

I'M GLAD

Despite her friends and her interest in the College, Mrs. Beatrice Williams of Monrovia, Liberia says she will be glad to graduate in December. She will go back home to teach in the public schools.

LIBERIAN STUDENT

(Continued From Page 1)

which she explains is now no more than a high school, Mrs. Williams plans to complete her work at "State" and to return to Monrovia in Liberia, her home city, to teach in the public school system.

Along with the anticipation of completing the college course, is that of seeing her six-year old son, George N. Williams, whom she has not seen in over two years. The work, however, Mrs. Williams explains, has been pleasant and the experience of living on an American college campus has been great. She says that her greatest kick came from the study of English and the Philosophy of Education.

During the two summer quarters she has been in America, she has attended two other colleges and visited in New York City, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Shreveport, Louisiana, Atlanta, Georgia, Memphis, Tennessee, and Marshall and Texarkana, Texas. At Winston-Salem Teachers College she was impressed by the decorum and by the absence of noise in the dining hall, and at Wiley College she enjoyed the contacts with a sorority-fraternity-minded student body and her chats with her aunt, Mrs. Diana M. Pierson, Head of the Department of English at that College.

The YWCA Looks Ahead

The Young Women's Christian Association opened its year's work by entertaining the freshmen at an informal get together on Sunday, September 23. There is plenty of enthusiasm among the young women, and a bright outlook for a great year of service to the campus and the community.

Some of the highlights of this year's program are: the work with the World Student Service Fund, an elaborate Thanksgiving program, a trip to the county sanatorium, a party for underprivileged children in the community, the State-wide Y. W. C. A. Conference, the World Federation Day of Prayer, and the election of officers for the next school year.

The new officers for the current year are: President, Levolyre Farmer, Wilson; Secretary, Cora E. Baten, Asheville; Corresponding Secretary, Amelia Hunter, Enfield; and Treasurer, Lenora Turnage, Enfield.

Our sponsors, Miss E. L. Murphy and Miss H. Hucles, are working as they have done for many years toward the development of Christian womanhood at a time when "just that" is so sorely needed.

MISS JEFFERSON

(Continued From Page 1)

went to Barber-Scotia Junior College in Concord, North Carolina. In 1937 Miss Jefferson took the B. S. degree from Virginia State College, and 1949, the M. S. degree in Home Economics at that institution. Her twelve years of teaching experience were spent at the Isle of Wight County, Training School, Smithfield, Virginia, and at the Fayetteville State Teachers College. Miss Jefferson held membership in a number of educational and civic organizations including the Virginia Home Economics Association, and the North Carolina Teachers Association.

Funeral services were held on Sunday, August 19, at St. Paul Presbyterian Church in Cordele, Georgia, with the J. W. Williams Funeral Home in charge. Surviving Miss Jefferson are her parents, two sisters and an aunt.

The death of Miss Jefferson, a personable, even-tempered young woman, added a touch of sadness to the fall session. The first faculty meeting was opened with prayer for her and for two other members (and one former member) of the faculty who passes during the past school year—Miss Leonora T. Jackson who died in Asheville on December 6, 1950, Mrs. Nellie Alston who came to the end of the way on December 10, 1950, and Mr. Joseph A. Walker whose career was closed on March 7, 1951.

NEWBOLD'S DYNAMIC PRINCIPAL

Virginia-born Miss Helen A. Hucles, has been principal of the Newbold Laboratory School for five years. Named for Mr. N. C. Newbold, Newbold is one of the largest laboratory schools located on any of the Negro college campuses.

Faculty Additions, 1951-1952

Faculty additions for the current school year include Miss Geneva J. Holmes, A. B., Howard University, M. A. Columbia University, Dean of Women; Mr. Edward W. Hargrave, A. B. Johnson C. Smith University, M. A. New York University, Social Science; Miss Dolores McNair, A. B. Hampton Institute, M. A. Columbia University, English; Miss Muriel G. Clark, A. B. Livingstone College, M. A., Duquesne University, Biology; Miss Eula M. Smith, A. B., Howard University, M. A. Howard University, Household Arts; Miss Eloise McNeill Haith, B. S. Fayetteville State Teachers College, M. A. Hampton Institute, Supervising Teacher, Newbold Laboratory School; Mr. Hugh M. Jenkins, B. S. Hampton Institute, M. A. Boston University, Supervising Teacher, Newbold Laboratory School, and Mr. Elwood W. Nichols, B. S. North Carolina College at Durham, Dean of Men and Assistant Coach.

Mr. Howard S. Smith is returning to his post this year as Professor of Education after four quarters of advanced study at Rutgers University and Mrs. Landonia S. Gaines, who formerly served as Assistant Budget Officer, has returned as Secretary to the President. A number of Fayetteville teachers pursued advanced study during the summer quarter.

Dr. Marguerite S. Ferguson, chairman of the area of Education conducted a work shop in Rock Hill, South Carolina during the summer months.

PREXY PUSHES

(Continued From Page 1)

chapel in the Administration building into college offices and classrooms. Work on these projects is in progress.

President Seabrook, Dean Douglass, the faculty, and the students are working toward accreditation by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

One of the three new schools put into operation in Cumberland county this year is the J. W. Seabrook School. It was named for Dr. Seabrook because of his contribution to education and to good citizenship in the Fayetteville community.