

Tops In Golf

William Carter, Mamaroneck, New York's gift to golf, won at a recent Charlotte meet the "medalist" for the second consecutive year. While he is a star at basketball, Carter's first love appears to be golf.

Carter Wins

William Carter, who hails from Mamaroneck, New York, has added another laurel to his list and has broken another record. So also has he won the medalist. The tournament was held at the Meadowbrook Golf course in Charlotte.

Here are the scores (all under par):

- First round — 67.
- Second round — 69.
- Third round — 66.
- Fourth round — 68.

For a total of 270 last year on the same course, Carter won medalist with 283. His tournament record during the summer was quite impressive showing six wins out of seven tries. His lone defeat was suffered in the Ray Robinson open golf tournament. Here he was eliminated in the semifinal round.

Carter, who finds time to share his knowledge of golf with his fellow-students, has organized on a campus a golf club known as the "Winged Footers." The purpose of this organization is to disseminate knowledge of and to create interest in golf. The club provides information on four basic aspects of golf — the golf course, the game, the materials, and correct form.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION LOOK AHEAD

Christian Association.

The Young Men's Christian Association under the leadership of James Pelham has begun another year of activity. With Charles

Black as Vice-President, Gaither Perkins as Secretary and James Eargle as Treasurer, the organization looks forward to a good year.

Last summer Charles Black represented the Association at the Southern Regional Student's Conference held at Berea College, Berea, Kentucky.

Instructors Say Vows

Wedding bells rang sweetly on July 16, 1949 in a double ring wedding ceremony at the Mount Pisgah A. M. E. Church in Philadelphia as Miss Jo Ann Williams of Fayetteville, North Carolina became the bride of Mr. Joseph F. Walker of Philadelphia. Dr. E. H. Booker was the officiating minister. The couple spent their honeymoon in Cape May, New Jersey.

They played "Here Comes The Bride" on August 17, 1949 as Miss Landonia B. Sawyer of Fayetteville, North Carolina and Mr. William A. Gaines of Mamaroneck, New York marched to the altar at the Evans Metropolitan Church and said, "I will". The couple spent their honeymoon in Quogue Long Island, in New York City and in Connecticut.

The lights of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania were brighter than ever on the evening of August 26, 1949 when Miss Minetta Hunter of Harrisburg and Mr. Harold Scott of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania became man and wife in the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott enjoyed their honeymoon in Chicago, Illinois.

A "Close" Call

Study in and about the library is not always about John Dewey. If you think it is, ask Raleigh's John Penix, and Sanford's Tommie Swann, shown here.

Alexander McRae Passes Away

Sixty-eight year old Alexander McRae, long time resident of Fayetteville and for the past five years a member of the Buildings and Grounds staff at the College died Sunday, August 14, 1949 at his home on Greensboro Street. He had suffered with asthma for some time.

Mr. McRae was born and reared in Sumter, South Carolina and came to Fayetteville several years ago when he met Miss Maggie Johnson and subsequently married her. They had no children. Mr. McRae was a quiet, industrious, Christian-hearted man. About him was a seriousness of purpose and an enthusiasm that was evident in his work from day to day. Dean Joseph H. Douglass, speaking on behalf of the College at his funeral, pointed to his dependability and remarked the "wholesome influence he brought to the campus." He was a member of the New Macedonia Baptist Church on the Raeford Road.

More And More Degrees

Federal Security Administrator, Oscar R. Ewing, announced recently that colleges and universities throughout the United States conferred approximately 430,000 degrees during the year ending June 30, 1949 — an all-time high.

This estimate by the Office of Education, Federal Security Agency, is based upon returns from about 1,000 of the nation's 1,200 degree-granting institutions, Administrator Ewing explained.
