A New Year

Fall has come and with it a new and optimistic scholastic year has begun. New students have enrolled and old students have returned to work individually and in unison towards a prosperous and successful year. Kappa Alpha Psi has also returned to the campus of Fayetteville State College to promote and encourage a year of outstanding accomplishments.

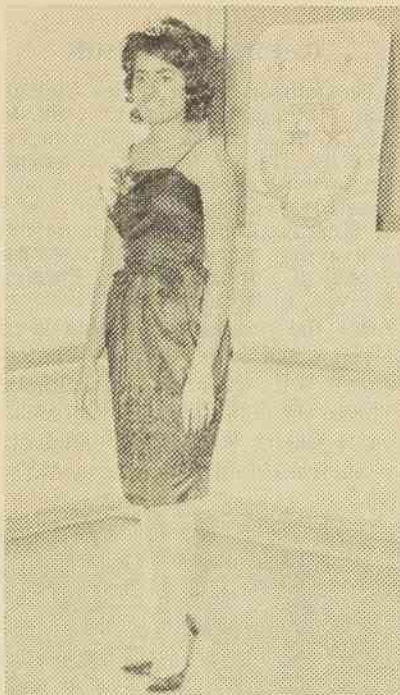

We of Epsilon Beta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity have adopted our goal for the 1963-64 scholastic year . . . ACHIEVEMENT OVER ALL.

In our chapter we have efficient representation to attain our goal of ACHIEVEMENT — old representation and new. Our old brothers have returned and they are as follows:

Willis McLeod, Jesse Williams, Paul Jackson, William Smith, William Sessoms, James R. Williams, Dewey Toone, James F. McMillan and Fred Ellis. Our Scrollers Club consists of little brothers Lynwood Hill and Joseph Gillespie who are pledging with high hopes of becoming brothers in the bond of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. With this able representation of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity and with the aid of the new and old students, we feel ACHIEVEMENT will be attained in all respects.

We of Epsilon Beta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity extend to one and all our wish for the best of luck and success in ACHIEVEMENT.

AKA's Kick Off

Greetings from AKA Land! The sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority extend welcome to the freshman class, new staff members and all other newcomers to Fayetteville State College. We also welcome the old members of the college family back to the campus. It is hoped that the atmosphere here on the campus will be a pleasant one and one suitable for PRODUCTIVE work.

The sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha returned to the campus with an optimistic outlook for the present school year. Twenty enthusiastic sorors made plans for a serviceable and a successful year. As we "Advance through Knowledge and Action," it is the desire of the sorority to promote cooperative work and understanding.

By being a functional part of the school and the community, Alpha Kappa Alpha strives to cultivate and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards and to promote unity among college women. This year the sorority will assume an even larger role in the community by increasing the number of its community projects.

Attending the First Annual Leadership Conference at North Carolina College at Durham were Sorors Catherine Peace, Lina Sanders, Antionette Spearman, Minnie Stevens, Evelyn Torrain and Mary Treadwell. After the morning session, the delegates attended a luncheon given by the Alpha Chi Chapter at North Carolina College. Having had an enjoyable and profitable day, they then returned to Fayetteville.

Greeks and Non-Greeks, let us all concentrate on making our school the best school by having the best students. May we all have smooth sailing in our search for knowledge.

Omega: Operation Lampodas Club Progress

The Delta Gamma chapter, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., has outlined its tentative program for this school year. Under the capable leadership of Brother Hayves Streter, the brothers of Delta Gamma have resolved that this shall be the most successful and profitable year in the chapter's outstanding history.

In order to achieve our goals and objectives, each brother has vowed to double if not triple his output, so that we shall continue to be a progressive and forceful chapter. As can be readily surmised, brothers of Delta Gamma have formulated the formula for success.

Thanks to the present cooperative efforts of the brothers and the entire college family, our predictions are destined to be fulfilled. If this continues, our projects should outdistance our every expectation.

The brothers of Delta Gamma are especially elated over the progress of the Lampodas Club, "The Invincible Eight." We welcomed these aspiring young men, who possessed the necessary essential qualities and good scholarship, in the hope of creating loyal "sons of blood and thunder." After being initiated into the pledge club, they immediately embarked upon the task of proving their unselfish interest in all facets of Omega life. We, the brothers of Delta Gamma, have faith that their period of probation will afford them an opportunity to become increasingly aware of the responsibilities facing them as Omega men. These prospective brothers are Ray Baker, Physical Education major, Kingston; Bennie Fulton, Mathematics major, New Bern; George Lansford, Biology major, Potecasi; Cecil Ramsey, History major, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Cornelius Squalls, Elementary Education major, Fayetteville; William Swift, Chemistry major, Erie, Pa.; Sherry Spencer, Mathematics major, Kingston; and William Westfield, English major, Orange, N. J.

To those of you who have entered this fall, we, the brothers of Delta Gamma, encourage you to put your best foot forward in striving for academic excellence during the 1963-64 school term in particular, and life in general.

A small sports car coming down the street suddenly leaped into the air, came down, glided smoothly along for a short distance, then leaped up into the air again. Down again, then up. A startled traffic officer signaled the driver to the curb.

"What's the matter with this car?" he demanded.

"Nothing sir," replied the embarrassed driver. "I've got the hiccups."

After having elected officers, the club was assigned certain projects which have been completed. These projects consisted in part of designing and making scarves, pillows, and scrapbooks symbolizing the sorority with which the club is affiliated.

The members of the pledge club of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority are striving to maintain high scholastic averages in order to become members of the sorority this semester. Many of the members were awarded scholarships at the spring Annual Awards Day Program.

Socially, the club members are holding their own. At a recent dance, one of the members of the Archonian Club was chosen as the Crescent Club Sweetheart for the school term. As the sweetheart, Barbara McNeil will reign with much dignity, radiance, and serenity.

Pi Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity takes this opportunity to extend to the student body best wishes for making this school year a most beneficial and gratifying one.

Pi Chapter, being the benefactor of numerous pleasant experiences of previous years, is looking toward the school year of 1963-64 with aroused enthusiasm. The enthusiasm is in accordance with our motto, "Culture for Service and Service to Humanity." The chapter activities for the year will be headed by a phalanx of Sigma stalwarts, namely Bros. Jack Sharpe, Marvin Lucas, Sylvester Montgomery, Paul Gerald, Joseph Johnson, Roosevelt Daniels, and John Jessup. Our initial activity took place on a Friday night, October 18, 1963. All students were invited to attend the Crescent Sweetheart affair in the Fayetteville State College Gymnasium.
