that of "builder."

Robinson is working in Sociology and Miss Margaurite Frierson in Education at the Ohio State University, while Mr. Allen H. Brown is at work in the area of Chemistry at Indiana University.

Drama Guild's Full Program

The Drama Guild's calendar of events for the current school year follows: October 7, Orange Street School, Fayetteville, N. C.; October 11, Whiteville, N. C.; October 13, Magnolia, N. C.; October 15, Executive Committee Meeting, IDA, Lincoln, Penn.; October 19, Dr. M. W. Kramer appeared in a lecture series; November 18, Homecoming play; November 18, Reception for returning graduates; December 5-9, Art of Theatre Week, Fayetteville, N. C.; December, One Act Religious Play, U. S. O.; December, IDA, Intra-Zone Exchange; December 16, Christmas Party; December 18, "Why the Chimes Rang"; January 21, 1950, Vespers; February 3, Drama Clinic; February, IDA Exchange Inter-Zone Fayetteville State to A. and T. College, Bennett College to Fayetteville State Teachers College, Fayetteville, N. C.; March, High School Festivals; April 7 and 8, Spring Production, "The Late Christopher Bean"; April, IDA Annual Meeting and Festival; April, SADSA Annual Association; April 28, Annual Dance.

The work of the drama guild is heightened this year by the presence of Mr. Anthony Fleming who "made Broadway" where he took part in "Swing In A Dream", "Vangreen's Dance" Company, "Carmen Jones", Spring In Brazil, "Show Boat" and "Well's Music Bar."

Fayetteville's 'First'

Fred L. Truitt, a sophomore of Fayetteville and Albert A. Banks, a freshman of Fayetteville (absent from picture), have the distinction of being the first Negro policemen in the history of Fayetteville. Truitt was an intelligence non-commissioned officer and Banks an M. P. (in Fayetteville and overseas) during World War II.