

One thing about Sickle Cell Anemia... when the suffering ends, you're dead.

Give to Sickle Cell Research.

Sickle Cell Anemia is an hereditary blood disease that affects one in ten Black Americans. It causes agonizing pain. Years of suffering. And so far the only relief is death.

But death is no answer. We want to help find an effective cure for Sickle Cell Anemia. And that takes money.

That's why American Oil Company and its participating Washington area dealers are contributing a portion of all gasoline sales to the Center for Sickle Cell Anemia at Howard University.

You can help us help. Every gallon of gasoline you buy at a participating station between now and April 15 makes a contribution to Sickle Cell Research.

You can also help by making a direct contribution. Use the form at right or pick up a pre-addressed envelope at any participating Amoco Dealer.

Center for Sickle Cell Anemia, Howard University, Washington, D.C. 20001.

Gentlemen: Here is my contribution to support Sickle Cell Research.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Amount Enclosed _____  Check  Money Order  Cash

(Donations are tax deductible)

TOGETHER WE CAN HELP!

