

Dry Run On Self-Study

By F. DARDEN
News Workshop Writer
Dr. Edward E. Riley, Jr., Dean of Instruction at Dillard University, recently visited FSU's campus to render a two-day consultancy to our Self-Study, which has been in existence for the past two years. He was sent by the Southern Association of Colleges.

Mrs. Kathleen Thompson was the director of the program here last year. In September of this year, she was succeeded by Mr. C. I. Brown.

In the course of this study many people have been questioned as to FSU's image and relevance. Students have answered and distributed questionnaires. Some students have consulted departmental chairman to examine the curriculum for various programs.

A second team of accreditors from the Southern Association of Colleges will revisit our campus during April.

FSU Gets New Dean of Men

By CLIFTON MERVIN, News Workshop Editor
Mr. Perry R. Leazer, Director of Public Relations at Fayetteville State University, has announced the appointment of J. A. McCoy in the new post of Dean of Men at Fayetteville State.

A native of Fayetteville and the brother of Mrs. N. Smith, the head librarian, Mr. McCoy attended public school in Fayetteville. He received his undergraduate and graduate degree from North Carolina Central University where he majored in history and minored in political science.

Mr. McCoy was director of Educational Media and Associate Professor of History at Elizabeth City State University. While living in Fayetteville, McCoy worked at E.E. Smith Senior High School where he coached the debating team. He has written articles on the Smith-Graham Election of 1950, John Wesley, French Indo China, and Korea.

McCoy will assume his duties as a full time Dean of Men at the opening of the second semester of the 1970 school year.

Dining Hall Director Finds FSU Favorable

Hubert Simmons, News Workshop Writer

Dining hall director, William Hunter finds Fayetteville State University "one of the nicest operations.....as far as students are concerned." Mr. Hunter, a native of Portsmouth, Va., comments that FSU student workers are the best and that student patrons are more orderly than they were at the beginning of the term.

In commenting on the dining hall behavior, he stated that "some situations did arise, but now vacation is normal. There were only isolated cases...only one incident where the administration was called in."

The statements made by Hunter are favorable in that he has institution-feeding branches in Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi,

MAINTENANCE DEPARTMENT CHARGES STUDENT DISREGARD

BY HUBERT SIMMONS,
News Workshop Writer

Vance McBroom, maintenance department supervisor, states that FSU students are showing "disregard for lawns, building," and that they should not be "quite so destructive." McBroom, a native of Hillsboro, N. C. who spent his childhood in Durham, has the exhaustive task of planning, organizing, directing, and evaluating all phases of maintenance work on the FSU campus. He feels that if students had more respect for the campus, more time could be used by personnel for other duties. In addition, he also feels that there are not enough personnel. McBroom has experience as building and grounds supervisor, drafting instructor, vocational education instructor and worker with the construction industry.

In addition to the Maintenance Department Supervisor, thirty-one other workers tackle the problem of the campus orderly and presentable. Workers are assigned as follows: Library—Thurman Little, Robert Covington; Rosenthal-Alphonso Moore; Women's Gym—Mary Alston, Ulysses McMillian; Old Gym—Mary Alston, Ulysses McMillian; Old Gym—William Kinnard; Williams Hall—Ulysses McMillian; Learning Laboratory—Napoleon Adams; Science Building—Luther White; Science Annex—Francis Carroll; Vance Hall—Henry Godwin; Administration Building and Auditorium—Redge Richard, Edward Mines; Auto Shop—James Calvin; Plumbing—Clarence Saunders, James McMillan, Eugene Jackson; Carpentry and Gym Repair—Payton Hill, Richard Cogdell, Clarence Fields, Otis Boykins; Grounds—Dennis Lewis, Samuel Williams; Maintenance Office—Catherine Hicks (clerk); Warehouse Grounds—Danny McLean. The campus security officers include Ralph Burwell, Lacy McMillan, Stoger Williams, Robert Williams, Willie Baker, and Robert Drake.
