

Student Profile of Sonya Brown

Sonya Brown

You saw her in "The River Niger" as Grandma. She's Sonya Brown from Morristown, N. J. Since the dramatic presentation, "Grandma" and Sonya Brown have become interchangeable around campus. Moreover, Sonya has been enjoying a degree of stardom since her dynamic performance.

Though popular, during this interview Miss Brown seemed to be the same outgoing, sentimental, and caring person she is off stage. When asked what inspired her to act, she stated, "I enjoy acting because it relieves all my pressures. It takes my mind off personal problems." In addition to acting, Miss Brown also enjoys meeting people, guys who are honest and intelligent, "plain talkin'" and being a disc jockey.

Although Miss Brown is a talented actress, she has future plans for other possible careers. Currently, she is a senior at FSU, majoring in Speech and Drama is contemplating graduate school. However, if she decides against graduate school she desires to pursue a career in news broadcasting.

When asked to give her opinion on what it takes to make it, she responded, "hard work and dedication is what it takes."

While she is serious about her future careers, Miss Brown is also concerned about racial problems in today's society. Although she feels racial tensions will always be a part of life, she feels "The only way I see help is through God. We are all people . . . we should come together more, pray together. Brothers and Sisters."

Is there life after cancer?

Some people think that even when a cancer is cured, the patient will never live a normal life again.

The American Cancer Society knows better.

The Society offers cancer patients and their families extensive service and rehabilitation programs with practical help and emotional support. It helps people return to their homes and their jobs.

There is life after cancer. Two million people are living proof. If you or anyone close to you needs help, call us.
