

Flux of Homecoming Activities Creates Excitement

Booker Keyes, President of the Student Government presents a bouquet at half time to Cora Ray, "Miss Homecoming," as alumnus, Annie McCain Brayboy, F.S.C.'s President, Dr. Rudolph Jones and Mary Johnson Staton, "Miss Alumni" look on.

President Jones greets Betty Jean Ruff, "Miss J. C. Smith," while her escort of the day, Student Government Vice-president, Hector McEachern, enjoy the courtesy.

President Keyes takes extra delight in accompanying love-ly Carolyn Walton, "Miss F.S.C.," in the colorful parade.

The Voice

FAYETTEVILLE STATE COLLEGE

Vol. 21 No. 3

Fayetteville, North Carolina

November 1967

Joseph Lewis of Washington, D. C., President of the Freshman Class, presents President Jones with a check of $190.35 for the Student Emergency Fund. The check represents proceeds from the Freshman Talent Night Show. (see pixs on page three)

BRONCOS THUMPED, QUEENS HAILED, PARADE ENJOYED

By IRIS JONES, CAROLYN RICHARDSON, BETHENIA PIERCE AND MARGIE THURMAN

A rash of homecoming activities highlighted the annual, gala affair as the Broncos fell victim to a J. C. Smith rampage, 42-0, and the lovely Miss Cora Ray reigned as Queen.

November 6 through 11 was proclaimed spirit week here at F.S.C. by the cheerleaders. Each student was given a badge with the Broncos slogan, "Beat Golden Bull" on it. A pep rally was held in the auditorium Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening, the Miss Homecoming Coronation was held in the Lilly Gymnasium, which included the reign of about fifteen queens. Thursday, was set aside as Slogan Day. Friday November 10, Homecoming eve, was when things really started. The Broncos and all their fans staged a large pep rally and funeral service for the Bulls in the college auditorium, after which they joined together at the bon-fire on the athletic field. The pre-dawn dance was held in the Lilly gym at 4 o'clock A.M. Saturday. A large number of old, former and transfer Broncos were present.

Prior to the game, the parade advanced slowly downtown Fayetteville Oh! what a picturesque site to see. The parade started from Ann Street and moved from Person to Hay Street. It was a large parade which included decorative floats with queens and bands. The floats were of exotic colors and designs depicting scenes of various activities and organizations of the college. They added much color and variety to the parade. Some Bronco fans stated that it was one of the most colorful parades ever executed by the college.

A contest was held after the parade to judge the best decorative float. Bryant Hall won first place. It was decorated in deep blue and pink accented by pink flowers. Miss Bryant Hall was dressed in her royal blue outfit which added much color to the float. Second place was given to the kindergarden association of Fayetteville and third place was given to the sophomores of Harris Hall.

The entire homecoming festivities were broadcast by the disc-jockeys of WIDU radio. The final event was the homecoming dance in the Lilly Gymnasium on Saturday night. The weekend marked an occasion for a reunion of members of President Jones' family and the alumni witnessed and enjoyed the activities.

her new duties, Mrs. Monroe said:

"Acting as chairman of the Business Education Department, has proved to be a very challenging experience. It is both an opportunity and responsibility to investigate, correlate, and coordinate quality learning situations, which are so essential to the future academic life and career of our business education students."

"The Business Education Department is one of the fastest growing departments in the school, according to a recent report. Realizing the tremendous task before us, members of the department have joined hands to do the very best that we can to meet the needs and interests of our students."

"We believe that if the splendid cooperative spirit we have received in the past, continues, we will be able to persist until such time when Mrs. Black, who is away on leave, returns to resume the chairmanship."

INTERVIEW

MR. DENNIS NATHANIEL
By CLIFTON MERVIN

1. What was your first impression of F. S. C.?
My first impression of F. S. C. was one of satisfaction. The college, I feel is in a very good location and it is quite convenient.
2. Do you find the students here at F. S. C. different from those elsewhere?
No, the students at Fayetteville State College are no different than those elsewhere. I find that the students are very friendly and very thoughtful. They appear to want to learn providing you make them learn.
3. Where did you do your graduate and undergraduate study?
I did a portion of my undergraduate study in India. I have also done some studying at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.
4. Did you have to make any adjustments to the students and to the members of the faculty?
No, I didn't have to make any adjustments to the students or faculty members. The students were eager to learn and very friendly as I said before. The faculty members were equally as friendly. I find both the students and the members of the faculty to be very hospitable.

NCTA MEETING AT F.S.C.

By HUBERT SIMMONS

Fayetteville State College was the center of attention when the Southeastern District of the North Carolina Teachers Association held its meeting here on Friday, November 17, 1967.

Presiding over the meeting was Mr. L. H. Muldron, who was elected president last year. The theme of the meeting was "Commitment to Action." The meeting got off to a good start with registration in Lilly Gymnasium at 8:00 in the morning. From 9:00 until 10:30, sectional meetings were in progress. Elementary and high school levels sections were held.

The general meeting consisted of the following sections: English and Social Studies, Mathematics and Science, Physical Education, Driver and Safety Education, Guidance, Audio-Visual, Music, Business Education, Vocational and Industrial sections, Hammocks Beach section, Library, and attendance counselors.

Following the sectional meeting, the different departments began their meetings. The two departments were the classroom teachers and the administration and supervisors. During and at the conclusion of the meeting, the special arrangement committee provided for the satisfaction and amusement of the participating teachers, supervisors, and administrators. The meeting progressed at a rapid and effective pace and proved to be an informative and enlightening experience for everyone.

SITTING IN

By MATTIE COGDELL

DR. JOAN CORBETT

Dr. Corbett and Mrs. Monroe are currently acting as heads of The English and Business Education Departments for Mr. Clark and Mrs. Black who are studying for advanced degrees.

Dr. Joan Corbett is acting chairman of the English Department this year upon the absence of Mr. Edward D. Clark. She received a Bachelor of Arts Degree and a Master of Arts from McMaster University, Ontario, Canada. She did residence requirements for the Ph. D. at the graduate school of Columbia. She completed requirements at Auckland University, New Zealand under a Fulbright Fellowship for her degree in English Literature and language. She has had visiting scholar privileges at Columbia and Harvard. She received a grant from Virginia for a summer stay at the British Museum in London.

Dr. Corbett has had seventeen years of teaching experience. All of this has been done on the college level. All of her work has been done in the south except three years that she was in Ohio. She was in Richmond for nine years and in Texas for one. This is her fourth year at Fayetteville State. She has been certified as a copy editor for the Metropolitan Printing Industries, New York. She has written a history of New Zealand fiction and she is now working on a critical study of the satirical novels of Aldous Huxley. Dr. Corbett seems optimistic with her new job assignment for this year. She said that she was carrying on Mr. Clark's administrative duties with the help of Mrs. M. H. Scott. She seems to find her job interesting but by no means new. She said that she had much rather teach than be an administrator. She still seems to find plenty of time to spend with the students. She said much that she wanted off the records, but this was for modest reasons.

MRS. BEULAH MONROE

Mrs. Monroe is a native Fayettevillian. She did her undergraduate work at A. & T. State University and has had graduate study at New York University and North Carolina College at Durham. She has taught for sixteen years, thirteen in public schools and three on the college level. Asked about