BRONCOS LOSE TO FALCONS

Floyd Woodard, Jr.

The Fayetteville State Broncos opened their 1964-65 Basketball season before a capacity crowd of 1200 rabid fans when they played host to the Falcons of St. Augustine's College of Raleigh.

In the first half the Broncos' offense was sparked by freshman forward Oscar Phillips, who dazzled the crowd with his finesse and playing ability. The Falcons dominated the boards, but the Broncos were able to generate a thrust of excitement when Courtland Mangum stole the ball and Ray Baker swished the nets to the score of 23-23. Later, two freshmen, Robert Jefferson and David Kearse, launched a whirlwind attack to give the Broncos a 32-29 lead. At the end of the first half the score was tied 35-35.

The second half marked a give-and-take battle with the Falcons edging ahead to lead the Broncos 45-42. Throughout the remainder of the game the Broncos were unable to rejuvenate their offense. The game ended with the final score 79-65 in the Falcons' favor.

PASSWORD

The grand lodge convention was in town. For three days the town cops would allow no cars around the roped-off city square except a few bearing stickers such as "Grand Noble," "Exalted Ruler," "Past Grand Noble," "Past Exalted Ruler," etc.

The whole idea piqued a high school hot-rod owner, so he made a sticker, plastered it on his jalopy drove to the roped-off area, and the cop let him in without challenge.

The sticker on his windshield read: "Past Participle."

THE LOST CHORD

All through the basketball game, on every single play, the Loyal Rooter had cheered his team to victory. Hoarser and hoarser he grew until finally he whispered to the man beside him, "What d'ya know—I've lost my voice."

"Don't worry," was the tart reply, "you'll find it in my left ear!"

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

Ennis Bryant

The intramural flag football program, headed by Mr. H. L. Scott and students of the physical education department, came to a thrilling completion December 9. The excitement began when there developed a tie for first place in the 2nd division between the Williams Hall "Headhunters" and the Statistician "All-Stars". In the final seconds of the last quarter and with the "All-Stars" leading by an 8-6 margin, George Berry of the Headhunters had his flag taken by Delano Dupinson of the All-Stars on the one foot-line, thus stalling a magnificent effort of the Headhunters to tie the score. The All-Stars won 8-6.

The championship game played between the first place, 1st division, P. E. Majors and the first place, 2nd division, All-Stars was first cancelled because of weather conditions. When the game was played, flankerback Johnny Daniels took a 34 yard pass in the end zone from quarterback David Hollingsworth of the P. E. Majors for a 6 point score. The All-Stars, then made an exalting but futile attempt to score. The Majors won the game and the championship by a 6-0 margin.

SCARLET LETTER

"Is your All-American, Bronko Birdbrain as dumb as they say?" inquired a not too tactful sports-writer.

The coach remained undisturbed. "I'll say he is," he answered calmly. "When he got his letter at the annual banquet last year, I had to read it to him!"

BOO-BOO

Having run into a wild crowd that evening the referee picked up his wife and told her it might be better if she stayed away from the games to which he was assigned.

"After all," he said, "it must have been pretty embarrassing to you when everyone around you stood up and booed me."

"It wasn't so bad," she replied. "I also stood up and booed."
