The 1956 football season got under way for the Broncos of FSTC September 1. Forty-five candidates assembled and practiced twice daily under Coaches W. A. "Gus" Gaines and H. L. "Scotty" Scott. After two weeks of practice, the Broncos entered the territory of the Pirates of Hampton Institute, Va., for the initial game of the CIAA football season. The Broncos left Hampton victorious, 19 to 6, as Buddy Gordon, Bobby Wilson and Charles "Poke" Knight scored the three touchdowns. The entire Bronco team saw action.

On September 29, the Broncos went to Winston-Salem Teachers College for the second conference game—a night game. The Rams of Winston-Salem came out on top 19 to 6 as bad breaks and a muddy field handicapped the Broncos' opportunities. James Ebron, freshman quarterback, was the sparkplug for the Broncos as he led the team the entire length of the field down to the five-yard line, and halfback Buddy Gordon plunged across for the lone touchdown.

On October 6, Fayetteville State was guest of Elizabeth City Teachers College for a non-conference game. Rainy weather was again the dominant factor as the Pirates won 20 to 0. The Pirates held full charge of the game after the first five minutes; the Broncos saw a lot of defensive play and scoring opportunities were few. Quarterbacks Curtis Battle and James Ebron tried vainly to score. The Broncos' forward line held the Pirate squad several times, but timely passes by ECTC proved successful.

With their CIAA record one and one, Fayetteville went to St. Augustine's College of Raleigh for a conference game, October 20. The Bronco squad was snowed under 33 to 0 as the Falcons ran and passed at will. Fumbles and interceptions set up three of the Falcons' five touchdowns. Jack Ealy did some fine running, but penalties, fumbles and poor line play prevented his yardage from proving helpful. Quarterback James Ebron tried vainly to move his squad, but fine defensive play of the Falcons was the poignant factor.

On Homecoming Day, Saturday, October 27, the Broncos took the field at Fayetteville Junior High School bowl for their first home game. The odds were in favor of Fayetteville winning the game against the Bisons of Howard University, but the Bisons, even though the underdog, soon took

New Faculty-Staff At College This Year

There were not many changes in faculty and staff personnel this academic year. However, the few replacements made brought to the college outstanding people in their chosen fields.

Miss Juletta D. Randolph, A. B., Howard University; M. A. Oberlin College, Instructor in Art states—"Of all the wonderful friends I've had in my lifetime, I've met some of the dearest ones here. Students, let's cherish these friends we've made and make the best of all the opportunities afforded. I intend to work hard, play fair, and do the best I can for those who have put their faith in me and the little I have to offer."

Mr. Odell Uzzell, B. S., Fayetteville State Teachers College; M. A. Ohio State University; doctoral candidate, Ohio State University philosophizes—"Predisposed judgment mirrors one side of the screen. Only an open mind illuminates the whole." Mr. Uzzell is Dean of Men and instructor in the Social Sciences.

Added to the teaching staff at the Newbold Laboratory School on the campus are Mrs. Alice B. Brown, B. S., Virginia State College and M. A., Columbia University; and Mrs. Eunice Ferguson, B. S. Fayetteville State Teachers College; M. A., University of Pennsylvania.

Says Mrs. Ferguson—"Working at the Newbold Laboratory School of Fayetteville State Teachers College is the culmination of several objectives for me, but the major one is to see what I can do in my small way to make life more pleasant for the Alumni as they shall return to their Alma Mater and to make returning for them a more desirable venture. It may never happen and I may never find out, but I am curious to know what could actually happen to a person to make him so readily forget the undergraduate school that gave him a start in life—regardless of how it compares with the various graduate schools around the nation. It isn't nearly so important 'what school you graduate from' as is 'what you do with your life afterwards.'"

Miss Carolyn H. McDew, A. B., Talladega College; M. A., Syracuse University, Acting Dean of Women, says—"I am pleased to be associated with the F.S.T.C. family. As part of a new administration, I join with other administrators and the faculty to work for improved conditions on the campus and for the non-resident members of the college. We know that the students will be patient with us and give us full cooperation in our program."

New instructor in Science and Mathematics and Assistant Football Coach is Mr. Joseph L. Knuckles, B. S. Biology and M. S. Zoology, North Carolina College at Durham; doctoral candidate, University of Connecticut.

charge. Fayetteville's two touchdowns were made by passes from Quarterback Ebron to Ends Charles Knight and Chuck DeVaughn. Halfback Jack Ealy led the Fayetteville ground attack gaining 127 yards in 13 attempts with one sprint of 55 yards. The Broncos' defense weakened with the loss of Fullback Roger Scales, who was injured during the third quarter of play.

Coach Joseph Knuckles has been a great help in getting our team toughened for play. This season our team is composed chiefly of freshmen, and it is our hope that our record will improve as our boys grow in experience.

Sophomore: "Don't bother me. I'm writing a letter to my girl." Junior: "Why are you writing so slowly?" Sophomore: "She can't read very fast."

They're Out

By Edith Harrison

The Army, the Navy, and the Air Force Have taken some of our men, you know; For Uncle Sam has called the roll And of course they had to go.

The wedding bells have pealed once more Which brought each groom a bride. Thus, the continuing of school for them Was suddenly put aside.

The financial situation Gets worse and worse each day, "I can't go back, I've got to work," I hear a few folks say.

However, there are those who say, Well, school is not for me; Maybe something else will turn up someday, If not, I'll be what I'll be."

Those who are serving in the Armed Forces are Joe Biggs, Alfred Calendar, Franklin Crenshaw, Ralph Burnette, Sylvester Dobson, William Lewis, Trerle Stallings, Willie Washington, Willie Williams. Some of the students who are married and did not return: Fleming and Bettys (Currie) Floyd, Ronald and Florine (Williams) Kilpatrick, Milton McDonald.

"A SWEET GIRL"

An instructor at a Midwestern college was checking the roll recently. One girl was absent and he asked the class if anyone knew anything about her. One boy answered, "She's a sweet girl."
