Bronco Bill

BY
WILLIAM FLAKE

WILLIAM FLAKE

Greetings fellow students, and teachers, we are now at the start of a new F.S.C. athletic year. It is this writer's wish to brief you on all the sports activities of the oncoming year.

F.S.C. Football Outlook Good

The Fayetteville State Bronco football team looks like a winner this year. The spirit of the team is high with plenty of good coaching. We have plenty of "beef" on the line and our backs are fast and experienced.

Sam Jones, the captain and quarterback of the Broncos, says "the success of the team depends on the shaping up of the freshman and the guidance of the upper class team members."

Edmund Tyrance, Co Captain says, "We've got a winner, the only two teams that should give us trouble are South Carolina State and Elizabeth City".

The half-backs, led by such speedy, shifty backs as Sam Jones, Robert Allen, Ronnie Cox, Francis Armstrong, Danny MacMillan, Dwight Thomas, Macon Mahomes, Eugene Green and Melvin Lane, look sharp and are anxious to begin the 1967 season.

The linemen, especially the defensive linemen, look ferocious this year, with a nucleus of seasoned veterans which centers around Edmund Tyrance, George Lowery, Desmond Lario, Hyman Caldwell, Wilbur Jones, Charles Lane, Lester Brown and Richard Mosley.

The freshmen, however, should not be over looked with three-hundred and 15 lbs, Mike Cooper, Monroe Burke and Calvin Davis. Finally our line will have the back up power it needs.

With all the enthusiasm and effort gyrating out there on the football field, the F.S.C. Broncos should be way up on the C.I.A.A. football standings this year.

Good luck Broncos! Lets be 8 and 0!

Track fans of a generation ago, must be left completely agog at what present day cinder blazers are doing to what were once considered impressive world marks. Ryan and Chasers, with regular clocking under 3.56 for the mile, are perhaps most notable, yet 9.2's and 9.3's in the hundred are also quite common place. Ralph Boston, once all by himself, now face a quartet of long jumpers who, with each meet, steadfastly fly beyond twenty-six feet, while Lee Evans and Vince Matthews continue to make a mockery of the .46 quarter mile with which Herb McKinley once dazzled all trackdom. Matthews the J. C. Smith phenom, finally caught up with Evans at the Pan-American games, going away from Evan's last second lunge. .41 quarter mile relays used to be respectable, but are two seconds off the present marks and the swift quartets have their eyes on .38 now.

Pole vaulters, led by Bob Seagren, scale 17 feet almost without effort, and with the fiber glass Pole, they currently are aiming at 18 feet. Only in tennis, are the former greats still in great esteem, for it's their form and finesse that count and not the breaking of records as the swimmers of today are abundantly doing also.

Swimmers are doing practically the same things to once revered swim records, so much so that names like Crabbe and Weismueller have been almost eliminated from the books.

The American League is at long last providing the excitement in professional baseball. It would be great for the game if the Red Sox could grab the whole thing, after so long a fast. Too bad the Cubs couldn't maintain their mid-summer momentum. There was even talk of a "Chicago series. Leo the lip, is after all quite a guy and has done wonders with the Chicubs.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

Fayetteville State College
1967-68

With the beginning of a new academic year at FSC lets begin a bigger and better than ever new year in Intramural Athletics. Intramural Athletics is a phase of the total program sponsored by the Department of Physical Education. It is a program which provides the opportunity for voluntary athletic competition between student teams in various sports throughout the school year. These teams are organized, coached and managed by students. Any group of students may organize a team and compete in Intramurals, however, some teams maintain their identity from year to year. Although, this in many ways is desirable, it is not required.

The basic rules of eligibility are that you may not compete for more than one team during each school year; however, you may compete in as many sports for that team as you wish. You may not compete in a sport in which you are listed as a varsity player at FSC.

Team rosters for each sport must be turned in by the posted deadline (check Intramural bulletin board in the Gymnasium, Dining Hall and Canteen daily). After the announced deadline, no further teams will be accepted for that sport, and no new names may be added to the roster. You may add new names to your roster for the next sport.

The first Intramural sport for the 1967-68 year will be Flag Football and the deadline for entries will be Wednesday, September 27, at 4 p.m. in my office in the Gymnasium. Please indicate on the roster the team manager with his dorm address or telephone number. There will be a team managers meeting that same night at 7:15 p.m. in the Gymnasium it is urgent that all attend.

Other sports that will be offered during the year, if sufficient interest is shown, are: cross country, table tennis, basketball, volleyball, badminton, tennis, archery, golf, horseshoes and hopefully swimming. Please see me anytime concerning any questions that you might have.

JACK F. DAVIS
Director of Intramurals

Sport scribes are picking Notre Dame and Alabama as the one-two of collegiate football, giving the Spartans of Michigan State an outside chance because Bubber Smith and George Webster are gone. Spartan coaches are predicting a great season for Jimmy Raye, the Fayetteville lad, their scampering quarterback, who led them to their second straight Big Ten Title. Raye led the Big Ten with a 10.2 average gain per pass attempt and finished second to Purdue's Bob Griese in average yards gained for both rushes and passes.

The Packers are good, but they're lucky too. I thought the Browns should have topped them in their August exhibition game. Greenbay won 30-21 but the Browns failed to score twice inside the three yard line and Groza missed two rather short field goals and one 47 yard attempt.

They-the same sport writers keep debating whether Arnie Palmer or Jack Nicklaus is the world's best golfer. Most of them seem to give Nicklaus the edge on the basis of money earned and the percentage of the times that each finished in the top five of all the tournaments each entered. I think a more objective analysis of actual performance would be something similar to Varden Trophy rating. That is, on an average of all the rounds played. Such a rating might reveal Billy Casper as the number one golfer. It is true that from a money-won point of view, Nicklaus has won more in the short time he has played than any other golfer, though Palmer is the all-time winner, while Casper is third.

HUNCHBACKS

By ARCHIE JOHNSON

Observe the "hunch" backs of Fayetteville State College for the year '67-68. No they aren't the men from Notre Dame, nor a line of tackles and guards, but chessmen.

Yes, F.S.C.'s chess club plans to confront stiff competition like Fort Bragg and Pope A.F.B. who have together some 100,000 selectives to choose from. Although small in number, our mighty "hunch" backs of F.S.C. have opened their competitive doors to peripheral colleges such as North Carolina, A&T University, Duke University, the University of North Carolina, and willing others.

The first of these clashes will be at Fort Bragg in the near future, where the "hunch" backs anticipate straight-out to "continuous" victories.

BEAT

has had his players going through strenuous exercises getting them ready for the Broncos' arch rival, the Winston-Salem Rams.

Practice during the first week was sort of slow due to the fact that some of our first year men had to attend orientation. In order to make up for this lag during orientation, Coach Doub has had his boys working out twice a day on occasions. In a modestly optimistic statement, the Coach had this to say, "We have a pretty good nucleus from last year." The veteran players have been showing great leadership. We hope to have a very crowd-pleasing team."

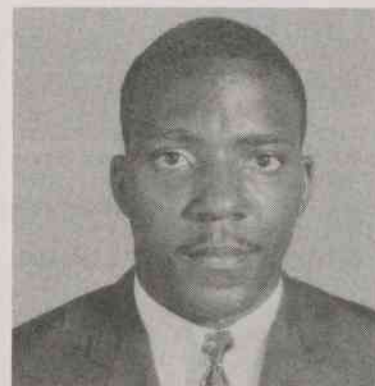

With the support of the student body, the Broncos could roll on to their best season in many a year.

Football once again is in the air. The Broncos are expected to improve on their last year's record of 3 and 8. Coach Doub
