FAYETTEVILLE STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

DECEMBER, 1961

From The President's Desk

After a recent trip by the Broncos to play a football game at another institution, two members of the squad expressed to me their surprise at the utterly poor facilities at the college they had just visited. They related also that facilities here are much better than those observed in most of the colleges where they have played.

As we approach the Holiday Season and the beginning of a new year, it occurs to me that this is a good time for us to give thanks to God and to count our blessings. While many students are prone to gripe and find fault with certain services, conditions, requirements and regulations here, they will find if they seek the truth that Fayetteville is much better on the whole than many other places. Our food and health services are much better. Our buildings and other equipment are better. We do not have as many required assembly and vesper programs. Our regulations governing social privileges are more liberal. As strange as it may seem some students who have transferred here from other colleges and who realize they are in a much better environment, have the nerve to gripe.

Seriously, students, as we approach the new year let us count our blessings. Let us also take a personal inventory and analyze ourselves. Let us make an attempt to change those attitudes and habits that are liabilities rather than assets. In this way we can improve the quality of work we are doing in classes. In this way we can improve our whole outlook on life.

All members of the college family have my best wishes for a very Merry Christmas and a prosperous and Happy New Year.

RUDOLPH JONES, President

FSTC Host To Seniors

On Saturday, November 11, Fayetteville State Teachers College was host to more than six hundred high school seniors who were visiting our campus for Senior Day. The day's activities began with a formal welcome program for the students and their advisors.

PRESIDENT WELCOMES SENIORS

President Rudolph Jones extended the official welcome to students from South-central part of the state of North Carolina to the FSTC High School Senior Day activities.

In his speech to the seniors in the J. W. Seabrook Auditorium, Dr. Jones listed the extra-curricular activities that one might engage in while attending Fayetteville State. These included the College Choir, the Band, the Drama Guild, and other class and organizational activities. For those who are not financially able to pay their expenses, Dr. Jones listed the scholarships, loans, and work aid offered. In his concluding statement Dr. Jones said, "It is my sincere hope that some of you will elect to return to Fayetteville State Teachers College next September."

Among the high schools represented were Spaulding-Monroe High School, Bladenboro; Georgetown High School, Onslow; E. E. Smith High School, Fayetteville; Armstrong High School, Fayetteville; Westside High School, Chadbourn; Savannah High School; Grifton; Frederick Douglass, Elm City; Pender County Training School, Rocky Point; Oak Ridge High School, Lumber Bridge; Lincoln High School, Leland; Johnsonville High School, Sanford; and Charles E. Perry High School, Roseboro.

Voice Staffers Interview

Some of the visiting students were interviewed by members of the VOICE Staff. Interviewers, who are also the writers of this article, included Delories Shavers, Johnny Perry, Robert Daniels, and Betty McKethan.

Dorothy Monroe of Savannah High stated she had a very enjoyable day visiting our campus; she found the faculty and students very polite, cooperative and friendly. She plans to attend college but as yet has not made her choice.

William Best of Richlands said he had a pleasant day at Fayetteville State; however he found the student body not too friendly but would like to attend FSTC to further his education.

Selexia Bullock of Westside stated our campus is very beautiful, the faculty and student body very nice, and she would like to attend our college to further her education.

William Carver of E. E. Smith High in Fayetteville stated he had a very pleasant day visiting our campus; he found the faculty and student body, as usual, helpful and nice. He plans to attend college and has an eye on FSTC.

Ernest Beard: Fayetteville State Teachers College is an excellent institution for those who want to become teachers. It offers great opportunities for those who are preparing for other vocations.

Evarin Lewis: The atmosphere here is very pleasant. It is conducive to learning, I think.

Sadie Anderson: Fayetteville State Teachers College is making a major effort to uphold the "Quality Education Program". It offers many opportunities for academic and social growth. However I don't really

Mitchell-Ruff Trio A Success

EVA MCEACHERN

On Thursday, December 7, the Mitchell-Ruff Trio, one of the freshest and newest instrumental combinations to be presented here at Fayetteville State Teachers College, set up a colorful variety of tonal combinations and explored both old and new frontiers of Jazz. With Dwiki Mitchell at the piano, Willie Ruff on the Bass and French horns, and Charles Smith at the drums, the students of Fayetteville State listened with exuberant enthusiasm to this Lyceum program.

Southeastern District NCTA Meets

JOHNNY PERRY

The Southeastern District of the North Carolina Teachers Association held its twenty-fifth annual meeting on Friday, November 17, on the Fayetteville State Teachers College campus. Seen on our campus during the one-day meeting were more than 900 principals, teachers, and supervisors from Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, Hoke, Robeson, and Sampson Counties.

The general theme of the meeting was "Teach for Tomorrow." Among the speakers of the day were Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, History Professor, North Carolina Col-
